Earth Getting Flat.
Mathematical Biology.
Safety First.
Why a $10,000,000 Court?

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE TOP of Pike's Peak, until recently 14,109 feet above the ocean, is four inches lower now. Melting of the ice cap and erosion make the difference.

Slowly all mountain peaks are coming down through the action on the rock of frost, rain, snow, wind. In time the earth will become absolutely round, and it may be necessary here, as it is supposed to be now on the planet Mars, to dig canals big enough to hold the waters of our oceans. If the earth were perfecty round the water would be one mile deep everywhere.

But don't worry about your real estate, that flatness is millions of years off.

IF THE depression has not made you entirely dizzy, you may complete the process by studying the "mathematical side of biology," latest thing in science. The new science of "mathematical biology or evolutionary mechanics" is facinating, if you can understand it.

Genes, which are "units of heredity in the chromosomes and determine life's evolution," march forward along mathemetical lines.

You will be surprised to learn that scientists, at will, are breeding flies of all sorts, including a fly that is female on one side and male on the other.

MORE THAN five hundred years before Christ, Pythagoras, a Greek philosopher of Samos, made mathematics the principle of all existing things. Turn for relief to Pythagoras if you find modern mathematical biology too deep.

THE NATIONAL Safety Council supplies information on accidents and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company scatters the facts.

South Carolina is the safest state in the union as regards accidents. Automobile accidents, of which a majority could have been prevented by thought and common sense, rank first in causing death.

For every victim of an airplane tragedy, there are fifty victims of automobiles.

HOWEVER, IT should be remembered that there are thirty million automobiles running around, with the risk of bumping into each other, and comparatively few airplanes flying. When the airplane is fully developed, using a road 25,000 miles wide with no grade crossings, it will be the safest of all conveyances.

Even now, any one of the air-mail pilots flying over the Rockies and landing at the edge of the Pacific, will tell you that what really makes him nervous is the drive from the air field to his home by automobile.

PRESIDENT HOOVER, helping to lay the cornerstone of a new $10,000,000 Supreme Court building in Washington, told representatives of the Bar Association that he counted on them to improve conditions in the country.

One way to improve conditions would be to stop squandering money needlessly, for instance, on a new, unnecessary ten million dollar Supreme Court house.

The people already had the best possible Supreme Court room, with plenty of space for the judges, below the Capitol dome. Perhaps President Hoover would have mentioned that, if he had said all he thought.

IF YOU are interested in puns, or "plays on words," sometimes described as "the lowest form of wit," you will enjoy a communication from the distinguished American writer, Bruno Lessing.

Writing from St. Cloud, France, and referring to a telegram printed in this column from W. R. Hearst concerning Mr. Edge, American Ambassador in Paris, Bruno Lessing writes, exhausting his ingenuity in the use of the Ambassador's name:

"Had a great kick out of telegram from W. R. wherein he went on the ramp-edge against American ambassadors. They really are a great disadvant-edge to American interests. Our Parisian specimen has little knowl-edge. I'm sure he never went to coll-edge. I don't want to dispar-edge him, but I'm sure that someone in his dot-edge picked him out of a rummedge bag.

"Unfortunately we have no diplomatic peer-edge. We are living in the machine-edge and we select most of our ambassadors from our political sewer-edge. I have met quite a number of them and I think they all belong to the order of from-edge de brie.

"There is quite a short-edge of American patriotism over here. It is more advantedge-ous to chime in with the European view."

MACDONALD, of England, and Herriot, of France, met yesterday to discuss disarmament. The United States delegate, Norman H. Davis, could not go. He was in bed with a heavy cold.

It is sad that he has a cold, but you are glad that there was nobody from the United States discussing what does not concern us.

It would have been good to send to the meeting this message:

"The United States would like to have you pay the money you owe, instead of spending it on preparing for new wars."

And then leave.

CANADA AND Britain have finally arranged Canada's tariff wall to favor trade with England, the mother country. The

Link Prisoners Here in Bank Killing

NEW CASTLE WITNESSES PICK OUT 2

Sleuths Probe Crimes After Confession of West View Murder

With the killing of Constable Vernon (Port) Moses regarded as solved by a confession, homicide detectives today were trying to pin on the same mob of 10 the murder of a bank guard in New Castle last May.

Witnesses to the $20,000 holdup of the Mahoning Trust Company in New Castle, in which Guard Clarence Campbell was slain, have scrutinized the prisoners in a standup and picked out two as suspects.

FACE NEW CHARGES

Confession to the Moses murder was attributed to the gang leader, John Maug, of the East End, the detectives reported today. Maug and his accomplices have been held for court on several charges of robbery based on holdups.

Maug, John Flaherty, of 1428 Sandusky street, and Wallace Biggert, of 1681 Perrysville avenue, were held for court on nearly a score of charges, resulting from robberies in the county, today by Alderman Ray E. Schneider.

Maug and Flaherty were identified by Constable Carl F. Hildebrand, of Reserve Township, as two of a gang who opened fire, wounding him, when he sought to question them in an automobile in St. Peter's Cemetery, July 22. Detectives testified the three had confessed holding up a West View street car, December 27, 1931, robbing the motorman and seven passengers, and stealing the auto-

2 NEAR DEATH AFTER RAID ROW

Two men were near death today in a New Kensington hospital as the result of a fight, according to police, developing after federal dry agents raided the "Jungle," a roadhouse at Edgecliff, Wednesday.

The victims, both of whom lived at the "Jungle," are August Mathabel, 70, suffering a possible skull fracture and lacerations inflicted by a pick ax, and Joseph Kocot, 61, alleged to have attempted suicide by slashing his throat.

An all-night search for Kocot followed the finding of Mathabel 200 feet from the house late yesterday. Police found Kocot in a ravine early today. A bloodstained razor was found in his pocket, police said. The pair are alleged to have accused each other of tipping off the raiding agents, police learned, quarrelling continuously since the raid. A charge of felonious assault and battery with intent to kill has been sworn against Kocot.

Dorothy Mackaill's Jewel Safe Robbed

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 14.—(INS.)—Dorothy Mackaill, blonde film actress, today reported to police that a diamond and emerald ring worth $1,000 had been stolen from the jewel box of her Hollywood residence. Other jewelry in the box was not touched, she said.

Snow Plow Jumps Track, Trolleys Rerouted

The snow sweeper of the Pittsburgh Railways Company was en route from Castle Shannon yards to the south end of the Mt. Washington tunnel at noon today when, apparently disgusted because there was no snow, it jumped the track.

Castle Shannon and Washington interurban cars were rerouted through Mt. Lebanon and West Liberty avenue, while workmen put the sweeper back on the track. The mishap occurred not far from Castle Shannon.

Willard, Ex-Champ, 'Bouncer'

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—(INS.)—Said Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion and once independently wealthy:

"I get $15 a week as a bouncer now—and I'm a good one."

Willard was haled into court to explain why he had not paid a $292.10 plumbing bill which he admitted owing. He explained:

"I haven't paid it because I haven't got the dough—I'm broke."

Willard is "bouncer" at the large market he formerly owned. The Man Mountain said:

"You see, we have quite a few people come in who think they are hard boiled. My task is to see that order is maintained. I don't have much trouble, and never more than once with the same person."

BOY NAMES TWO AS AX SLAYERS

CONNELLSVILLE, Oct. 14.—Nine-year-old Billy Tressler, survivor of an ax attack that wiped out the remainder of the Tressler family at their home here Tuesday night, told police today, they said, that two men, one of them wielding the ax, inflicted his wounds.

According to his story as announced by the police, he was the first of the four persons to fall victim of the ax man. His mother, Mrs. Nellie Tressler, 28, and his grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Harden, 62 were found hacked to death Wednesday morning. His sister, Sadie, 11, died later.

The boy gave the names of two men who, he said, had attacked him. Because of the boy's condition, the police did not question him at great length.

Billy said he was in the kitchen when one of the men struck him with the ax.

Police planned to question him later in the day following the triple funeral.

Meanwhile, three men were under arrest. They are Philip Renda, 48, identified as Mrs. Tressler's suitor; Clyde Harden, 30, her brother, and George Lohr, 30, described by police as a former suitor of the woman.

No Excuse to Refuse Loans, Fort Claims

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Franklin W. Fort, of Newark, N. J., president of the Federal Home Loan Bank Corporation, told the Life Underwriters' Association of New York last night that there now is no excuse for institutions which lend on mortgages to refuse loans to home owners.

Mr. Fort said the home loan bank's function is to do for the life insurance companies, savings banks and building loan associations what the Federal Reserve Bank has done for the commercial banks.

Betty Gow to Sail For U. S. This Month

GLASGOW, Oct. 14.—(INS.)—Betty Gow, nurse of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., when he was kidnaped and slain at Hopewell, N. J., last March, was here with her mother today. Reports she will leave for America late this month were confirmed.

INSULL SEES 'SHANGHAI' ATTEMPT

Utility King Thinks He May Be Forced Aboard Ship

By WILLIAM PARKER
International News Service.

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 14.—Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities "czar," revealed today he fears he may be shanghaied.

Wanted by Chicago authorities to answer indictments of embezzlement and larceny, the ex-millionaire is worried over the possibility he may be forced aboard some American ship and carried home to face his accusers.

Because of this fear, Insull is remained close to his hotel. He did not go to bed until early this morning, which was contrary to his usual procedure.

SHOWS SURPRISE

He showed surprise when a representative of International News Service informed him he is still under secret police surveillance. He did not take his customary stroll about the city today, but later decided to test for himself whether he was being watched by police.

He entered an automobile with an interpreter, Peter Vanech, who formerly owned a hotel at Stamford, Conn., and is now visiting Athens.

There was immediate activity when the former utilities magnate entered the car. Three men who had been loitering across the street from the Petit Palais Hotel, ran after the automobile, hailing a taxi as they ran.

INSULL FOLLOWED

A moment later, they got into the cab and followed Insull's car as it drove past the Acropolis.

After this adventure, when Insull returned, he found this correspondent waiting for him on the verandah of his hotel. He said:

"You're right, three of them followed us."

Meanwhile, apparently dashing American hopes of effecting his early extradition, the Greek government for the first time today officially announced its position with regard to Insull.

A spokesman for the Foreign Office outlined the position to International News Service as follows:

First, Insull is a free man as long as he remains in Greece.

Second, the Greek government has not intention of deporting him.

Third, no extradition treaty is officially in existence between the United States and Greece.

Fourth, arrival in Athens of an American warrant for Insull's arrest will not change the situation.

BROTHER IN COURT

BARRIE, Ont., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Martin J. Insull, indicted in Chicago in connection with the collapse of the utilities interests which he and his brother controlled, appeared in court again today and was remanded until November 4, the date on which his bail of $50,000 expires.

Thus he will not have to face extradition proceedings before that time. When he was arrested here on October 6 and subsequently released under bail he was remanded until today. The delay until November 4 was by arrangement between his counsel, counsel for the state of Illinois and Judge Holmes, of Simcoe County.

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN, ARMED WITH BAYONETED RIFLES, TEAR GAS, HERDING MINERS

Action in Christian County, Ill., as National Guard troops rounded up, "arrested" 1,200 miners to prevent rioting, bloodshed. Today warrants were issued charging two guard commanding officers with murder. This is an International News Photograph Service picture.

STRIKE MURDER LAID TO TROOPS

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Warrants charging two Illinois National Guard officers with murder were in the possession of Sheriff Charles Wieneke today as the result of the first fatality on the Christian County front of the Illinois coal miners' war.

The warrants name Col. Robert W. Davis and Capt. Carl J. Meacham, his executive officer. They were obtained late last night by Mayor Thomas F. Foster, of nearby Tovey, shortly after Andy Ganis, a Tovey miner, died, reputedly as the result of a bullet wound inflicted by a militiaman.

Corp. Russell Meyers, of Peoria, member of Company E, 130th Infantry, was held in the guardhouse as a military tribunal investigated the shooting.

The fatality—the fourth since guerrilla warfare fanned through mining areas in the state's three months old mine controversy—climaxed a hectic day for Christian County. Earlier yesterday Hollis Butterfield, a rural mail carrier, was shot in the shoulder as he disregarded sentries' orders at Langleville, and later three women and six men were injured when a National Guard truck in which they were being convoyed to the county line overturned and burned.

District Mines Speed Output, Add More Men

Operations and employment conditions in the Pittsburgh district coal industry took on a rosier aspect today as leading companies reported a great increase this month in their output.

Both the Pittsburgh Coal Company and the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation have increased operations and provided additional employment for hundreds of miners. The seasonal demand for coal is responsible for the improvement, officials said.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company estimated its present operations are at 75 per cent of capacity, and that altogether, 1,000 more men are being employed this month. The company is reopening its Arnold mine, which has been closed for months, and is stepping up the output at the Moon Run mine, which has been operating part time, to give full time employment to the men there.

The Terminal corporation is working four of its five mines at capacity. The Castle Shannon, Mollenaur, Horning and Coverdale operations have been on full schedule for about two weeks, officials said. The Avella mine is working on a part time basis.

Americans Present Rare Vases to Pope

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Pope Pius XI granted an audience today to the general chapter of the Fathers of the Divine Word, who concluded their annual meeting in Rome.

The American representatives of the order, Monsignors Bruno Hagspiel, of Techny, Ill., and Hugo Aubrey, of Island Creek Post Office, Mass., presented the pontiff with a number of gifts from missionaries in the Philippines, including some ancient bronze vases.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(Universal.)—Arthur Brisbane, noted editor of the Hearst newspapers, will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Washington Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, it is announced.

Calles' Wife Again In Grave Condition

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—The condition of Senora Leonora Llorente De Calles, who was operated on for a brain tumor in Boston last June, was reported very grave today. She is the wife of former President Plutarco Elias Calles.

GREETERS HURT HOOVER'S HAND

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—President Hoover, after retiring early from a White House reception last night with more than 1,000 people still waiting to shake his hand, today made an early morning appearance with his right hand bandaged.

Dr. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, said he was feeling fit but had suffered a bruised hand in greeting more than 3,000 people who filed past him before he retired. He had suffered also a small cut, presumably from a ring worn by one of the guests.

Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, one of the early morning visitors at the executive mansion, explained:

"The President said he was perfectly willing to continue the reception last night, but found that he was getting blood on the white gloves of some of the women guests."

The President arose unusually early this morning and took part in his customary medicine ball game. Later he went to work in the Lincoln study on the address he will deliver in Cleveland tomorrow night.

CALIFORNIAN DENOUNCES POLICY OF PRESIDENT

Holds People's Welfare Far Above Loyalty To Party in Race

Political developments today:

1—Senator Hiram Johnson, California Republican, declared he "cannot and will not" support President Hoover.

2—Gov. Roosevelt said he would soon announce his stand on the soldier bonus.

3—Allegheny County Republicans prepared to greet President Hoover at McKeesport and Braddock tomorrow afternoon when he stops on his way to Cleveland.

4—Speaker John N. Garner was ready to open his campaign with his first radio address, scheduled over KDKA at 10:15 tonight.

5—Senator Reed assured President Hoover "Pennsylvania was safe" and said he would take the stump.

(Details, along with other political news, on Pages 1, 2, 4, 17 and 23.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Replying to a telegram from representatives of 70 Southern California newspapers asking him to make a declaration of support of the Republican National and state tickets, Senator Hiram W. Johnson, California progressive Republican, said today:

"I cannot and will not support Mr. Hoover."

Johnson repeatedly has criticized the Hoover administration. In a speech recently before the California Federation of Labor he attacked the administration's relief and foreign debt policies.

LAUDED BY ROOSEVELT

Shortly thereafter Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential candidate, coming to California on his campaign tour, quoted an extract from the Johnson speech and praised the California Senator as "long a warrior in the ranks of true American progress."

Roosevelt's remark brought a statement from Johnson in which he said the attitude of the Democratic candidate was "in sharp contrast with that Mr. Hoover has maintained toward progres-

Dog Attacks Driver Whose Car Kills Boy

MARSHALL, N. C., Oct. 14.—A dog attacked the driver of an automobile which struck and killed its little master. Five-year-old Charles Davis followed his pet across the road and an automobile driven by Harry Tucker, of Hammond, Ind., struck him. When Tucker got out the dog sprang at him.

Former Kaiser Waits Summons to Return

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 14.—(INS.)—Former Kaiser Wilhelm is willing and ready to return to Germany, but only after he has been called back by Chancellor Franz von Papen or the German people, according to reliable reports here today.

A spokesman of the former Emperor at Doorn was quoted as making statements indicating Wilhelm considers the Von Papen government representative of the German people.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—A report from Brunswick to the newspaper Tageblatt said today that Wilhelm Kampe, a member of the National Socialist storm troopers, had been found shot to death beside a country road near there.

The Tageblatt said the circumstances of the killing seemed to confirm reports of the existence of a secret police organization within the Nazi party.

Hoover Leads Ohio Poll, Speech to Be Factor

By COLE E. MORGAN
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—President Hoover has a 50,000 popular vote advantage in Ohio at this time, according to a detailed county and congressional district analysis of postcard ballots from the Buckeye State in the nation-wide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

The President's prospects of carrying the state appear to hinge on whether he will be able to hold the advantage he now shows in Cuyahoga County and the city of Cleveland. His speech in Cleveland tomorrow night may be the determining factor therefore on the Ohio outcome.

The poll of Cuyahoga county as yet is incomplete and when the full complement of ballot cards is received from there after the speech, the result may be altered. The present indication, however, is for a 36,000 Hoover majority in the county.

Cincinnati and Hamilton county are leaning to Gov. Roosevelt with an indicated majority of 12,300. He also holds the Toledo district by an indicated lead of 18,500. The Fourth, Fifth, Eleventh and Eighteenth districts also forecast Roosevelt majorities, which for the state as a whole run up to 60,000.

The rest of the state gives Hoover majorities that indicate district leads of 115,000, which would net him a 55,000 state majority.

Tabular results of the Hearst newspaper poll appear on page four.

ROOSEVELT SOON TO GIVE STAND ON SOLDIER BONUS

LAUGHS AT PLAN FOR BEER TAX TO AID VETS

Governor Pledges Plan To Help Jobless in Radio Address

By RAYMOND I. BORST
International News Service.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, will define his attitude toward immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus in one of his speeches on his campaign swing through the Middle West and South, starting next Tuesday, he revealed today. Roosevelt was asked:

"Will you discuses the bonus during the campaign?"

"Why everyone knows that I'm going to do that."

Efforts to induce Gov. Roosevelt to give some inkling of how he stands on the bonus were without avail.

Reports persisted, however, that Roosevelt would declare against immediate payment of the bonus, because of the national government's financial condition.

He laughed when told of reports that he would recommend that a tax on beer be used to finance the payment of the bonus. He said:

"That's a good bedtime story."

PLEDGES JOBLESS AID

Gov. Roosevelt meanwhile stood before the country today with a solemn promise that if elected President he would inaugurate a "definite long range plan" for dealing with unemployment relief and other social welfare work, which he holds are a "proper concern" of the federal government.

In a nation-wide radio address, the Democratic presidential nominee asserted that the primary responsibility for caring for the jobless rests upon local communities, but that when local funds are insufficient the obligation passes to state governments and then to the federal government.

After insisting that it took the Republican administration at Washington "almost three years to recognize this principle," he added:

"For at least two years after the crash the only efforts made by the national administration to cope with the distress of unemployment were to deny its existence."

Declaring that he "practiced what he preached," the Governor recalled that in 1930 New York state greatly increased its employment service and that the following year he called a special session of the Legislature and obtained an appropriation of $20,000,000 for unemployment relief. He said:

"New York became the first among all states to accept the definite obligation of supplementing local funds where those local funds were insufficient."

He asserted that when relief funds finally were provided by the federal government "they were pushed through at the demand of Congress rather than through the leadership of the President of the United States."

WRONG ECONOMY

Although favoring the reduction of all governmental expenditures, Roosevelt said he was "utterly unwilling that economy should be practiced at the expense of starving people." He said:

"We must economize in other ways, but it shall never be said that the American people have refused to provide the necessities of life to those who, through no fault of their own, are unable to feed, clothe and house themselves."

Roosevelt said he favored the putting aside in time of prosperity of a "nest egg" which could be used for public construction during periods of depression, but he insisted that at the present only public works that are self-sustaining or that are "honestly essential to the community" should be built. He said that the "self-sustaining" types of public works should be greatly encouraged.

The Governor also went on record as favoring unemployment insurance under state law, the coordination of unemployment offices and the raising of the compulsory school leaving age to 16.

ARREST WOMAN AFTER PAROLE

Three days after she was paroled for a similar crime, Mrs. Rhoda Breidenbach, 67, of 2209 Waverly street, Swissvale, was at liberty on bail today on a charge of performing an illegal operation.

The girl, a 19-year-old orphan, lies in Braddock General Hospital, recovering.

Judge Thomas M. Marshall paroled Mrs. Breidenbach for four years on Tuesday, specifying that she pay $520 costs incurred by the first illegal operation.

After this operation the girl died. She was Audrey Walker, 18, of 2801 Jane street.

County detectives were asked today to investigate the death of Ruth French, 36, of 5238 Station street, who died today in Magee Hospital from an illegal operation, according to a Coroner's report. The woman was taken to the hospital following the operation. A name, whispered by the woman just before her death, was told the county detectives.

RENNE BALLOT FIGHT IN COURT

The right of Dr. William A. Renne, Republican candidate for Legislature in the Sixth Legislative District, to vote from 1902 Carson street, his office, was further attacked today. The five electors who had sought to have Renne barred as an elector in that district, claiming he is a resident of 18 Stewart avenue, Carrick, filed an appeal in Common Pleas Court. The Registration Commission had turned down the request to disfranchise Renne. The Stewart avenue address is outside the Sixth Legislative District.

Taxpayers Organize For Public Economy

REED ASSURES HOOVER ON PA.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Senator Reed, after a conference at the White House today, said he had "assured President Hoover that as far as Pennsylvania being Republican is concerned he needn't give it another thought, straw votes to the contrary notwithstanding."

Arrangements have been made for Reed to speak at Buffalo, Wheeling, W. Va., and Providence, R. I. He said that in one of these addresses he would answer a statement by Senator Glass (Dem.), of Virginia, that the United States at no time was in danger of going off the gold standard.

The Pennsylvania Senator said he was holding himself open for political speeches in his home state, and would probably appear both in Pittsburgh and at a Republican rally in Philadelphia.

Civic Bodies Join To Seek Lower Tax Rates

A taxpayers' organization to work for economy in local government was formed at a meeting late yesterday at the William Penn Hotel.

The meeting was attended by 18 civic organizations, many of them active in the fight for lower taxes. Other individuals interested from the standpoint of taxpayers attended.

The meeting approved a resolution creating the new organization. An executive committee will be formed within a week to include three members of the Building Owners and Managers' Association and three members of the Community Research Bureau of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board.

WILL SELECT BOARD

Another meeting will then be called and each member organization will be asked to name two members to a board of directors. From the directors, three additional members will be selected to act on the executive committee.

J. W. Cree, Jr., a past president of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, temporary chairman of the meeting, said the organization proposes to act as a clearing house for information on tax matters and to work in a general campaign for economy in government.

LEGISLATION URGED

The resolution passed by the meeting also suggests the desirability of legislation to effect changes in existing methods.

Organizations represented included: Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, Building Owners' and Managers' Association, Chamber of Commerce, Smithfield Street Association, Retail Merchants' Association, Fifth Avenue Association, Pittsburgh Hotel Association, Allied Boards of Trade, Overbrook Board of Trade, Allegheny County League of Building and Loan Associations, Civic Club of Allegheny County, Hill District Taxpayers' Association, Thirty-second Ward Taxpayers' League, Oakmont Chamber of Commerce, Allegheny Valley Improvement Association, Business Men's Association of the East North Side, Taxpayers' Association of Wilkinsburg and the Forest Hills Civic Club.

EXCUSE HOOVER PART IN BONUS ARMY OUSTER

President's Reception Of B. E. F. Delegation Mollifies Leader

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Belief that President Hoover "did not understand the true situation or was misinformed" in directing the eviction of bonus marchers from camps here last summer, today was expressed by Hoke Smith, field commander of the Bonus Expeditionary Force.

He made this statement last night after a B. E. F. delegation he headed had been received by the President. The statement continued, in part:

"I am glad that the President saw fit to receive the committee of delegates elected by its national convention.

"We feel that this proves that the Bonus Expeditionary Force was not the 'criminal group' that was so viciously attacked by the Attorney General during the middle of September. Retrospection often brings understanding even among high government officials.

"Our severe censure was directed at Mr. Hoover, the individual, for the drastic means used in the forceful eviction of the B. E. F. from the District of Columbia and not at the chief executive of the country that we love so well; and we feel that this drastic action on his part was because he did not understand the true situation or was misinformed by those on whom he relied for a true picture of the situation."

The "severe censure" referred to by Smith was contained in a resolution he gave to newspapermen and said was a copy of the one presented to Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans affair, in the presence of the President.

CONFERS WITH NEWTON

Before seeing Mr. Hoover, Smith conferred for over an hour with Walter Newton, one of the President's secretaries. Afterward he conferred with Gen. Hines.

Newton in a statement quoted Mr. Hoover as saying he was pleased the bonus seekers had decided not "to repeat the scenes that occurred in Washington during the last spring and summer." His statement added:

"The President said that he was pleased that they had not presented him with a petition which had been reported in the press, as it contained statements offensive to the dignity of the office of the presidency and that he was glad they had decided not to present it at the White House."

Smith said the delegation had been "shown every courtesy" at the White House. The resolution given out by Smith also urged immediate payments of the bonus and assistance for destitute veterans.

AL COOLIDGE RAP HIGH TAXES

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—An open letter bearing the joint signatures of former President Calvin Coolidge, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith and four other nationally-known men, and declaring that "the general public will find itself in a condition of servitude" unless all governmental costs are reduced, was made public here today.

The letter was addressed to Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, chairman of the National Economy League, and was read by him to a meeting of the executive committee of the league, held to complete arrangements for the first national convention of the organization in Washington on December 12 and 13.

In addition to the names of Mr. Smith and Mr. Coolidge, the letter bore the signatures of Newton D. Baker, former secretary of War; Elihu Root, former Secretary of State; Gen. John J. Pershing and Admiral William S. Sims.

DRY OFFENDERS SENTENCED

A plea of guilty to liquor charges involving the Orange Blossom cabaret at 78 Fullerton street was entered in Federal Court today by Harry Keys, Negro. A second offender, Keys was sentenced by Judge R. M. Gibson to 30 days in jail and fined $200.

Three other prior offenders also pleaded guilty to liquor law violation charges. Arch Morton pleaded guilty to unlawful possession of counterfeit whisky stamps and was sentenced to four months in jail.

The liquor cases were: Ludwig Zurawicki, 801 Talbot avenue, Braddock, fined $200 or 30 days in jail; Nelson McPherson, Canal street, Castle Shannon, fined $200 or 30 days in jail; Larry Hufnagel, Liberty avenue, Bloomfield, fined $200 and suspended six-month jail sentence, placed on probation for 18 months.

Thomas Stresses Employment Issue

DENVER, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President of the United States, spread his doctrine through Colorado yesterday at three meetings and reiterated that the "repeal of unemployment" is the dominant issue of the present campaign. He said:

"There is more to Socialism than the repeal of unemployment. There is in it the only hope of such management of our natural resources and great machinery that there can be an abundance for all, an end of exploitation of one class by another and the final victory over war."

Mrs. Hoover Talks Of Scouts Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Girl Scouts of America were told over the radio last night by Mrs. Herbert Hoover—long one of their leaders—that their "part in community service has been such as to encourage us mightily."

Mrs. Hoover gave a condensed version of an address she made to Girl Scout leaders at Virginia Beach last Friday and dealt only with the principles of Girl Scouting, their application in ordinary life, and admonished her audience to remember them.

GOV. ROOSEVELT TRIP HERE STIRS DEMOCRATS

G. O. P. Workers Will See Hoover Train Tomorrow

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt will carry his battle for the presidency into this Republican stronghold next Wednesday to counteract any advantage that President Hoover might gain from two platform appearances here tomorrow.

The Democrats are arranging for a big demonstration to greet the New York Governor. Democratic County Chairman David L. Lawrence today declared that he was being besieged by leaders from Western Pennsylvania counties for reservations at Forbes Field, where Roosevelt is to speak.

Republican County Chairman William H. Coleman has completed arrangements for President Hoover's two appearance here tomorrow, one at McKeesport and one at Braddock, as the President is en route to Cleveland. His train will stop at McKeesport at 2:20 and at Braddock 15 minutes later for two short platform addresses.

The Roosevelt train will arrive at the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Station at 9 a. m. Wednesday. The candidate and his party, probably including Mrs. Roosevelt, then will start an automobile tour to Wheeling for a noon speech. The route of the caravan will be through Carnegie, Heidelberg, Bridgeville, Canonsburg, Washington, Claysville and to Wheeling.

Prof. Francis H. Bohlen, liberal candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination in 1930, will address a Pittsburgh meeting on behalf of Gov. Roosevelt Thursday evening, October 27. Orchestra Hall probably will be chosen for the address by the Philadelphia Republican who has turned to Roosevelt because of his attitude on prohibition.

Republican State Chairman Edward Martin came to Pittsburgh today for conferences with local leaders on plans for an effort to counteract the effects of the Roosevelt visit. Local Republican chiefs do not disguise the fear that they will lose votes as a result of the Democratic candidate's appearance at Forbes Field.

One plan for meeting the Roosevelt challenge is the Republican meeting scheduled for Syria Mosque, where Joseph Scott, of California, who nominated President Hoover at the Chicago convention, will be the chief speaker.

GARNER TO HIT FOES ON RADIO

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(Universal.)—Speaker John N. Garner, Democratic vice presidental nominee, will reply to President Hoover, former President Coolidge and Secretary of the Treasury Mills tonight in a radio address over a coast-to-coast hookup.

His speech will be based on the record of Congress and will deal with taxation, the budget, relief and sound money. In general, it will be a summarized answer to the important orators of the Republican campaign.

Speaker Garner's address is scheduled over KDKA at 10:15 p. m.

United States can offer no objection, since the forty-eight states that make up this country favor each other with absolute free trade.

The Canadian prime minister, Mr. Bennett, explains that the United States "tariff wall closes United States markets to Canadian agricultural producers."

Those producers will remember, with more or less gratitude, that they still have the use of the Panama Canal, letting them reach Europe quickly and cheaply by water. That canal, built by the United States' money, charges British and other foreign ships no more than it does United States ships, an extremely foolish arrangement.

Nurse Describes Brief Hoover-B. E. F. Drama

By MYRTLE F. CRAWFOD
Former Army Nurse Now With the B. E. F.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(INS.)—We went in to see the President in a body, and were lined up in a semi-circle in front of his desk.

Gen. Hines and the President's secretary were standing at his left. Capt. Hoke Smith stepped up with the petition we brought to present and told Mr. Hoover we had called to pay our respects and present the petition.

Capt. Smith pledged his allegiance to the Constitution, to the flag, with no mention of party support. We are strictly opposed to the present administration.

Mr. Hoover then made a little speech, evidently written by someone else, as it was very short, and he did not know it by heart, it was read in such a low tone that we could scarcely hear.

The President seemed subdued. He did not seem antagonistic, nor over friendly. He did not offer to shake hands.

We were dismissed immediately after the brief speeches of the President and Capt. Smith were completed. We filed out, surrounded by secret service men.

Playful Leopold in U. S.; Rewed, Society Says

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Archduke Leopold, Austrian royal-blooded playboy, has returned to New York—with a divorce and, perhaps a bride, it was learned today.

Leopold, central figure in the sensational Napoleonic necklace scandal last year, arrived in New York on the Cunard liner Franconia, down in the tourist section under the name of Leopold Habsburg, with a six-months' visitor's permit.

The ship's manifest showed he described himself as "divorced." His former wife was the Baroness Dagmar.

When Leopold applied for his divorce he said he would marry Mrs. Alicia Coburn, socially prominent and wealthy divorcee, who befriended him while he was in the Tombs here on charges of fraud in conection with the disposal of the necklace, property of his aunt, the Archduchess Marie Therese.

The archduke was located living in the swanky apartment house where Mrs. Coburn also has a suite. Rumors have been floating up and down Park avenue for days that the couple was married.

TWO BITS BUYS PICTURE OF ARMSTRONG

Low Prices Bid for Souvenirs of Raided Rum Oases

Soon they may be antiques or "relics of a habarian age." But today fixtures and mementoes from nine speakeasies went by auction to the highest bidder—and the bids were low.

The auctioneer was a prohibition bureau man. The sale was held in the Allen warehouse, Allen avenue, Beltzhoover.

Mayor Kline's icture brought $1, while one of the late Joseph G. Armstrong brought 25 cents.

ONE BID FOR PHOTOS

There was only one bidder for the present Mayor's likeness. It probably wasn't one of his best photographs. But that the former Mayor and County Commissioner, "Joe" Armstrong, started at a nickel and was knocked down at a quarter. Both photos went to the same buyer—a gent who gave a strange name but who had a striking resemblance to a well-known South Side man-about-town.

OTHER PICTURES

The auction began with Joseph Holmes, member of the dry division, putting up a series of "favorite pictures for speakeasies." They were of girls and prize fighters—and the 10 brought $1.25.

Next, 16 bottles of mineral water that is difficult to drink unmixed went to a cash customer for 75 cents. Waiting to be sold—use unknown—were chairs, tables, mugs, a charcoal picture of Gen. Grant, radios, curtains and other appurtenances.

Unhallowed corners sheltered other photographs, too, waiting only for buyers who may get them for a pittance. Among them were likenesses of the late C. L. Magee, the late President William Howard Taft, Congressman Harry Estep—and one big placard with the stirring legend—"Re-elect Anderson to Council."

They're all for sale at your figure.

Nesting lonesomely in a corner, with all its pristine significance and good cheer abandoned forever, was a small statue with this engraving:

"Lotus Club—Home of Good Fellowship."

The Lotus Club, South Side's most noted speakeasy, was raided months ago.

'BARES' KILLING OF ROTHSTEIN

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service.

SALINAS, Cal., Oct. 14.—A hired killer, a professional "gun," assassinated Arnold Rothstein, prince of gamblers, over the love of a beautiful blonde girl.

Crying hysterically against a vigorous grilling, Harold Leo Kirk, slender, nervous Los Angeles youth, today offered that solution to the New York mystery of 1928.

Unshaken at any point of his weird story, the 22-year-old confessed liquor runner, ex-convict and forger stuck to his account of having witnessed the slaying of the multi-millionaire underworld chieftain, Rothstein, in the spacious lobby of the Park Central Hotel in New York. Kirk insisted, as tears rolled down his face:

"A 'gun' named Frank Moane poured the lead into Rothstein."

He said he believed that Moane was acting for a New York rum runner named Dick Goldstein, Kirk's "boss—" the man for whom Kirk says he was driving an auto.

Despite his claim he was dying, Kirk reiterated his dramatic reason for "confessing" to Sheriff Abbott, who is a bit skeptical. The youth said:

"I've got a girl in Los Angeles, and I want to marry her. But I can't go to her with unclean hands and this on my mind."

Held in Robbery Of Pittsburgher

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—A man who identified himself as Perry Lincoln Gray, 40, an accountant, of Philadelphia, was arrested on a burglary charge last night on complaint of H. L. Walbracht, of Pittsburgh, who was robbed of jewelry last September 28 while at the Hotel Wellington. In Gray's room at another hotel police said they found 10 hotel keys and about $1,000 worth of stolen property.

Chicago Refuses To Close Schools

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—(INS.)—A demand by 600 teachers that Chicago schools be closed has been turned down flatly by the Board of Education.

A petition signed by the teachers asked that the schools be closed "until the people of Chicago realize that they are their heritage and their responsibility."

SEEK LUTHERAN CLERGY PLAN

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Formulation of some plan for better control of the supply of candidates for the ministry was urged today upon delegates to the eighth biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America.

Need for such a plan was stressed by the church Board of Education in a report submitted as the convention entered its third day, which said:

"For growing effectiveness in finding, enlisting and assisting young men as candidates for the Gospel ministry, the Board of Education has taken action requesting every synod of the United Lutheran Church to appoint a standing committee on the ministry."

Statistics compiled for the denomination on the supply of ministers revealed it this year has 3,374 ordained clergymen. In two sessions yesterday the delegates again acted upon a program of financial matters which included slashing the annual budget of the church by $400,000, bringing the figure for 1933-34-35 to $2,000,000.

GIRL, ESCORT ROBBED

Held up by three bandits in Honeymoon Circle, Schenley Park, early today, Julius Lanyi, of 7511 Ardmore street, Swissvale, was slugged when he resisted efforts of the bandits to take his girl friend's purse. The purse contained $10.

From Lanyi they obtained a $45 watch and a $10 ring, he told Oakland police. He refused to name his companion.

Another bandit trio held up Peter Ratz, of 244 Vine street. Munhall, in Highland Park and stole his automobile, he reported to East End police.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. Caroline Mitchell, former wife of Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, and Franklin F. Korrell, former representative from Oregon, have announced their engagement.

Korrell now is employed in the general counsel's office of the Treasury Department. Mrs. Mitchell and Brig. Gen. Mitchell have been divorced for more than 10 years.

WOMAN HURLS 2 CHILDREN TO DEATH

Aunt of Victims Then Ends Own Life in 16-Story Plunge

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Thrown from a window on the sixteenth floor of a downtown hotel by their aunt, two small children met death in the street, while hundreds of workers and shoppers were on their way home.

The woman responsible for their deaths, Mrs. Aurelia Lorenz, 31-year-old divorcee and former wife of a wealthy Milwaukee contractor, then ended her own life by leaping after them.

Her victims were Vivian and Milton Libo, aged 5 and 4 respectively.

FATHER QUESTIONED

Authorities investigating the tragedy, which occurred late yesterday, were holding Libo for further questioning. They also questioned his wife, the mother of the children, but subsequently permitted her to return to her home.

Mrs. Lorenz, who had made her home at the Libo residence, left last Wednesday, taking a room in the hotel. Yesterday afternoon she reappeared at the Libo home and suggested that she take the children for a walk. She and the children apparently had always been on friendly terms and their mother raised no objection.

Shortly afterward, the police learned, Mrs. Lorenz hailed a taxicab and took the children to the hotel, where she tied their arms and legs with silk stockings before tossing them from the window.

FALL IN STREET

The body of one of the children struck an automobile fender. The other narrowly missed injuring William Brings, knocking off his hat.

In the note Mrs. Lorenz left behind in her hotel room she, accused her brother of having misinformed her as to the seriousness of an ailment from which she had been suffering, and charged that her relatives were fonder of their pet dogs than they were of her. She wrote:

"And so, I have no future. That's why I am going to end it, but not alone."

Blue and Green Lead Auto Tag Color Effects

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Blue and green, mixed with a little white, seem to be the most popular color schemes for next year's automobile license tags.

The American Automobile Association said today a check showed 34 states will try out tints different from this year's, while 13 and the District of Columbia keep the old, with no decision yet by New Mexico.

First goes to white on blue, eight states; second to white on green, six; while five prefer black and orange and four each yellow on black and black on white.

OURSLER RITES TOMORROW

Funeral services for Howard B. Oursler, federal dry agent and former city official, slain by an alleged bootlegger in Stilwell, Okla., will be held tomorrow afternoon in the home of his mother, Mrs. Rebecca M. Oursler, 246 Cedar boulevard, Mt. Lebanon. His body is expected to arrive early tomorrow.

Oursler was a captain in the old Fourteenth Regiment, Pennsylvania National Guard, a veteran of the Spanish-American War, and a major in the Quartermasters' Corps in the World War. He subsequently was given the rank of colonel in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

BRITISH MEET DE VALERA

LONDON, Oct. 14.—(INS.)—The long-awaited Anglo-Irish conference, which may settle future relations between the two nations, opened in the cabinet offices at Whitehall Gardens today.

President Eamonn De Valera, of the Irish Free State, arrived at the scene on foot, accompanied by a group of his colleagues, Sean McEntee, finance minister; John W. Dulanty, high commissioner in London; James Geohegan, minister for justice, and Conor Maguire, attorney general.

Before entering the building, they posed for photographers, after which they were greeted by Sir John Simon, foreign minister for Great Britain, and J. H. Thomas, minister for Dominions.

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that caused the rainy condition over this section yesterday is now in the Far Northeast and high pressure is central over the Upper Ohio Valley and the Middle Atlantic states. Low pressure covers the West, with centers over British Columbia and Arizona. The rainfall for the last 24 hours was light and was limited to the lake region and eastward to the coast. There is still considerable cloudiness over the lake region and fog over the Ohio Valley states. Light to heavy frost occurred over Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York, but there were no freezing temperatures except in the Far Northwest. It is somewhat cooler than yesterday over the Ohio Valley states and the Middle Atlantic states, while over the plains states temperatures are rising.

DEATH RETRIAL PLEA ARGUED

GREENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 14.—Charges that prosecution counsel knew that Mrs. Pauline Masco, wife of Ralph Masco, who was murdered in his sleep last May 31, had changed her story, were offered as one reason why Tony Alessio, Monessen Italian and former ward politician convited of the murder, should be given a new trial. Argument on his petition was held here this afternoon.

Five other arguments were advanced for a retrial. It was contended Mrs. Masco at first said she was not an eyewitness and later changed her story to say that she was.

It was also contended that Elizabeth Masco, the victim's daughter, testified she told Assistant Prosecutor Patrick McKague immediately after the killing, in May, that she was an eyewitness. McKague was not employed in the case until late in July. The defense also contended that Fanny Osterico, state witness, gave perjured testimony when she said Alessio threatened Masco two days before the shooting. The defense charge they will prove perjury through associate counsel, not named, but believed to be Attorney P. K. Jones, New Kensington minister-lawyer.

ULRIC ROMANCE CRASH SEEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(INS.)—Broadway today spread the report that the glamorous romance of Lenore Ulric, siren of the footlights, and Sidney Blackmer, great lover of the stage and screen, was at an end.

A Reno divorce was said to be planned by the couple. The two stage celebrities were married in 1929.

Miss Ulric, in her uptown apartment, refused to discuss a report that her husband and she were living apart.

Mussolini Grants Fascist Amnesty

ROME, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Premier Mussolini granted an amnesty today to members of the Fascist party who have been disciplined for minor offenses.

The grant was part of the celebration of the tenth anniversary of Fascism. This leniency was preceded recently, however, by an announcement that anyone expelled from the Fascist party would be barred from public employment.

JUDGE REFUSES ACQUITTAL IN TORTURE CASE

Denies Defense Effort To Free One of Two Accused Guards

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Judge George C. Gibbs today denied a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal for Solomon Higginbotham, one of two former prison guards charged with murder in the sweat box death of Arthur Maillefert, young convict from New Jersey.

A rebuttal witness for the state testified today that George W. Courson, other of the two on trial, beat a prisoner last May 25, "Like he was trying to kill him."

TELLS OF FLOGGING

The witness, R. J. Foy, said he was engaged in helping clear the right-of-way for a highway on which convicts were working when he saw Courson flogging the man.

He testified after Courson denied he whipped a prisoner May 25, but he admitted he beat Maillefert "some time around April 16."

Under cross-examination, Foy said he did not know the identity of the beaten prisoner.

Judge George C. Gibbs finally ruled that Foy's testimony was immaterial and irrelevant and ordered it stricken.

At the resumption of the trial this morning, Durrance asked Courson whether the former guard had ever told Perry Blount, a grocer, that Maillefert may have died from starvation. Courson denied saying it.

Blount was called to the witness chair. He told of his curiosity to see a man who had committed suicide in a sweatbox and said he went over to the camp the night Maillefert was laid out in the mess hall in borrowed clothes. Durrance asked:

"Did you talk to Courson?"

"I told him I heard a man had committed suicide and Courson said: 'Well, I guess he was weak. He hadn't had anything to eat in two or three days.'"

THREATS CHARGED

Alvin Leggett, the boy who furnished the gun used in the chase when Maillefert broke out of a heavy barrel, said Higginbotham came up after Maillefert was recaptured and said:

"'You're a pretty ——; ain't you? I'm a d— good mind to let these dogs onto you.'"

Leggett continued:

"After they put Maillfert on the truck, he turned to me and said: 'Come up to the camp and see they don't beat me; they told me next time I escaped they were going to kill me.'

"Higginbotham then clapped his hand over the prisoner's mouth and told him if he said that again he would kill him."

Higginbotham yesterday denied threatening Maillefert with the dogs or otherwise.

Capt. J. A. Porter, of Lake City, was the next witness. He formerly was stationed at Sunbeam and was foreman for the State Road Department under Courson and Capt. J. F. Baker. Porter said:

"He (Maillefert) didn't give me any trouble at all during the six or seven months I worked him, only to keep him.

"I found his shackles cut several times, but his work was satisfactory in every way."

Porter said Maillefert was constantly studying how to escape.

Jessie Bonstelle, 'Star Maker,' Dies

DETROIT, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Miss Jessie Bonstelle, director of the Detroit Civic Theater, and for 22 years associated with the development of stock companies in Detroit theatrical circles, died today.

Credited as a "maker of stars," Miss Bonstelle trained many actors, including Katherine Cornell, William Powell, Ann Harding and Minor Watson.

Penniless Recluse Returns Lost $600

CHARLESTON, Ill., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—A salesman for a burglar alarm system closed his sample case and walked out of the Charleston Police Station when Iverson Jaegers, 78-year-old penniless recluse, came in with a small bag containing $600 and jewelry, the misplaced property of Mrs. J. E. Hale, of Decatur. Police quoted him as saying the town had no need of a burglar alarm.

FATHER HELD FOR COURT IN ABANDONMENT OF THESE CHILDREN

CHARLES M'QUISTON

Mr. McQuiston, alias C. C. Franklin, married since the death of his first wife seven months ago, held for court by Justice of the Peace Milton Church for abandoning these six children, another, 8, and a married daughter, only 17. These are Sun-Telegraph pictures.

8 Children Abandoned, 'Burial' Showman Held

A father, who is alleged to have abandoned eight children on his re-marriage a few months ago, today had been held for court by Justice of the Peace Milton Church, of 2815 Brownsville road, on charges preferred by his oldest daughter.

The accused is Charles McQuiston. He is also known, the children say, as C. C. Franklin when he permits himself to be buried alive as a roadhouse attraction. His bride collapsed, injuring her side, when decision was passed. She was taken to South Side Hospital.

The daughter, Mrs. Virginia King, 17, described conditions at their home at Barracks No. 1, Broughton; of her struggles to keep the family nourished on a weekly allowance of $4 granted them by the Family Welfare Association. The children, she testified, have no clothing and two, Fay, 9, and Rose Anna, 12, were forced to leave school recently because they had no shoes. Eugene, 8, Mrs. King said, is still in school.

The other children are Mary, 5, Jean and Jane, 3-year-old twins, and George, 2.

Their mother died seven months ago.

23,064 VOTES SPLIT EXACTLY EVEN IN POLL

By COLE E. MORGAN
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The tabulators today counted 23,064 new postcard ballots in the nation-wide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

They divided exactly even—11,532 for President Hoover and 11,532 for Gov. Roosevelt.

This evidences how close the presidential race has become in the central industrial states.

VOTES FROM 7 STATES

The ballots under consideration came from Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Delaware returned 30 votes, 15 for Hoover and 15 for Roosevelt.

Maryland stuck to its guns as a definite Roosevelt state by giving him 936 to 420 for Hoover.

Pennsylvania, contributing 6,604 ballots, gave Hoover 3,450 and Roosevelt 3,154. This was the second consecutive week Hoover led in Pennsylvania.

Michigan, like Maryland, continued to favor Roosevelt, giving him a 1,214 vote to 1,093 for Hoover.

Ohio again added to Hoover's lead there with a vote of 2,254 to 1,967 for Roosevelt.

G. O. P. DRIVE SHOWN

Indiana came through with a 1,662 Hoover vote to 1,557 for Roosevelt.

Illinois was so nearly even that it gave Roosevelt only a 51 majority out of 5,327 ballots.

There can be no mistaking that the Republicans are fighting and fighting hard to overthrow the early advantage Gov. Roosevelt obtained in this important section. Whether the drive has come too late must await the result on election day.

Presidential Trend By States

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The tabulation that follows shows the total vote thus far recorded for President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt in the nation-wide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States. It also shows the majority that each candidate has in each state in which he is leading. In addition it gives the gain of each candidate on the latest returns received from each state as compared with the last preceding report from the state. These state reports are usually a week apart. The final feature of this table shows the net gain of each candidate in each state where he has improved his position as compared with the preceding report from that state.

JOHNSON BOLTS HOOVER, RAPS POLICIES

sivism and Progressives in California. He said:

"I personally immensely appreciate what he said and I am sure it is equally appreciated by the Progressive Republicans of this state."

Johnson's statement to E. P. Clark and others follows:

"Yesterday I received the night letter signed by yourself and many others representing Southern California newspapers urging me to issue a statement in support of the Republican national and state tickets. I take it the 'emphatic declaration' you ask is one in favor of Mr. Hoover's candidacy.

DEFINES FACTIONS

"I have publicly expressed my views upon national policies and concerning the present administration upon the floor of the Senate and otherwise. I had assumed these were known, particularly to Californians, and that there was no necessity again to express them in this campaign.

"For many years in the politics of this nation, two distinct political philosophies have constantly clashed, and in the present economic crisis these two conflicting philosophies stand out the one against the other in bold relief. On the one hand is the Progressive, on the other, the Ultra Conservative.

"I am a Progressive Republican; Mr. Hoover is not. He has justly earned the title of Ultra Conservative. The difference between the two may be described in a generalization, and could be particularized in a hundred acts of the existing national administration.

RUTHLESS EXPLOITATION

"The Progressive believes this government belongs to all its people, not to a favored or privileged few, and that it should be administered equally and impartially for all, high and low, rich and poor alike. The standpatter, paying lip service to common humanity, makes a mock of his words by his court of special classes, and his subserviency to special interests, and his indifference, as in the instances of the power trust and the sale of foreign securities to trusting American investors by international bankers, to the ruthless exploitation of our people.

"The Progressive thinks in terms of human beings; the standpatter has little thought or concern for them. When Mr. Hoover became President, his philosophy of government became apparent. Before that we knew little or nothing of his policies or politics. My views are those of a long lifetime. His have been acquired in the very brief period he has resided among us.

"In your telegram, apparently, you stress party regularity. In this crisis, I stress loyalty to the American people. You say you are the representative of 70 Southern California newspapers. If you were the representative of 7,000 newspapers, or just one ordinary American citizen, my answer would be the same.

PEOPLE COME FIRST

"I was elected by men and women of all shades of political opinion, Democrats, Progressive and Conservative Republicans—by the people of the State of California. My first allegiance is to all the people of this state. I would not taint my record nor stultify myself now by abandoning the principles for which I have battled unceasingly during my career—the principles for which the sovereign people of California elected me in 1928.

"The Republican party is not at stake in this campaign. It is only the ambition of one man who but a little more than a decade ago did not know which was his party, and who before that had no American party at all.

"In the present cataclysm, with 11,000,000 unemployed, and suffering and want on every hand, the man who puts his party feality and his hope of political preferment above the welfare of our people does the worst possible disservice to his country. I recognize that each individual, according as he sees the light, must make his choice. I made mine. I cannot and will not support Mr. Hoover."

LINK GANG HERE IN KILLING

mobile of E. A. Graff, of 622 Shady drive, Mt. Lebanon.

WILL BRING BACK CAR

Flaherty was one of the two picked out by the New Castle witnesses. They said he looked like one of those on the job and that Herman Molden, 48, an ex-convict, resembled the driver of the getaway car.

Inspector of Detectives Frank R. Boyd said he would send two detectives to Chicago tonight to bring back Molden's car. Later he will try to have the New Castle witnesses identify the car.

This is the car which Molden has admitted Maug borrowed on the night Moses was slain in Perry highway when the constable sought to question the occupants.

Maug has admitted taking Molden's car in his confession, but Molden insists he was not one of the gang that night.

The detectives say that when Maug told Molden the car had been used in a killing Molden drove the machine to Chicago and it was left in garage there.

HUNT GUNS IN RIVER

Detectives had planned today to have the Monongahela River dragged to Glenwood to recover four revolvers said to have been used by the mob on numerous jobs. But one of the gangsters, Edward Turpackj, 25, recanted his confession that the guns had been tossed there, the sleuths said.

Turpack, Maug and another of the outfit, C. J. (Chuck) Moyer, 28, have admitted holding up the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company's Lexington avenue garage, the Ingram carbarn and the Firestone Service Station in Baum boulevard, detectives declare.

WOMEN VOTERS GAINING

HARRISBURG, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Another shadow falls across the high command of Pennsylvania politics, and—it's the silhouette of a woman.

Creeping upward, along with the rising power of the farms and villages, the enrollment of women for the approaching election is advancing to a new all-time record.

Unless hitherto well-marked trends are erased by tardy returns, Pennsylvania will have more women eligible to vote than at any time in history. And political leaders of both major parties see in the shadow a new threat to their control.

Present indications are that the enrollment of women will exceed the record of 1,827,114 established in 1928, while the total enrollment will drop slightly below the 3,971,876 aggregate of four years ago.

Society Wife Seeks $50,000 Heart Balm

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. Nell Herr Wright, former New Orleans society woman, seeks $50,000 damages from Mrs. Mabel Clymer, film company treasurer, whom she charges with stealing the affection of her husband, James Long Wright, executive of the company employing Mrs. Clymer.

Anna Gould's 'Ex' Still Seriously Ill

PARIS, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—The condition of Marquis Boni De Castellane, for many years arbiter of elegance in French social circles and former husband of the American heiress, Anna Gould, was reported unchanged today.

He was seriously ill yesterday following a paralytic stroke and an attack of bronchitis.

Einstein Returning To U. S. In December

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—The Jewish Telegraphic Agency reported today that Prof. Albert Einstein will sail for California sometime in December to continue his work on the unified field theory. He will go to Mount Wilson Observatory.

RADIO ROYALTY HUNTER SAILS

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(Universal)—Miss Gloria Bragiotti, of the social register Braggiottis, of Boston, is bound for Rome, Florence, Vienna, Berlin, Paris and London to bring back a flock of royalty to grace New York's radio broadcasting programs.

Now on the high seas aboard the Italian liner Vulcania, Miss Braggiotti is to conduct a hunt for the best voices of the continent, and hopes to bag a princess, a marquisa and several countesses for the good of American radio.

Miss Braggiotti's trip is to add new names to the list of social register women of the younger set who have been appearing during the summer with "Jack Denny's Radio Debutantes."

'Nice, Shiny Bar' For Cincinnati Hotel

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Thomas D. Green, of New York, president of the American Hotel Association, told the delegates at its annual convention here that the association must center its efforts toward the election of a Congress favorable to the repeal of the prohibition amendment. John L. Morgan, managing director of a hotel in Cincinnati, announced he had started building a rathskeller in his hotel. He said:

"There will be a bar in it—a nice, shiny bar."

Election Printing Contracts Awarded

The Pittsburgh Printing Company has been awarded the contract for printing the general election ballots and the William G. Johnston Company the printing of election supplies.

The awards were made by the County Commissioners at a meeting last night. The Pittsburgh Printing Company figure was $6,735 for 693,792 ballots required. The Johnston Company was the only bidder on the supplies at $9,320.

Driver in Fatality Gets Year's Parole

David J. Foran, 32, of the Royal York apartments, Bigelow boulevard, was free today under one year's parole granted by Judge Thomas M. Marshall, following his plea of guilty in Criminal Court to involuntary manslaughter. His automobile hit and fatally injured Nettie H. Wyland, 57, of 5127 Center avenue, July 11. Foran said he did not see the victim until she stepped in front of his car.

Bishop, Wife Guests At M. E. Reception

The Pittsburgh Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a reception in Christ Church, tonight for Bishop and Mrs. Adna Wright Leonard. Among the speakers will be Dr. W. P. Tolley, president of Allegheny College.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Burning of insulating material in the ceiling of the underground suburban station of the Pennsylvania Railroad in West Philadelphia today drove 200 workmen from the structure and delayed train service.

SCHOOL FUNDS LAG DESPITE ECONOMIES

The Board of Public Education of Pittsburgh claims total economies of approximately $650,000 so far this year, although revenue from current taxes to September 1 has dragged $945,000 behind estimated revenue. Economies include:

Teacher's 10 per cent refund (instead of a salary cut) and a 10 per cent cut in other salaries will save, up to December 31, $400,000.

Savings in the supplies department up to September 1—$177,000.

Capital outlay, saving $49,000—that being the difference between the figures of this year and last.

And $80,000, customarily spent on bond charges. The annual bond issues, normally totaling $1,500,000 were eliminated this year.

A saving of $160,000 by failing to refill 57 teaching positions.

These represent, according to board officials, the savings since January 1.

ADJUST BUDGET

The budget for 1932 calls for $15,303,866. This is being adjusted, however, in view of the teachers' salary refund and other economies.

The budget was greater than the revenue of preceding years. In 1931, revenue was $14,779,591 and in 1930 the income to the board was $14,543,007.

The millage, however, remained the same during these years—at 11¾ mills. High assessments were expected to raise the larger amount this year—an expectation that failed.

Budget sessions are being planned now for next year. The salary reductions are expected to cut down costs $1,000,000 in 1933.

Whether tax collections will fall still farther is questionable. In addition to the $945,000 lag, tuition fees dropped from $98,000 for last year to $44,000 so far this year. Some further collections in tuitions are expected between now and December.

BONUSES CUT OUT

Last fall, school officials sought a budget of $15,649,153. Board members cut it down $345,000. Of the cut, the largest item represented was $108,000 which would have gone to teachers showing especial merit—a system of merit bonuses.

These cuts, curtailment of building and supplies reductions, brought the budget down to $15,303,866.

The School Board in Pittsburgh operates on a calendar year. It is regulated, including teachers' salaries, by state law. It is a separate tax-levying body, directed by a board who serve without pay at court appointment.

The teachers' salary refunds were made with the teachers' consent, due to the law governing them.

There have been no reductions in the number of supervisors or teachers or other employes other than this failure to replace the 57, yearly increments have not been deferred, other departments have not been cut, little change has been made in classes, due to the 1,000 or so increase in pupils being absorbed in the 175 schools accommodating approximately 115,000 pupils.

NO SUBJECTS DROPPED

No classes or subjects have been dropped, and school sessions have not been reduced.

If current taxes and other revenue continue to drag behind, other economies will have to be made.

Budget preparations for 1933 soon will begin. At present, the Coyne Legislative Committee is investigating the high cost of government here, and intends to go into school costs, its members say.

The board hopes to balance its budget.

Speed Record Set In Criminal Court

Criminal Court records were shattered yesterday when 61 indictments were disposed of without a case being postponed or not reached. Trial List Clerk George Marloff said it was the first time in his experience that every case listed had been completed before the end of the day.

Seven judges were sitting, trials being held in six courts, which disposed of 34 cases. In the plea room 21 pleas of guilty were entered. Only six cases were nolle prossed.

Two Win Divorces, Three Suits Filed

Divorces were granted in Common Pleas Court in the suits of Louis P. Belsterling against Anna Marie Belsterling and Anna M. Stevens against Claude H. Stevens.

Divorce suits were filed by Robert N. Crawford against Catherine Crawford, Margaret Bender against William Bender, Bella Sauermilch against Rudolph Sauermilch.

TRAFFORD VOTE MIXUP ENDED BY COURT

Seventy-five voters living in the corner of Trafford City, which lies within the bounds of Allegheny County, will no longer have to cast their ballots in Westmoreland County.

On petition of the voters Judge Elder W. Marshall has set up a new voting precinct for them, to be known as Trafford Borough. He designated that the polls be in the garage of F. J. Barwick, 5 Maple avenue, and appointed Frank J. Barwick, judge; Lester J. Marker, Jr., majority inspector, and Mrs. Pauline Maguire, minority inspector.

Vacancies on election boards have been filled as follows:

Judge, Twelfth District, Fifth Ward, Henry Hoffbauer vice William R. Lang, ineligible because he is a city employe; minority inspector, same district, Louis Collette vice L. L. Gondleman, county employe.

Judge, Eleventh District, Ninth Ward, Charles Oberle vice Louis May, moved.

Majority inspector, Eighth District, Sixth Ward, J. J. Kohler vice Joseph Wuellette, moved.

PRIMARY SIGNS STILL NUISANCE

Although it's more than a year since the hectic primary campaign, the County Department of Highways, Bridges and Tunnels is still engaged in removing political signs from bridges and other county property.

Director F. J. Chester reported yesterday that it has taken in some cases sandblasting, in others chiseling and in others painting over of walls to remove the signs.

His department is also removing advertising signs erected within the county's right of way, Chester reported.

2 Held for Trial In Ohio Torture

NEWARK, O., Oct. 14.—Henry Rowe and his son, Earl, who are charged by Perry Fowler, 67, farmer, with breaking into his home and beating him and burning his feet with hot irons, today waived a hearing and were held for the grand jury in $5,000 bail each.

Open New Castle P. O. Bids Nov. 16

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Oct. 14.—Bids for the construction of a new postoffice building here will be opened by Treasury Department officials in Washington, November 16, it was announced today. An appropriation of $472,500 is available.

Volunteers Issue Plea for Clothing

Lieut. Col. Frank H. Wise, regional commander of the Volunteers of America, today made a call to all persons in Pittsburgh who have discarded clothing to notify Volunteer headquarters. He said the demand is especially great for overcoats and shoes.

'Lost' Ad Returns Wandering Dog To Boy

"Buddy" Fowler, 35 Ansonia avenue, Overbrook had "Bucky," his Boston bulldog, returned to him today after "Buddy" had spent hours in fear that his pet was lost for good. The dog wandered away yesterday morning and the entire family missed him, for "Bucky" was an important member of the household.

An ad in the Sun-Telegraph brought "Bucky" back home. A man (the family was too excited to remember his name) found the dog wandering near his home and took him in tow. Then he read the Sun-Telegraph ad asking for information concerning "Bucky," and it was only a few minutes until the pet was on his way home.

COUNTY BOARD WORKS LATE

The County Commissioners, after a session lasting until after midnight, were nearly caught up with their routine work today.

A mass of duties accumulated in the last two months was handled in a session which started at 5 p. m.

It was a busy day for the board. Commissioners C. C. McGovern and William D. Mansfield took part in the ceremony of opening the Boston Bridge connecting Boston and Versailles boroughs, prior to the night session.

Economist Surveys Business Outlook

Dean Langmuir, author and economist, is consulting today with several Pittsburgh executives on matters relative to the economic and financial situation.

Langmuir selected and is in charge of the supervision of the portfolio of North American Trust Shares, one of the largest fixed trusts.

High Court Meets Next in Philadelphia

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court concluded its session here yesterday and adjourned to reconvene in Philadelphia, November 28. A long list of appeals was heard from Western Pennsylvania counties. The session was expedited by the jurists sitting a half hour longer each day than is the custom.

WOMAN GUILTY IN VOTE FRAUD

Attorneys for Ina Wayne, Negro, Hill District political leader, were considering today whether to file a motion for a new trial, following her conviction late yesterday of violating the election laws by having phantom names placed on the vote list.

The fact that the jury recommended leniency was taken into consideration by Attorneys A. A. Oliver and Benjamin Lencher. Judge N. T. Boose, Somerset County, granted them four days to file the motion, deferring sentence.

Clarence Webster and Ina Wayne, tried at the same time for conspiracy, were acquitted, with the costs on the county. Directed verdicts of not guilty were returned in favor of Gus Greenlee, Negro; James Gross and Walter Rainey, Third Ward Negro politicians, who had been indicted on the conspiracy charge with the Wayne woman and Webster.

Arnold Mortality Rate Lowest In State

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Reporting a 1931 death rate for Pennsylvania of 11.5 for each 1,000 population, the Census Bureau reveals a continued downward trend from a 1928 rate of 12.6. The state rate, however, remained above the national rate of 11.1.

The lowest death rate in the state, 3.1 per 1,000 population was reported by Arnold, Westmoreland County. Ambridge was second low with 4.7. West Chester was high with 29.2 and Uniontown second high with 21.4.

MARTIN SLATED TO HEAD BAR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—The general council of the American Bar Association today nominated Clarence E. Martin, of Martinsburg, W. Va., for president of the association. Nomination is tantamount to election.

He will succeed Guy A. Thompson, of St. Louis. The election will be late today at the last business session of the fifty-fifth annual meeting.

Martin has taken an active part in the association's affairs for a number of years, conducting some of its most important legal studies.

John Henry Wigmore, dean emeritus of Northwestern University law school, today was awarded the American Bar Association's 1932 medal for the "most outstanding contribution to American jurisprudence." He is the author of many legal texts.

DEADLY BATTLE ROUTS OUTLAWS

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 14.—(INS.)—Scattered remnants of a fierce outlaw band of Moros routed from the native stronghold at Bud Panamao by Filipino constabulary, were pursued into the Jolo Island wilderness today.

Six were killed and six wounded in the battle that was the climax of constabulary efforts to revenge 21 comrades slain in ambush by the Moros.

Many Moros dead and wounded were carried away. Of the known killed in the battle, only one was a constabularyman.

Attacked by the avengers, the outlaws fled from their village, but continued to snipe at the attackers.

Richly Furred Coats

In the October Sale

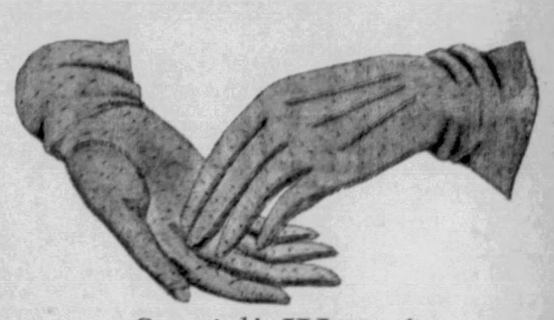
$68

With fashion this season demanding lavish quantity of furs on the new coats, this store's high quality standards in the matter of trimming furs certainly mean a lot to coat buyers.

Fine qualities of Real Mink, Natural Cross Fox, deep, silky Beaver, Dyed-Blue Fox, Pointed Fox, Jap Mink, Caracul, Gray Persian Lamb, Skunk, and Fitch, are used for large, flattering, face-framing collars, broad-shouldered collars, deep cuffs and at-the-elbow trimmings, and graceful capes which reach the waistline.

Models and sizes for women and misses, and specially designed coats in half sizes for women of short stature.

... Horne's, Women's and Misses' Coat Sections, Second Floor ...



Special! Women's

Pigskin Gloves

$2.50

Never before have we been able to offer fine quality peccary pigskins at such a price! You'll want them to wear with your sports and tailored town clothes.

Four-button length pull-ons—in Natural, Sea Sand, and White.

... Horne's, Main Floor ...

Girls' Coats

Raccoon or Wolf Collars

$16.75 $19.75

Deep collars of raccoon or wolf give a most flattering, luxurious air to schoolgirls' coats of soft fleece fabrics, Kemp tweeds, and new diagonal woolens. Interesting sleeves, well-fitted shoulders, fine linings—the finishing details of much higher priced coats. And they're as comfortable as they are charming. Sizes 10 to 16 years.

Wool Jumpers, $2.95 and $3.95

Of fine quality wool crepe or wool jersey with plaid or print blouses (some of silk crepe, too).

Junior-Misses' Coats

Dressy and Sports Types

$25

Dressy Coats trimmed with real fur that the wearer will be proud of and that will give real service ... natural wolf, pointed sitka fox, fitch and Chinese badger.

Unfurred Sports Coats of swanky, fleecy-soft plaids and "great coats" of deep-fleeced Lamorese.

... Horne's, Junior-Misses' Section, Second Floor ...

Last Day! Annual Sale of Overcoats

$18.50 $24.50 $34.50

The lowest prices we have ever quoted in this Annual Overcoat Sale for qualities which have never been surpassed—fine Worumbos, Irish Fleeces, Meltons, Tweeds, and Novelty Mixtures.

Choose from the season's newest models—Drape Effects, Chesterfields, Fitted Styles, Ulsters, etc. Complete size range at each price.

Join the crowds here tomorrow, and settle the Winter Overcoat question quickly and satisfactorily, at savings which you are not likely to see equaled again!

... The Men's Store, Third Floor ...

Sale! Boys' Tweed-u-roy Jacket Suits

Made of genuine Hockmeyer tweed-u-roy ... the sturdiest of corduroys in a tweed pattern—that endures all kinds of wear—will withstand the weather—and keep a boy comfortable all winter!

Suits include boys' favorite worsted cuff knickers and big, burly-looking lumberjackets (that are reversible, with heavy woolen on one side and corduroy on the other) ... all for just about the price of the jacket alone!

Brown, tan, and gray—in sizes 8 to 18 years.

Boys' and Girls' Hallowe'en Costumes

$1.00

All sorts of slick disguises ... costumes that will mean loads of fun at school or Hallowe'en parties this month. Choose a different one for every affair, at this price! Sizes from 4 to 14 years. More than 20 styles from which to choose.

Costumes for Men and Women—priced from $2.00 to $5.00.

... Horne's, Third Floor ...

Boys' Turtle-Neck Sweaters, $2.50

School fellows are "going for them in a big way"—for sports wear or under jackets and leather coats. Fine, soft wool yarns — in maroon, blue, tan, black, and white.

... Horne's, Third Floor ...

Misses' Furred Suits

$25

Suits of monotone tweed, having long coats or hip-length jackets with raccoon collars ... Suits of flecked tweed, with raccoon-collared jackets ... Suits with swagger coats trimmed with lapin or raccoon ... Suits with the new, longer jackets of lapin, and skirts and scarfs of crepe wool suiting ... Three-piece unfurred suits of monotone diagonal, consisting of swagger coat, skirt and hat.

... Horne's, Suit Section, Second Floor ...

Swagger Lapin* Coats

$49.50

One of these is the perfect thing to wear in town over sheer wool and knitted frocks for daytime. And we know some smart gels who are taking fashion in their own hands, and draping their swagger lapins about them after dark, over frocks which are not formal enough to call for an evening wrap.

In black, nutone and nutria shade. *Coney.

WELFARE FUND ASSURED HELP OF LEADERS

The tentative $2,500,000 budget of the Welfare Fund was indorsed at a meeting of several hundred leading Pittsburghers in the Chamber of Commerce last night. Assurance of their support was given by William P. Witherow, chairman of the Welfare Fund campaign.

R. Templeton Smith, president of the fund, described how people of means are going to raise the money they will give to the fund. In the case of corporations, he said, they are dipping into their resources to make contributions, since nearly all businesses have no current net income and must go into their reserves to raise cash.

Individuals who are to give in large amounts are actually selling something to meet the obligation, he said.

In the absence of President F. P. Irish, of the Family Welfare Association, Mrs. Mary Flinn Lawrence presided. The case workers attending the meeting numbered about 400.

Speaking to these workers, Witherow said:

"You case workers are soldiers. When people tell me today that it is going to be a 'tough job' to raise money this year, I simply tell them that this is war. We are at war with a foe more insidious than we faced on the battlefields 14 years ago.

"The people of this community will be 100 per cent behind you this fall and winter. We must not come out of the depression haggard and sullen. You can prevent any such outcome when properly financed. Keep on giving your best to the people in this critical period."

Wilbur F. Maxwell, executive secretary of the fund, told the case workers that their skill in administering the small weekly food allowance being given each family was the reason the city and county are getting by with minimum expense.

SCHOOL OFFERS NEW COURSE

"Opportunity School," sponsored by the Christian Association, of Wilmerding, is now prepairing for classes. Registration will be held Monday afternoon and classes will open Monday, October 24.

A feature course to be offered will be occupational adjustment and will be taught by Dr. L. C. French, of the University of Pittsburgh. Other courses will be in physics, English, American history, shop problems, algebra, shorthand, typing, economics and mechanical drawing.

This will be the fourth year of the school. Classes will be held in the Christian Association Building, Marguerite avenue.

U. S. Judge Heads Harvard Alumni

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 4.—(AP.)—Judge James M. Morton, Jr., of the United States District Court, yesterday was chosen president of the Harvard Alumni Association. He succeeded Frederic A. Delano, Washington, D. C.

Dr. William S. Thayer, Baltimore, Md., and Henry Parkman, Jr., Boston, were elected vice presidents.

4 Held in Looting Of Sleuth's Cabin

GREENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 14.—Edward Correll, 17; Carl Zelachoski, 18; Dale Myers, 18, and Edward Carey, 18, all of Jeannette, have been held for court following their arrest by police on charges of robbing the summer cabin of former Chief County Detective Paul L. Feightner in Hempfield Township.

Slaying of Chinese Blamed on Robbers

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 14.—With robbery, not vengeance, established as the motive, search turned to other cities for the killers of Lee Wah, or Lee Frank, Chinese laundryman, slain Tuesday morning. State and county authorities believe at least two took part in the killing. No trace of a round, pointed instrument used to break Wah's skull has been found.

Tailors Organize Association Unit

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 14.—Brownsville tailors formed a chapter of the Tailors' and Retail Cleaners' Association of Western Pennsylvania.

'Globe-Trotter' On Air at 6:22

James J. Long, sports columnist of the Sun-Telegraph, gives an authentic review of sports activities during his weekly talk on WCAE tonight at 7 o'clock.

A program for children is presented under the direction of Jane A. White from WCAE from 5 to 5:30.

In order to accomodate the dramatization of "Sweet Vengeance," on WCAE from 6:30 to 7, the news broadcast by Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, is scheduled from 6:22 to 6:29 tonight. The Globe-Trotter's 2:30 broadcast tomorrow is cancelled to allow WCAE listeners to hear Jess Carver's detailed account of the Pitt-Army football game.

Richard Koch, baritone, and the Andrini Brothers, string comedians, are starred with an orchestra directed by David Levin and Pat Haley, master of ceremonies, during the Sun-Telegraph Nite Club of the Air on WCAE tonight at 11.

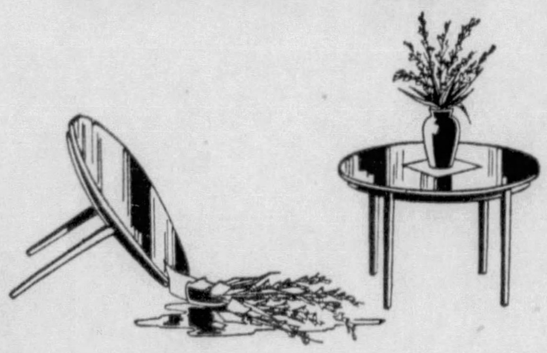
IT COULDN'T STAND UP!


TABLES are built with four legs — for a reason. It's easy enough to discover that reason. Just saw two of the legs off. Presto! Balance is gone!
You can always depend on the vital elements in Eveready Raytheon Tubes being balanced, because they have four supports instead of two. And they are the only tubes you buy with four pillars. The additional two supports add to their performance life, protect their vital elements against becoming unbalanced through jars, jolts of any kind — from handling, from installation, or from the vibrations of dynamic speakers.
For smooth, steady, satisfying performance, equip your set with Eveready four-pillar Tubes. They cost no more, why not buy the best? Your dealer will demonstrate.

'Sweet Vengeance' Drama WCAE Feature Tonight; Garner Broadcasts

The opening installment of "Sweet Vengeance," the new serial story starting in Sunday's issue of the American Weekly Magazine distributed each Sunday with the Sun-Telegraph, is presented from the studios of WCAE tonight at 6:30 under the direction of Ed Harvey. The principal roles are played by Stephanie Diamond, Helen Wayne, Leon Churchon and Mr. Harvey. The presentation is scheduled for a half hour.

Floyd Gibbons, radio's human machine gun of words and noted newspaper correspondent, returns to the air over an NBC-WEAF network including WCAE, tonight at 10:30 when the first of a series of weekly adventure programs dealing with the most dramatic and unusual experiences in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. America is presented. During the series, Gibbons acts as chief correspondent of the Elgin Adventurers' Club, organized in the belief that everyone has had at least one adventure thrilling enough to form the nucleus of Gibbons' stories.

Mr. Gibbons

Answering campaign utterances of President Hoover, former President Coolidge and Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, Speaker John N. Garner, Democratic vice presidential nominee, delivers his first campaign speech over a coast-to-coast NBC network, including KDKA, tonight at 10:15. During the broadcast, which originates in New York, he discusses Democratic activities in the last Congress, taxes, sound money, economy and unemployment relief.

Play-by-play descriptions of football games tomorrow include: Pitt-Army, by Jess Carver, Sun-Telegraph sports writer, on WCAE from 2:30 to 4:30; Notre Dame-Drake, by Bill Munday, KDKA at 2:45; Ohio State-Michigan by Ted Husing, on WJAS at 1:45.

A new program of slumber music, including songs of love and romance, known as "The Dreamer," makes its debut over WJAS tonight at 11 o'clock. An air of mystery surrounds the series, in that the participating artists prefer to remain unidentified.

* * *

Program Pointers

Dr. Marion K. McKay, president of the Civic Club of Allegheny County, presents the first of a group of Civic Club talks to be heard at regular intervals on KQV's daily "Pittsburgh Today" program tonight at 9 o'clock. For the last 12 years Dr. McKay has been a professor of economics at the University of Pittsburgh. He was a member of the Pennsylvania State Tax Commission from 1923 to 1927, and was a member of the special committee on taxation in connection with President Hoover's recent conference on Home Building and Home Ownership . . . C. B. Auel gives another of a series of talks in connection with Fire Prevention Week on WCAE today at 4:45. During the same period on KDKA, G. E. Clarkson, of the Better Traffic Committee, is heard in a similar address.

Dr. McKay

Listening In

Hoover's Announcer.
Buddy and Mary.
'Prof.' Reisman.

Perhaps you were surprised—if you twirled the dial around a bit—to hear the same voice introducing and closing President Hoover's Des Moines address on rival networks the other night. The voice belongs to Herluf Provensen, chief of NBC's Washington announcers, who for nearly three years has handled all the White House broadcasts. Only 23 years old, he is often called "the President's personal announcer." He was born in Racine, Wis., and spent 10 years of his boyhood in Denmark, attending the Danish schools, including the Royal Naval Academy. He speaks six languages fluently—Danish, French, German, Latin, ancient Norse, and, of course, English.

Mr. Provensen

Bits about the artists: Kathryn Parsons, the Girl o' Yesterday, starts a vaudeville tour this month . . . When Billy Jones and Ernie Hare's sponsor opened a new warehouse in New Jersey, the boys plus Ward Wilson, Lannie Ross and the Jesters helped to make it a gala occasion . . . That rumor that Buddy Rogers will be Mary Pickford's leading man in her next film is making the rounds again . . . Leo Reisman has been asked to lecture on music appreciation at Columbia . . . Every member of Joe Moss' orchestra is an arranger . . . Jack Denny promises to look over all song manuscripts submitted to him after he returns from a Bermuda vacation.

Johnny Hamp and his orchestra will open the William Penn Hotel's snappy new night club, the "Chatterbox," Wednesday night. The "Chatterbox" replaces Pirate Hall.

Dr. Louis Joffe, world traveler and lecturer, and secretary of the Pittsburgh Chess Club, gives the uninitiated the "lowdown" on chess in a group of discussions of the game inaugurated on WJAS at 7:15.

The first of a series of half-hour concerts sponsored by Frank & Seder's is presented on WCAE tonight at 8:30. Featuring Paul Gannon, tenor, and the Andrini brothers, string wizards, with an orchestra, the program includes selections from "Band Wagon," "St. Louis Blues" and "Komenoi Ostrow."

Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler, Princeton's new coach, gives some "inside dope" on football, and Christy Walsh makes the second exclusive announcement over the air of the 10 players to receive an All-America weekly rating as highlights of the All-America Football Show on WJAS tonight at 9.

WRIGLEY'S ON BOARD A PARIS TO LONDON HOP

Enthusiasm Running High Here.

By MISS MINT

WHAT a day—what a day! Dark clouds and teeming rain, but the clouds, for me, had a real silver lining yesterday. A letter placed on my desk was the bright ray in a gloomy day. I should like to print that letter verbatim, but the space is limited. Margaret T. Strean, George Washington Hotel, Washington, Pa., gave me a most interesting story. She flew from Paris to London last summer, and the Imperial Airways Company furnished her with Wrigley's Spearmint gum. Miss Strean still has a piece of that gum, and she quotes the printed matter on the wrapper—"Made in Great Britain. Wrigley's Spearmint — Sugar coated chewing sweet. For chewing only."

Thank you many times, Miss Strean, for your interesting episode. That's certainly a real hop up in the air for Wrigley's. Do carry that gum with you in case I meet you in Pittsburgh — that piece of Wrigley's would certainly have claim to a Wrigley Dollar!

OSCAR WEY, 1106 Linden Place; RITA REINERS, 2109 Mt. Troy Road; ALVIN TURK, R. D. 1, Wible Run Road; Mrs. M. J. O'CONNOR, 1249 Columbus Ave.; JOHN KAIB, 3510 East St.; MRS. TISHERMAN, 112 Chesterfield Road; CLARENCE J. BAILEY, 867 Freeland St.; ISABEL KIDNER, 806 Federal St., and NATHAN COHEN, 3833 Evergreen Road, received their dollar bills yesterday and were mightily thrilled with them. Are you in line for one of those new, crispy, Wrigley dollar bills? Get your package of Wrigley's gum and don't forget to keep it with you always.

HIT BY SLUMP RUM MEN FAIL TO PAY FINES

Indications that the bootleg liquor business is not prosperous were given in Federal Court when 65 self-confessed violators of the prohibition law appeared before Judge R. M. Gibson.

Fifteen unable to pay fines were committed to jail to stay 30 days, unless the money demanded is produced. More than 50 were placed on probation and fined, but were allowed specified periods to make payments.

Three others were given jail sentences. Among them was Stanley Dybiec, of Pittsburgh, with a court record of two prior offenses who was sentenced to serve one year in a government penitentiary. The fines ranged from $25 to $200.

When Andrew W. Jackson, of Glenshaw road, Shaler Township, entered a plea of guilty to sale and possession of liquor, he had a large number of character witnesses, among them Superintendent Robert Braun of the workhouse, former sheriff. Jackson was fined $150.

It was a special arraignment day in court. Defendants in 71 cases pleaded guilty and the cases were disposed of by the court. Defendants in 22 cases signed pleas of not guilty and will be tried at the November term of court.

BOSTON BRIDGE DEDICATED

Five thousand persons late yesterday saw the formal opening of the new Boston Bridge, a steel and concrete structure spanning the Youghiogheny River between Boston and Versailles Township.

Elizabeth Walter, 13, of Boston, cut a red, white and blue ribbon, held by Margaret Shelton, 7, of Versailles, and Helen Simpson, 13, of Lincoln Township, as the bridge was declared open by County Commissioner C. C. McGovern and turned over to the state.

The bridge, replacing an old span, cost around $900,000, the county contributing $25,000, the state $104,000 and the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad $40,000. County, township and McKeesport officials participated.

Pattern 2450

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

One of the newest, smartest frocks thoughtfully designed for the matron is sketched today. Those flattering revers that come from the front panel are winning and do wonders in hiding a full bust. The sleeves, too, reflect the newest details. A lovely style for satins, or the very crepey silks in vogue.

Pattern 2450 may be ordered only in sizes 36 to 46. Size 36 requires 3⅜ yards 39-inch fabric and ⅛ yard 5-inch lace. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

Send 15 CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

The choice of a smart, sensible and economical fall and winter wardrobe becomes very simple with the aid of THE NEW ANNE ADAMS PATTERN CATALOG. This beautiful book contains 32 pages of select Anne Adam models for every FALL and WINTER need—house, street, afternoon, formal frocks and lingerie for adults; pages of lovely models for juniors and kiddies; special styles for the larger figure, and many delightful suggestions for Christmas sewing. SEND FOR YOUR COPY. PRICE OF CATALOG, 15 CENTS. CATALOG AND PATTERN TOGETHER 25 CENTS. State P.-T. Post Won By Erie Woman

YORK, Pa., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. William Oesbury, of Erie, was elected vice president of the Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers in the only contest that marked election of officers at the congress' closing session yesterday. Other officers include: President, Mrs. Walter E. Greenwood, of Coatesville, re-elected; vice presidents, Mrs. E. A. Hower, of Johnstown; Mrs. R. E. Selden, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. H. H. Hall, of Newberry.

Mother Asks Probe Of Film Man's Death

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—The District Attorney's office received a telegram today from Mrs. George A. Davidson, Sr., of New York City, saying she had evidence her son George A. Davidson, motion picture test director, was not a suicide.

She requested that the inquest be postponed until after her arrival by plane here tonight and that all material witnsses be held. The inquest was put over until Monday.

Court Closes Four Places For Liquor

Preliminary injunctions, pending final hearings December 13, were granted in Federal Court against four places in Pittsburgh, where violations of the dry law were charged.

The places and alleged proprietors were: Store, 1215 Clark street, Mrs. Angeline Sargo; speakeasy, second floor, 18 Congress street, Rose Vituccio; saloon and speakeasy, basement, 1317 Whitcomb street, Lee Alexander, and a store, 189 Thirty-fourth street, Mrs. Blanche Slesinski.

Negotiations Opened On El Paso Site

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Foreign Minister Manuel Tellez has announced negotiations between Mexico and the United States to settle the long disputed Chamizal territorial dispute, involving land on which part of El Paso, Tex., is built.

Mexico contends the area in question was cut away many years ago when the Rio Grande altered its course.

Woman Kills Mother And Takes Own Life

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. Laura L. Thomas, 46, shot and killed her mother, Mrs. Catherine Timmins, 75, yesterday, police said, and committed suicide. The bodies were found by Mrs. Thomas' husband. A note she left said:

"My head whirls all day. I took mother first. No one to take care of her. Can't leave her with you. Bye bye."

Relief Now
In Few Minutes From Pains Of Rheumatism

It has now been discovered by thousands of rheumatic sufferers that the pains of that distressing disorder can be eased in as little as a few minutes . . . relief and comfort in almost as little time as it takes to tell!

Doctors advise two tablets of Bayer Aspirin taken with a full glass of water. Then a rest of a few minutes . . . and that is all. Pain is eased quickly—sometimes almost unbelievably.

Relief comes so fast because of the peculiar quick-dissolving property of Genuine Bayer Aspirin. The tablets you take dissolve almost INSTANTLY in your stomach. And thus you get practically instant relief. The fastest, safe relief—it is said.

Remember it is Genuine Bayer Aspirin which claims this quick-dissolving, quick-acting property. So be careful that you get the real article when you buy. See that any box or bottle you purchase is clearly marked "Genuine Bayer Aspirin." And that any tablet you take has the name "Bayer" stamped on it in the form of a cross. Then you will get quick relief.

Remember that when you buy. And remember, too, that Genuine Bayer Aspirin Does Not Harm the Heart.

The RICHMAN BROTHERS COMPANY ESTABLISHED 1879

BUSINESS IS BETTER!

YOU will be glad to know that we sold 25% more suits and topcoats last week, in the same stores, than we sold the corresponding week of 1931.

The gain in our St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha stores was 41%;

In our Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Louisville stores, 37.4%;

In our Chicago and Milwaukee stores, 30%;

In our St. Paul and Minneapolis stores, 21.9%;

In our Cleveland, Akron and Youngstown stores, 20.2%;

In our Buffalo, Erie and Pittsburgh stores, 12.3%;

In our Toledo and Detroit stores, 10%;

Our mail orders which come from every section of the United States States, increased 22%.

When our sales increase, the sales of other clothing stores also increase. They then place orders with clothing manufacturers who in turn buy cloth, lining, cotton goods, thread, canvas, buttons, etc., from mills which give more employment.

You will profit in buying clothes now, for the price of everything that we use in the manufacture of clothing has advanced from ten to twenty-five per cent in two months, and we believe prices will go higher.

The people have bought sparingly for three years. Clothes are worn out.

Increased purchases create a demand which raises prices.

We have done our best to serve you since 1879 . . . thru good times and bad. We are certain that in all our 53 years, we have never offered as much for the money, in fine fabrics, stylishly made, perfect-fitting garments as we do this fall.

Yes, Madam!

Washing dishes has always been hard on hands

BUT see how kind the quick New Oxydol is!

● Now you needn't dread putting your hands into dishwater three times a day. There's a new soap that does the work in double-quick time and still is kind to hands!

Sprinkle the New Oxydol in your dishpan, turn on the water—and you'll see why this soap does so much!

You've never had such gorgeous suds—rich, thick, lasting suds—50% more suds. Suds that do the work for you so fast your hands are hardly in the dishpan at all. Suds that cut the grease like lightning and rinse off so dishes are sparkling clean before you know it. Every particle of New Oxydol dissolves instantly into thick, long-lasting suds so there are no gummy balls of soap floating around—so water doesn't get greasy—so there's no scum left in the pan.

Try Oxydol for clothes too—see how fast those extra, long-lived suds soak clothes snowy white without rubbing—how clean and sweet-smelling your clothes come out.

And remember that it makes rich suds in any water—and all water turns hard when you put in dirty dishes or clothes. Ask your grocer today for the big blue and orange bull's-eye package—you'll bless the day you learned its name.

RITCHIE WON'T 'SOFT-PEDAL' ON HOOVER

International News Service.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 14.—"It makes no difference to me," Gov. Albert Ritchie said today when informed that the scheduled debate with Secretary of the Interior Wilbur at Northwestern University on October 17 had been canceled. Last minute changes by G. O. P. leaders substituted Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, director in chief of the G. O. P. publicity forces.

President Hoover was to have introduced Wilbur by radio, while Gov. Roosevelt was to have introduced Ritchie from Albany.

CHARGES DENIED

Charges that President Hoover was instrumental in having Wilbur withdraw were denied at the White House. At the Department of the Interior it was said the Secretary was out of the city and would not return for 10 days.

Ritchie, when informed of the change by Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago banker, said:

"Traylor told me he had been authoritatively informed that President Hoover would not permit Secretary Wilbur to speak at the meeting unless the President was assured that I would not, in my speech, engage in any criticism of him, but would confine myself to other subjects.

HOOVER RECORD

"It struck me that Mr. Hoover is running for re-election on the record he has made as President and a very important question in the campaign is whether that record entitles him to re-election or not. We Democrats do not think so. On the contrary, we think President Hoover's record is of itself sufficient to elect Gov. Roosevelt.

"I told Traylor that, distasteful as it was to me not to comply with any request of the President of the United States, I could not comply with this one, because I did not know how to present the Democratic side of the campaign without stating in a respectful manner and within the limits of good taste, those criticisms which I believe President Hoover's record not only justify, but unquestionably call for.

"The next thing I heard was that President Hoover had refused to allow Secretary Wilbur to speak on the same platform with me. So far as I am concerned, it makes no difference to me."

Fight to Save Child Unconscious Weeks

WOODBINE, N. J., Oct. 14.—(INS.)—A battle was being waged here today to save the life of Claire Freedman, 5, who has been unconscious two weeks, suffering from poisoning which spread through her system after she was burned on the leg by the hot exhaust pipe of her father's automobile.

The child was burned when she crawled under the machine to retrieve a ball.

Ex-Russian General Ill With Pneumonia

GENEVA, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Prince Louis Napoleon, at one time a general in the Russian army, was reported to be seriously ill of pneumonia today at his chateau at Pragins, near here. He is 68.

It's No Longer Torture To Lose FAT

How stout people formerly tortured themselves in their efforts to lose fat. They went hungry on starvation diets, took bitter-tasting and often harmful drugs, weakened themselves with strenuous exercise. Now they no longer endure these miseries. For experts in weight reduction have devised a system that makes unwanted fat just melt away—surely, safely, pleasantly.

Your druggist has it. Ask him for a package of Harvin Salts, which contains the famous Harvin Plan of Eating. Take half a teaspoonful of the salts in a glass of water every morning and eat according to the Plan.

In a few short weeks everyone will admire your slender figure, your clear, radiant complexion.

Harvin Salts, as pleasant to take as an after-dinner mint, stimulate sluggish glands—the cause of excess fat in 50 out of 100 persons. They also keep your intestinal tract free from all poisonous waste, and correct excessive acidity.

The Harvin Plan of Eating, prepared by experts, keeps your weight under scientific control at all times. Yet you do not starve yourself. You may eat the foods you like—even sweets are not denied.

Start toward that slender figure today. Ask at all

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

The pithy and pungent crack appears to be The Thing—even in major politics . . . The Republicans have a new one—"Bringing prosperity back to America is an Elephant's job—not a Donkey's!" . . . Wonder what wit thought that one up? . . . The Times radio oracle calls Mr. Jolson's voice a plaintive tenor . . . Well, it isn't—it's a baritone . . . The thing that got me at the McLarnin-Leonard bout was learning that Leonard was always the Irishman's ring idol—and there he was trimming him . . . And when I remarked to George White I had never seen Benny Leonard in a ring before, he said: "You still haven't seen Benny Leonard!" . . . He must have been grand in his time . . . And I made a sour face at Referee Donovan when he halted it, but that shows how much I know about mercy.

Wonder how important it is? . . . That melody which is supposed to have the better minds along Tin Pan Alley dizzy . . . It seems that the girl who wrote "Lullaby of the Leaves," and other hits, has startled the street by composing a tune with a total range of six notes—a feat, it is argued, that has no precedent in the history of popular music . . . I wondered what became of Charlie Coe, who won added renown and some rebukes for his microphoning of the Sharkey-Schmeling encounter . . . He is stumping for Mr. Hoover and newspapers now Christen him "The Firebrand of the G. O. P." and he is rated by some as the "greatest political orator since Bryan!" . . . Well, now!

Good for Carveth Wells, the noted hunter! . . . Who discovered the piece of the Ark which drew all that publicity in the journals . . . His forthcoming picture, "The Jungle Killer," which he produced, will expose all that stuff about wild-animal hunting . . . He tells the truth about so-called "wild" animals, and hunters that go to Africa to get a hatrack for a Forty-fifth street speakeasy . . . The subject of the film is to preserve wild animal life, and the big producing companies are opposed to it . . . Of course! . . . It will make their planned "wild" stuff look silly—and they make heavy money humbugging the public . . . Like some showmen who misquote critics in their blurbs . . . Which reminds me that it's about time the drama defenders had a good fight—with anybody, I mean . . . Someone who will go to the bother to repeat the old argument . . . For, without controversy or the spotlight, the critic becomes dormant and unimportant . . . And all controversy is exciting . . . Not since Congressman Sirovich focused attention on them has there been any to-do, and this is not good for the craft . . . "Merrily Yours," John Rogers, that grand old-timer, who press-agented many stars, reminded us that "when you're not seen and your name isn't in the papers—then you are practically dead!"

The trivia that come up in a day are not unexciting for me . . . That subscriber, frinstance . . . Who complained to the publisher about a sugary paragraph I penned for one who had passed on . . . Imagine being spanked by a reader for tossing a posey at somebody! . . . For writing something nice! . . . Come to think of it, my major headaches came only from writing pleasant things . . . The legend persists that I am always in trouble, or in a court over this or that, which is distant from the facts . . . Never been in court, except once . . . As a witness for a newspaper against a sap who sued for money for a poem that was contributed . . . And my one lawsuit was brought by a pair whom I defended on the microphones . . . It wasn't anything I pinned for a newspaper . . . But they hadn't heard my chatter, and sued for plenty on the ground that if Winchell said anything "it couldn't have been good" . . . And so what happened? . . . So nothing happened! . . . Except that I had to be needlessly annoyed for trying to defend them from a wrong charge printed elsewhere . . . The only sound counsel I ever got from an editor came in this manner . . . I was worried about some complaints that were bunched in a day over an item, and I went to him in a fret, and he comforted me with: "Don't worry . . . I once had to fire a columnist after two years. Because in all that time no one ever sent in a letter of compliment or complaint about his stuff. And I so decided that nobody was reading it!"

Wonder if Roosevelt is up on his Voltaire? . . . Who, after many years of absence, returned to Paris, and the public went wild, and paid him great homage . . . But he kept his head . . . "What crowds greet you!" someone said to him, and Voltaire quipped: "Alas, there would be just as many to see me on the scaffold." . . . That panhandler in the Fifties doesn't suspect what some lads have plotted against him . . . Night after night he has the gall to come around drunk and beg for coins . . . The other night he jingled his pockets, all of them crowded with silver pieces, and he boasted that he does some heavy talking in a day and night to gather them . . . "Then why not pay for the sandwiches you grub from the delicatessen?" he was asked . . . But he snarled and insulted his betters . . . Not one of the cabdrivers in the line in front of the place had one-third his money . . . And so when he comes around again he will be robbed, and his coins given to one of the breadline funds . . . One of the forthcoming revues will make the wait for the initial curtain amusing . . . By offering comical cracks in its program about the cast and the proceedings.

Well, I'm sorry I didn't know that angle of the item—about the coppers who pay $1.25 weekly for the maintenance of a bed they never use . . . It seems that the women who make them up and get the money are widows of policemen, which is among the things to salute the Mulrooneys about . . . But something ought to be done about the movement to lower the wages of the firemen . . . No matter what their wage is, it isn't enough! . . . Let the McKee policy continue. His shaving of unnecessary expenses to the town was plenty all right, but the firemen, whose wage is lower than low, should be spared from that blade . . . There's a concrete example of how thankless it is to be a crusader . . . McKee wasn't in there a month when they greased the pole, and now looka! . . . Honesty pays, but not much, is correct! . . . Good to know that Walker is back, at any rate . . . The town needs a funny quip or two . . . I'd like to hear his comments on those who stranded him when his colors went down . . . And I want to remind him of the time he said: "You'll either be a successful critic and lose your friends—or keep your friends and lose your job! . . . Yes, indeedy . . . Ride the town or the town will ride your.

Bernie Armstrong Sanders M. E.

Dorothy Bushey, singer, and Bernie Armstrong, master of ceremonies, will head the entertainment bill at Sander's Inn, Freeport road, Saturday night. In the floor show also will be Quinn Sisters and Leroy Eggry. There will be two floor shows during the evening. Music will be furnished by a Negro orchestra.

John Barrymore Is His Own Critic

John Barrymore is his own severest critic, it was revealed during the production of RKO Radio Pictures' dramatic film, "A Bill of Divorcement." After seeing several scenes in "rushes," the star asked if he might do them over. He felt he could improve on his own technique.

PICTURE FARE -:- Notes on New Film Features Coming to Screen -:- STAGE OFFERINGS

Laemmle, Jr. Planning to Invade Broadway as Play Producer

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14.

Undismayed by the lethargy of the drama, Carl Laemmle, Jr., plans to invade Broadway this year as a producer of legitimate plays.

For this purpose, he has purchased the stage and screen rights to "A Kiss Before the Mirror," a comedy by Stanislaus Fodor, which is said to have been very well received in Europe.

Carl Laemmle, Jr.

As in other Hollywood projects on Broadway, the young Universal mentor looks towards the ultimate screening of his property. The stage venture—his first—will be in the nature of a try-out. If the play is a hit, it also will save expensive competitive bidding.

The idea, of course, is not a new one. Both Warners and Paramount have been sporadic producers on Broadway.

BOULEVARD TOPICS

New Warner policy will take Ruth Chatterton out of the drawing-room. They are mulling over several stories, one of them about a woman lawyer . . . At same studio, word goes around that Edward G. Robinson's next will have a Wall street background . . . Imagine a dog with an ermine wrap. Lupe Velez, who's wild about furs, has bought one for her little "Nina." The dog weighs two pounds and the wrap seven ounces . . . John McCormick is off on another of his Honolulu voyages. Last time, he got married. With no definite Hollywood ties, the ex-producer plans to take a leisurely trip around the world. . .

After all, Al Jolson managed to tear himself away from Ruby Keeler. The comedian is on his way to New York to discuss details on those 26 weekly radio programs. Report is, Al draws nearly $200,000 from this deal . . . A Glendale preview of "Red Dust" gives first definite idea of public reaction to the Paul Bern tragedy. Jean Harlow was loudly applauded. Which was mighty good news to the unobtrusive, platinum-haired girl in the rear of the theater . . . Burt Kelley is the secret bridegroom of Adrienne Dore. They've been married two months . . . Helene Costello, now a blonde, and Hugh Trevor, Betty Compson's ex-boy friend, are doing plenty of dancing these nights at the Frolics. Smooth pair of dancers, Joan Blondell and George Barnes.

Jean Harlow

Playing the role of "Wing" in "The Son Daughter" will be Ben Bard, one of the nicer people around these parts. No Hollywood event is complete without Ben and Ruth Roland, always together, never looking bored with each other and invariably dressed right up to the minute.

These two know the movies backwards and forwards and they've always kept their heads.

Picture Bills Change

Opening in the Penn today are George Raft, Mae West and Wynne Gibson in "Night After Night," a story of a mysterious house and its occupants.

The Stanley today offers "Life Begins," co-starring Loretta Young and Eric Linden. The entire picture is laid in a maternity hospital. Aline MacMahon also is in the cast.

Harold Lloyd's first picture in two years, "Movie Crazy," begins a week's engagement in the Warner today. Harold plays a movie-struck youth who suddenly finds himself in Hollywood. Constance Cummings heads the supporting cast.

The Davis and Sheridan Square, beginning tomorrow, will offer "Okay America," in which Lew Ayers plays the Walter Winchell type of gossiping reporter. Maureen O'Sullivan, Louis Calhern, Walter Catlett and Allan Dinehart are in the cast.

Polo Her Game

Globe Trotter on Screen

Calvin Coolidge, in Madison Square Garden, as he delivered his first political speech since leaving the White House, is pictured in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News, showing in the Penn, Fulton and other theaters. Spectators are seen and heard as they roar their approval. The Globe Trotter describes the scenes.

William D. Upshaw, candidate for president on the Prohibition ticket, talks not gently but vociferously to the public through Hearst Metrotone News. The former Georgia congressman promises that, if elected, he will pass a law to prevent every member of Congress from drinking.

The struggle for power in Germany between the followers of President Hindenburg and those of Adolf Hitler is pictured in huge demonstrations held in Berlin.

There are exclusive pictures from Russia which show the former royal Peterhof Gardens turned into a public park for the enjoyment of the people of Leningrad.

Magnificent views are shown of cattle and sheep being brought down from the mountains of Colorado to protect them from the winter snows.

Oakie Clown In Fulton

By EDWARD W. GOSS

The folks who write Jack Oakie fan mail may get the laughs they paid for in "Million Dollar Legs," showing in the Fulton. The movie-goers who have no special weakness for Oakie are likely to set "Million Dollar Legs" down as lukewarm.

The picture is the "slappiest" of slapstick comedy. Oakie, a brush salesman, is stranded in a tiny European republic, where boys jump 40 feet without effort and old men run the mile in 10 seconds flat.

The brush salesman meets the president of the country and his daughter. He loves the daughter but her sire doesn't care especially for Oakie. The prexy has worries. The treasury and the proverbial wolf confront one another and something must be done.

Oakie does it. He packs the republic's athletes off to the Olympic Games in California in the hope of winning a big money prize offered the winning team by his former boss—a brush manufacturer. The picture closes amid hectic scenes of the nut Olympics.

Supporting Oakie are W. C. Fields, Andy Clyde, Ben Turpin, Hank Mann, Hugh Herbert, Susan Fleming, Lyda Roberti and Dickie Moore. No member of the cast does a noteworthy performance. Oakie, if given a chance, possibly could cut loose with laughs, but he didn't get the chance.

On the same bill is Rudy Vallee in a short film showing him as the chief surgeon in a hospital which treats suffering humanity with music and crooning.

-:- Plays and Players -:-

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"The Animal Kingdom," Philip Barry play that will be presented by the Edwin Vail Players in the Pitt next week, although serious in theme, is a "comedy" according to that classification that separates drama into three divisions, tragedy, comedy and farce. This play was originally staged here last December by Gilbert Miller as the joint production of himself and Leslie Howard, the latter being its star. Alden Chase will have the Howard role and Shirley Booth and Kathryn Meskyl will be the two women in his life.

* * *

Here is a line on some of the old grads of Tech drama: Neal Caldwell, '22, has just been appointed director of St. Louis Little Theater; Arthur Sprankle, '30, who used to help George Sharp while he was a stude, now playing in "Rendezvous" in New York under name of Arthur Marlowe; Bartlett Robinson, son of Boardman, after one freshman year, last, is stage manager for Lillian Gish in "Camille;" Jack Brainard Daniels, former stude, plays a part and stage-manages in "The Good Earth;" Woodman Thompson, early grad and later an instructor, designed sets for "The Pure in Heart," this week's play in Nixon. Two present students, Maraine Haythorn and William Roose, both of our fair city, spent the summer with Phidelah Rice, as stage manager and actor, respectively. Thomas Wood Stevens, first head of the drama department, is directing "The Anatomist" vehicle for Frank Conroy destined for Broadway.

* * *

Milton Silver, of New York, veteran motion picture publicity man, has come to Pittsburgh to become advertising director for Warner Brothers theaters in this district.

* * *

Geoffrey Wardwell, member of the cast of the Edgar Wallace play, "Criminal At Large," which Guthrie McClintic has just presented in the Belasco, New York, is an Oil City boy . . . Gilbert Miller's first production of the season, "The Late Christopher Bean," due on Broadway October 31 after a Baltimore premiere, will have Pauline Lord, Walter Connolly, Beulah Bondi, Ernest Lawford and Clarence Derwent in the cast . . . Detroit has three resident dramatic companies, one of them Yiddish . . . John Barrymore carries more life insurance than any other actor $2,000,000 . . . Ina Claire is back in the U. S. after a trip abroad . . . "Lilly Turner," which only recently opened on Broadway, and got "good notices," will close Saturday night and will reopen in Cleveland October 24 for a road tour . . . Eugene Leontovich, dancer in the stage "Grand Hotel," has returned to New York after a sojourn in Hollywood.

AMUSEMENTS.

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

BY MARK HELLINGER

In Which a Customer Does the Work

"THESE THREE stories," writes a very smart young lady, "are my contributions to your column. You may use them or not, as you will. They concern three ladies; three old ladies. I'm not signing my name. And I don't want you to mention the postmark.

"Why do I send them to you? That's my business.

"It was Christmas Eve. Late afternoon.

"I had left the office early. The boss was kind. He said, 'Take these envelopes and deliver them by hand. There is a check for one dollar in every one of them. They'll make some poor old souls happy.'

"He had no thought of making me happy. There were 31 envelopes. All of them were in the neighborhood except one. That one was six miles away.

"I had a date at 7. The one and only would meet me at that time. I knew I wouldn't be able to make it.

"When I reached the out-of-town address. It was after 8. I had never been to that section before.

"I walked up to a harness shop. That was the address. I asked for a certain lady. She lived upstairs. Mark, it wasn't fit for human habitation.

"The room was big and square and bare. Wide cracks were in the floor.

"The lady sat in an old rocker by a window. She was about 80.

"'What do you want?' She asked. I said that I had come to give her a check. She wanted to know for how much. I told her a dollar. She cackled.

"After awhile she thawed out a little. She told me her story. The usual thing. Good family. Money. Married the wrong man at the right time. Babies. Love. Happiness. No money. Husband died. Kiddies grew up. Desertion. Alone.

"I felt sorry. So sorry that I went out in the street and came back with the legs of a chicken and the gay end of some stalks of celery sticking out of a bag. She seemed happy then.

"I met the boy-friend promptly at 11. He wouldn't listen. In the end, he walked out.

"I loved that guy . . .

"Well, I became attached to my old baby.

"For two years I helped her. I spent $127 that winter for warm clothes for her alone.

"I didn't have to pay her rent. The harness maker knew she was destitute. She had the room free.

"Towards the end I had to give up lipstick, rouge, you-know-she-wears-'em, and lots of other things. Half the time I went without lunches to help her along.

"I found her dead one morning. I had come with cereal and milk. There she lay on the couch I had bought, with a tin box in her hand.

"That tin box held $6,000 in cold cash. But she died intestate, without heirs. So, in the end, the town held the money and I held the bag." . . .

* * *

"That's the first of the old ladies. Now we come to the second.

"I was standing on the street corner. It was Saturday afternoon.

"Then I saw the old lady. She was standing right in front of me, on the curb. She would look this way and that.

"Finally she started out and kept going. Suddenly I saw the real danger. Fire apparatus!

"In a flash I ran after the woman! Not to be heroic. I didn't even think of that part of it.

"Quickly I grabbed her arm. The engines were close now. And coming like the devil. I rushed her to the other side.

"I smiled at her. She froze me with a glance.

"You young idiot!" she screamed. "You nearly killed me! I'll have you know that I crossed streets long before you were born!"

"And with that she slapped me, and walked off" . . .

* * *

"Here's the third and last of the old ladies. It happened in a train in the Middle West.

"I saw her get up in front of the car. She had snow white hair. And glasses. And a cane.

"She walked the length of the car and stood in front of me.

"'I beg your pardon,' she said. 'Have we reached Vincennes yet?

"I said no, we hadn't reached Vincennes yet.

"She went back to her seat. A few minutes later I saw her hobbling down the aisle again.

"She asked the same question. "'Have we reached Vincennes yet?' I gave the same answer.

"Five times she did that. And five times I said no. Then she stopped coming down the aisle. I sat and read in peace. After a while, I suddenly came to, as the train stopped. We were at Vincennes! I looked up the aisle quickly. The old lady was sitting calm and composed!

"I jumped up and fell over two passengers who were getting out. I barked my shins, but it didn't matter. That old lady must be told, or there's no telling where she'd get off.

"I grabbed her by the arm.

"'We're at Vincennes!' I yelled. She pulled her arm back roughly.

"'Well,' she snapped, 'what of it?'"

POLITICS

Electoral College—
How It Works

By MARK SHIELDS

Despite the long existence of the electoral college system of choosing a President of the United States there exists today much confusion as to just how it works, how the electors are apportioned, how they are chosen, and whether a candidate for the presidency may obtain a minority of the popular vote but a majority of the electoral vote, and thus become President despite the adverse vote of a majority of his fellow citizens.

Mr. Shields

In the early days of the republic popular government was an experiment, and the leaders were hesitant about giving too much direct voice to the people. The electoral college was set up as a means through which their will might be modulated, there being no direct election of a President. Nor is there direct election now, despite several efforts to so amend the Constitution.

* * *

No Direct Election Ever Provided

The original article dealing with this subject in section three arranged that the electors, chosen by the people of each state in a manner to be determined by the state, should ballot for the presidential candidates, the one with the most votes becoming President and the second man becoming vice president. With the growth of party government this system was found unsatisfactory, and in 1804 Article XII, superseding the section of Article II, was ratified by the states. This read that the electors should vote for a President and Vice President, but still there was no direct election.

For example, a Republican elector from Pennsylvania might, if he wished, vote for William Z. Foster. Of course he doesn't, because he is selected by the presidential candidate of his party, and is no more than a rubber stamp. Until this year in presidential campaigns the names of the electors appeared on the ballot, but next month only the names of the presidential candidates will be listed.

* * *

Elector for Each Senator and Congressman

There is one presidential elector for each member of the lower House of Congress and one for each Senator. With 435 congressmen and 96 senators the total of the electoral college is 531. That means that a successful candidate must receive a minimum of 266 votes, a majority.

In Pennsylvania there are 36 electoral votes, the commonwealth having 34 members of Congress and two senators. In recent elections Pennsylvania has had 38 electoral votes, but when Congress was reapportioned following the last census this state's allottment of representatives was reduced by two.

Even so, Pennsylvania still has the second largest representation in the electoral college, being exceeded only by New York.

Can a candidate receive a majority of the popular vote and still lose the election through the division of the electoral vote?

He can, and that has happened

As an example, President Hoover might carry Pennsylvania by only a thousand votes, but he would get the state's electoral vote of 36.

* * *

Popular Vote Winner Not Always Victor

Imagine, for illustration, a division of the popular vote here in which Hoover received 1,000,000, and Roosevelt 99,000. Then in Ohio imagine an opposite condition, even more exaggerated in the use of arbitrary figures, with Roosevelt receiving 1,000,000 and Hoover 90,000. The joint result would be Roosevelt, 1,999,000; Hoover, 1,090,000, a Roosevelt majority in the two states of 909,000.

Yet Ohio has only 24 electoral votes. Those Roosevelt would receive, but Hoover would get the 36 of Pennsylvania. With a popular majority in the two states of 909,000, Roosevelt would trail the President by 12 votes in the electoral college.

These popular vote figures are all arbitrary, all imaginative, taken at random for the purpose of illustration, but the comparison can be carried through all the 48 states.

* * *

Electoral Vote May Be Split

Can the electoral vote of a state be split?

It can and it has been. In states where the electoral college candidates have their names on the ballot, as they formerly did in Pennsylvania, individual voting occurs. There may be in the list of Republicans, for example, some candidate who is intensely disliked by the rank and file of the voters, with the Democrats listing an individual well liked—or vice versa.

No longer ago than 1916 West Virginia, with its then eight electoral votes, cast seven of them for Hughes and one for Wilson.

There are other similar instances, but this will suffice.

Summed up, popular majority does not necessarily insure election. It is the electoral college which decides, though probably in Pennsylvania this year only the members of their families know who these electoral candidates on various tickets are.

FIRED FOR WAR ON RUM RING, SAYS CHIEF

Ex-Sharpsburg Police Official Accuses Politicians

Police Chief Sam Fair, of Sharpsburg, discharged last night by the borough council, today demanded to know why council had ignored an affidavit disclosing a raid on an alleged speakeasy when the proprietor refused to contribute $25 to a political campaign fund.

The ousted chief declared he had been fired:

"Because I wiped out the liquor ring operated by politicians and their friends."

COUNCIL OUSTS FAIR

Council voted to relieve Fair of his job on allegations by Ira Welchle and Josephine Lucas, though those were "not legally proved." The former had charged that Fair had his place raided by federal dry agents when he refused to pay Fair tribute. Mrs. Lucas, a restaurant proprietor, testified to paying Fair money.

Fair said:

"Why didn't Council investigate an affidavit made by Valtine Moscerello, 1104 Main street, Sharpsburg?

"This affidavit states that about November 1, 1931, Moscerello was approached by a borough employe and a minor peace officer, who told him he would have to contribute $25 to a political campaign fund or be closed up.

SHAKEDOWN CHARGES

"Moscerello says he paid $7.50, but that after he refused to pay more his place was raided by County Detective John Carmichael, that he was held for court on a liquor charge by Justice of the Peace Anthony Ferraro and subsequently paroled by court.

"When Detective Carmichael raided the place there was a slot machine in plain view, but it was not molested. Why? Because it had been placed there by a relative of Burgess Dennis Caspar.

"I was fired for breaking up the liquor ring. While I was lieutenant and chief I raided at least 35 places. They say a confiscated still was taken out of the police station. If anyone wants to know where that still went, let them ask me."

GIRL MENACED IN HOLDUP

Two bandits held up Lawrence J. Dinkel in his drug store at 1323 Brownsville road, Carrick, and stole $35 from a cash register and wallet after forcing a girl clerk and a customer into the prescription room last night.

Miss Anna Renne, 20, of 8 Nobles lane, the clerk, and Joseph Hays, of 200 Birmingham avenue, the patron, were driven into the rear room, where Dinkel was compounding a prescription. After taking Dinkel's wallet, one of the bandits rifled the cash register. They escaped in an automobile.

Jewelry valued at $400 and two revolvers worth $50 were stolen yesterday afternoon from the home of C. F. Hilger, Jr., 6025 Hampton street.

Vienna School Head To Address Painters

Ernest Oldenbruch, head of a trade school in Vienna, Austria, will deliver a lecture in the Mayfair Hotel Wednesday night under the auspices of the Master Painters and Decorators Association of Pittsburgh. The address will be in German, with Hans Kronheim, his assistant, translating. Work done at the school will be displayed at the John Dewar & Co. store, 422 Penn avenue, until the night of the lecture.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

LIMA, Oct. 14.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Colombia, Ecuador and Peru today. Lima, Peru, is the oldest city in the western world. It's worth a trip alone. Flew across the equator. The Pan-American Grace line hands you a diploma or certificate proving you have been across the line. An old man at a little Peruvian village where we topped for gas, came up to me and said, "Did you hear Calvin's speech on the radio?" Here I have had a fine radio and never got anything outside of Los Angeles County. Well, the race must be getting hot if they have drafted Calvin. I'll bet Calvin will be all broke up when he hears he wasted his speech on people away down here that can't vote. Yours, WILL.

WILD CARGO :-: Another Thrilling Story of the Jungle by The Author of "Bring 'Em Back Alive" :-: By FRANK BUCK With EDWARD ANTHONY

Luckless Elephant Is Transported to the United States

In yesterday's installment the daredevil author told how "The Patsy," a luckless baby elephant, was captured in Ceylon. Today he tells of the difficulties which had to be overcome to transport this "baby" to the Golden Gate Park, San Francisco.

CHAPTER II.

We finally entrained, a Singhalese boy that I had hired for the trip to Calcutta remaining in the freight car with The Patsy. I rode in one of the passenger coaches forward. (In India, mixed trains—carrying both freight and passenger cars—are quite common.)

The Patsy got an even worse jolting than I had anticipated. Before we had traveled more than a few hours her knees were badly bruised and her sides were sore. It's no fun to be constantly thrown against the walls of a sheet-iron car.

It developed later as we headed into the monsoons that our troubles had hardly begun. These tremendous Indian rains regularly do a terrific amount of damage. As we plowed along through flooded areas I couldn't help wondering how long it would be before we should have to stop. Creeks, ponds and rivers along our route were overflowing, and we were due to be marooned if the storm continued.

HIRES BOATMEN TO MOVE CAGES

The bad news came when we were about five miles outside of the ancient city of Madura, our next important stop. A serious washout had made further travel impossible. The railway officials had already arrived on the scene. Arrangements were made to take passengers to Madura by boats. Nothing could be done about freight. I was told that it would be 12 days before the railway company could undertake to get the elephant and my crates and cages containing birds and small animals to Madura. That meant only one thing: I would have to get them to Madura myself. A 12-day wait would have wrecked my schedule, which involved an early return to America with my present collection and the hundreds of other specimens of all kinds that I had in Calcutta and Singapore.

First I rounded up some of the native boatmen who swarmed around the train with their dugouts (stout native canoes, each dug out of the solid trunk of a tree) and sturdy rafts. I arranged with the more dependable-looking of the raftsmen to carry my bird and animal cages to the point nearest Madura that was reachable in these craft. Then I rounded up a gang of coolies and got them started building a gangplank. I had made up my mind to swim The Patsy across the flooded area—the only thing I could do unless I chose to be stranded with my live freight for almost two weeks—and the gangplank was to be used in walking the elephant out of the car (there being no station platform available).

ELEPHANT IS FORCED TO SWIM

The Patsy, having no doubt read or heard about the dangers of "walking the plank," became very balky for a normally good-natured and responsible young lady. The newness of her surroundings bewildered her and it was a tough job to get her to venture out on the wooden incline, but I finally accomplished my purpose.

At last we had the luckless animal on the ground beside the train. The next move was to drive her into the waters of the flooded area straight ahead. This I achieved after more than an hour of coaxing, prodding and what not, in the course of which I had some anxious moments, for The Patsy was plainly frightened and an elephant is never so full of dangerous possibilities as when in the clutches of fear.

I had hired six of the dugouts, with three boys in each boat, to move along beside the swimming elephant and keep her headed in the right direction. I rode in one of them and directed the operations. We had good luck at the start. For a hundred yards or so The Patsy kept to the course laid down for her. Then the much-harassed lady decided to swim downstream instead of straight across, which, on account of the current we were bucking, was much tougher going. Swimming strongly, she drew away from us, but we finally caught up with her by paddling like fury. We swung her around in the right direc-

3 COMPANIES HAVE MADE NO LEASES

Others Get Space Not Contracted for; Lax Bookkeeping

Three companies are occupying office space at the Allegheny County Municipal Airport for which no lease agreements have been signed; three companies are occupying buildings and space not included in their leases and $735 credit was allowed by the county for a "comparatively negligible" amount of gasoline lost through defective pipes in the $80,000 storage system which is being only partially used by the lessee, it was revealed in an auditor's report to County Controller Robert G. Woodside today.

The report, detailing the installation of an accounting system at the county airport was to be turned over to County Commissioners by the Controller. If followed carefully, the report declares, "this system will provide an accurate accounting of the funds at the airport with a minimum of clerical work."

CHARGES PROTESTED

Total charges of $3,663.41 against Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., operators of coast-to-coast passenger, mail and express service, for use of the field up to September 1 have been protested as incorrect by the company, the auditor's report declares.

The variation between the company's record and the county's is explained through the possibility of an inaccuracy in the matter of reporting properly to county employes the purpose of ship landings. No charge is made for landings classified as ferry flights, ships coming in under this classification without passengers. The report says:

"These errors would not occur if the company representatives properly notified airport employes on duty at the time of landings."

The companies occupying space without leases are declared to be: Trans-continental and Western Air, Inc., Pennsylvania Air Lines, Inc., and Pittsburgh Aviation Industries, Inc. All three companies are affiliated.

NO RENTAL FIXED

Pittsburgh-Butler Airport, Inc., another affiliated concern, which controls the gasoline concession, according to the report, is occupying the oil house, a separate structure near the administration building. This is not included in the lease and no rate has been established for rental, the report states.

Transcontinental and Western Air occupies an office in the hangar building not included in its lease, and no rate has been established, according to the report.

Air Service of Pittsburgh, Inc., also occupies an office in the hangar not included in its lease, the report says.

As to the defect in the gasoline system, the report summarizes this incident:

"By action of the Commissioners, Pittsburgh-Butler Airport, Inc., was given credit of $735 for the value of gasoline lost, with a pro-rata credit for time from May 16 to such date as the gasoline system was turned over in good working order. The gasoline line was tested on May 21 and leaked. It was in good working order on June 15. The company had a truck on the field and sold gasoline as usual while the line was being repaired. Gasoline is still being delivered to the ships by this truck. The loss of gasoline at the time of the test was comparatively negligible."

HANGAR SPACE

Prevailing hangar space rates come in for criticism in the report with the notation of a complaint from Transcontinental and Western Air which operates trimotored transport ships.

The daily rate for storage of a ship of this type, according to the report, is $6, or $115 a month. Contracted airlines are entitled to a reduction on monthly rates of 25 per cent. Transcontinental and Western Air has been billed at daily rates, the report states, because it does not store any ship in the hangar regularly. T. and W. A. contends, according to the report, its daily rate should be figured on the monthly rate, divided by 30, which would be $2.88 a day instead of $6.

The audit, completed as of September 1, was made by A. T. Yahres, an employe of the controller's office.

Injured By Auto, Youth Ends Life

Despondency over injuries suffered in an automobile accident in Braddock last Friday, was blamed by deputy coroners today for the alleged suicide of Michael Andrejco, 18, of Homeville, Mifflin Township.

The youth's body, a bullet through the head and a .38 caliber revolver lying nearby, was found in his home yesterday, according to the coroner's report.

STUDENT FREED IN FATAL ROW

Harry Sheppler, 17, a high school boy, of Glenfield Heights, was freed today in the death of Alan Dods, 30, of Center street, Glen Osborne, in connection with which he was arrested late yesterday.

Dods was found by an autopsy to have died of natural causes.

Sheppler and several other youths were returning home from school in Sewickley when Dods, apparently intoxicated, sought to argue with them, deputy coroners said.

Dods fell as he rushed at Sheppler. When he regained his feet and rushed at Sheppler again he was struck, it was reported. Dods died later at Valley Hospital, Sewickley.

2 TO 4 YEARS FOR KILLER

Clinton Harper, 28, Negro, of Boston, found guilty of manslaughter by a jury of which Mrs. James B. Drew, wife of the Supreme Court justice, was a member, was sentenced to serve from two to four years in the workhouse by Visiting Judge Charles M. Culver today. He was tried on a charge of murder in the death of Alfred Hertzog, 29, Negro, resulting when Harper threw a lighted oil lamp at Hertzog, his clothing catching fire. They had quarreled over a girl, testimony showed.

Cal's Quip About Green-Back Craze Is Extravagant

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Good old Cal Coolidge must have had something in mind when he said the Democrats were green-back crazy.

But how about the Republicans, Cal? Aren't they a little promise drunk and stock dizzy?

We know that every dollar bill represents the same amount of silver in the Treasury. It says so over the picture of George Washington and we can trust George.

To accuse anybody of being green-back crazy these tough days is a very high estimate. We know of eleven million men who will go nuts over a dime.

The wolves are breaking all attendance records in the vestibule. The Republicans have handled all the money for twelve years. There have been a marvelous series of economic aberrations and monetary spasms that make the mad Ophelia look like the goddess of wisdom.

And, green-back crazy or not, the Democrats are going to have a tough time trying to find the money the Republicans claim we have

Claim $44,000 Estate Of 'Penniless' Beggar

John H. Fink, who died August 26, 1930, apparently a penniless beggar in a shack in West View, was disclosed in Orphans' Court today to have left property valued at $44,000.

The state of Pennsylvania was prepared to appropriate the estate, in the absence of any known relatives, when a claim was entered by Attorney Earl Bothwell in behalf of relatives of Fink, said to reside in Bavaria, Germany, where Fink is believed to have been born.

Judge Thomas P. Trimble ordered a hearing scheduled for today postponed, because the papers did not have the seal of the American consul. The papers will be sent back for this seal and possibly an investigator will be sent to determine the validity of the claim.

$50,000 ORDERS AWARDED BY DUNLAP

Distribution of thousands of pairs of shoes for unemployed and needy men, women and children will begin probably today under auspices of the City Department of Welfare, Allegheny County Emergency Association and associated relief agencies.

Contracts to dealers in 17 zones throughout the city were awarded late yesterday by City Supplies Director W. R. Dunlap, and the contracts were signed a short time later by Mayor Charles H. Kline.

DEALERS NAMED

Dealers and their locations, are: Zone 1, Kirby Shoe Store, 400 Market street; Zone 2, Kirby Shoe Company, and James Cohen Company, 1017 Fifth avenue; Zone 3, Benjamin Gordon, 2200 Center avenue; Zone 4, Wagner Brothers, 4313 Butler street; Zone 5, Benjamin Klein, 2218 Fifth avenue, and W. J. Crowley Company, Forbes street; Zone 6, Kirby Shoe Company; Zone 7, John T. Winn, 701 Homewood avenue, and Book's Shoe Store; Zone 8, Nathan Newman, 5446 Second avenue, and Dave's Department store, 4829 Second avenue; Zone 9, Simon Family Store, 2522 Carson street, Benjamin Alpern, 2208 Carson street, and Pittsburgh Mercantile Company, 2600 Carson street; Zone 10, Kirby Shoe Company; Zone 11, Harry G. Wagner, 2626 Brownsville road; Zone 12, Nathan Newman and Dave's Department Store; Zone 13, R. E. Graham, 443 South Main street; Zone 14, Wagner Brothers; Zone 15, Kirby Shoe Company; Zone 16, Joseph Banks, 153 Boggs avenue, and Zone 17, Joseph Banks, 153 Boggs avenue.

LOW BIDDERS

Dunlap said awards were made to the low bidders in every instance. Price ranges in the various zones were $1.25 to $1.85 per pair for men's hightop shoes; $1.40 to $1.80 for men's oxfords; $1.20 to $1.40 for boys' high tops; $1.20 to $1.45 for boys' oxfords; $1.30 to $1.75 for women's shoes; $1.35 to $1.65 for girls' shoes; $1.25 to $1.65 for misses', and 65 cents to 90 cents for children's shoes.

Samples were examined in Dunlap's office by a committee of impartial shoe experts who were not bidders, according to Dunlap.

Shoe orders may be obtained from the various relief agency stations, according to the Allegheny County Emergency Association, after which they will be certified by the association.

The orders are then returned to the relief agencies and given to the needy persons for presentation to the dealer in the zone in which they live. Fittings will be made at the dealers' stores.

Cost of the shoes is estimated at $50,000. The money was provided from an $800,000 bond issue authorized by the voters last April for relief purposes.

Approximately 17,000 pairs of shoes will be distributed, according to Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of the City Welfare Department.

WOMAN HUNTED IN KILLING

MT. VERNON, N. Y., Oct. 14.—(INS.)—With five men under arrest as material witnesses in the slaying of Johnny Grosso, 26, heavyweight boxer, police today hunted for a mystery woman known only as "Irene" in connection with the murder.

The five men held, Capt. Silverstein, of the Detective Bureau, said, all were near the scene of the killing when Grosso was fired on by some one as he walked to his home after attending a dance.

Grosso, a former sparring partner of Gene Tunney and Jack Sharkey, was to have gone on trial on an assault charge next Monday in White Plains.

Store Fire Blocks Downtown Streets

Traffic at Liberty avenue and Stanwix street was halted for a half hour last night while firemen extinguished a blaze in the basement of the Ritter & Morrison shoe store in the Empire Building. The fire, of undetermined origin, destroyed shoes stored in the basement. Deputy Fire Chief Louis Conley estimated the damage at $500.

SANDINO PLANS GREAT BATTLE

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 14.—(INS.)—Augustino Sandino, rebel Nicaraguan chieftain, today planned a general offensive throughout Nicaragua November 5, election day there, according to an announcement made at the Sandinist headquarters in this country.

The announcement said the rebel leader will personally direct an attack on Managua, leading about 23,000 men. The rebels will then make a supreme effort to drive Americans from the country and destroy the Nicaraguan National Guard.

Sandino's representatives in Mexico said they had been informed their chief had set up headquarters 20 miles from Managua.

BROKE, INSISTS MAE MURRAY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Mae Murray, haled to court for failure to pay a judgment of $725, says she has no money nor assets and all real estate she possessed had been assigned for other debts.

The film actress said she was "dependent entirely on my husband for support," although she has several motion picture contracts in view. Her husband is Prince David Mdivani.

The judgment was obtained by Miss J. Marjorie Berger for services in preparing income tax statements.

State Funds Go To School Districts

Allocation of $109,419 of the $1,250,000 relief fund to 33 needy school districts was announced at Harrisburg today.

The allocations for Allegheny County included: Chalfant Borough, current expenses, $1,300; teachers' salaries, Elizabeth Township, $7,700; Glassport Borough, $2,500, and Pitcairn Borough, $8,000; tuition of pupils, Liberty Township, $4,000, and Patton Township, $8,000, and tuition and teachers' salaries, Snowden Township, $3,500.

SET Y. M.-W. H. A. RADIO RALLY

Two radio programs Sunday will precede the inauguration of the $60,000 maintenance campaign fund by the Y. M. and W. H. A. The campaign will open Sunday at 8 p. m. in the association building, Bellefield avenue, with a rally for the workers and the public.

Yesterday the campaign was furthered with a tea in the afternoon for women workers under the direction of Miss Sally Mazer. Last night a preliminary rally was held in the auditorium. Speakers were Edgar J. Kaufmann, chairman of the drive, and Dr. Philip R. Goldstein, director.

At 1 p. m. Sunday, Harry J. Applestein, one of the founders of the Y. M. and W. H. A., will speak over radio station WWSW. At 7:45 p. m. over station WCAE Maurice Falk, Mr. Kaufmann and Rabbi Samuel H. Goldenson, of Rodef Shalom Temple, will speak.

Hundreds of persons are expected to attend the opening of the $60,000 drive Sunday night. Speakers will be Mr. Kaufmann, Mr. Falk, Hyman Rogal, Miss Mazer, Samuel Kaufmann, Leon Falk, Jr., Mr. Applestein and Dr. Goldstein, of the Jewish Welfare Board of New York, director of the drive.

Vocal selections will be given by Miss Suzanne Seiger, accompanied by Mrs. Julia Katz Colomb and Harvey Efimore, who will sing several Jewish folk songs.

JAIL BROTHER OF KREUGER

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 14.—(INS.)—Torsten Kreuger, brother of the late Ivar, finance "czar" who committed suicide in Paris, was in police custody here today.

The chief of police declared he was arrested, following disclosures of bookkeeping practices of the Hoegbroforsen Company, which he controlled and which went bankrupt after his brother's death.

Caricaturist Conrado Walter Massaguer, who did a series of caricatures of famous Washingtonians, including former President Coolidge, who "liked the way he did my nose," has a prominent place on the program.

Louis L. Kaufmann, the Globe Trotter; George Seibel, dramatic critic and book reviewer; Quin Hall, cartoonist, and Paul Bower, staff artist, and William Black of Tarentum, the perfect "Popeye," are appearing in a Hearst Metrotone Newsreel and a motion picture, "The Making of a Newspaper" also will be shown.

Tomorrow McCreery's store will be luncheon host to the Brown Boys Band of Oakland, Md. The Somerset String Band will be luncheon guest of Boggs & Buhl and will offer an afternoon concert. Style shows are being presented for tableland visitors at Frank & Seder, Rosenbaum's and Boggs & Buhl, while Joseph Horne Company is staging a daily cooking school. Tableland folks will be guests tonight of the Chamber of Commerce at a banquet.

GUEST BARRED, BREAKS ANKLE

Raymond Landman, 26, and Mrs. Helen Landman, an attractive blonde who said she was the man's common-law wife, were released on their own recognizance today after a hearing in connection with injuries suffered by an acquaintance who had been denied admittance to their home at 840 Lovett way, North Side.

The injured man, William Einhouse, 50, of 3004 Petrosky street, is in Allegheny General Hospital with a fractured ankle. A disorderly conduct charge was lodged against him, as well as against the Landmans. The latter will be given a further hearing when Einhouse leaves the hospital.

The Landmans testified before Magistrate Raymond E. Schneider in North Side Police Court that Einhouse pounded upon their door early today and was ordered away. He smashed through the door, they said, and later they found him injured in the hallway. Police said Einhouse admitted breaking into the house, and said ht was hurt in a struggle.

Ex-Postmaster Fined Amount of Theft

Harry Bress, former postmaster at Willock, was fined $309.68 by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, when he pleaded guilty of embezzling $309.68 in postal funds. The court was told Bress had made restitution.

Postal Inspector J. P. Nolan said Bress attempted to conceal the shortage by depositing in a Carrick bank a bogus check for $602.50, and having the deposit slip pre-dated.

Pupil's Prank Balks Talk by Fireman

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 14.—Observing National Fire Prevention Week, a local fire fighter was sent to address school children at Rogersville. He admonished the pupils:

"Always keep cool and obey your superiors in case of fire—"

At that point some joker touched the fire-alarm and the children filed out of the room, leaving the speaker to address empty seats.

Banker, Pittsburgh Native, Dies in West

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Cyrus K. Clarke, La Porte (Tex.) banker and son of the late Episcopal Bishop Calvin Kingsley Clarke, of Cincinnati, died of a heart attack yesterday at his home on San Jacinto Bay. Clarke, native of Pittsburgh, was president of the La Porte First National Bank.

Freed in Hearing

MRS. HELEN LANDMAN

Mrs. Landman, 30, who with her husband, Raymond, 26, 840 Lovett way, was freed in the hearing at which she's pictured in North Side Police Court. They were the first arrested on the North Side in 25 hours. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

PRIZE-WINNING QUILT IN THE EXHIBITION OF THE PRODUCTS OF TABLELAND COUNTRY

MISS BLANCHE GLEEN . . . . . THAT QUILT IS MADE OF 1,000 MULTI-COLORED PIECES

Miss Glenn, pictured with a quilt, valued at $100, exhibited in the collection of products of the Allegheny Tableland counties in Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia counties.

SNUBS NOTHING NEW TO HEADS OF COUNTY

Officials of Forest Hills Borough were slighted at the ceremonies in connection with the opening of the Westinghouse Memorial Bridge a few weeks ago. They passed a resolution at the borough council meeting which said they "were not accorded the usual courtesies and relegated to the background."

When the letter was read at a meeting of the County Commissioners last night it evoked remarks from each of the three members of the board.

Commissioner Charles C. McGovern said:

"We were lucky to get there ourselves. They put me on to speak, but not on the radio program. The only good thing about it was that it didn't cost the county a cent."

Commissioner William D. Mansfield said:

"It is nothing new to be slighted. They never mentioned Commissioner Barr or me. But I was not surprised. I had a road put on the state highway program once and was not invited to its opening."

Commissioner C. M. Barr recollected that during his term in the State Senate he was also given the cold shoulder. He said:

"I helped put through the Turtle Creek Bridge and they didn't even let me know when it was to be dedicated."

The commissioners appointed Mansfield a committee of one to answer the resolution by letter.

FREED WOMAN HELD IN THEFT

Released from jail yesterday on habeas corpus proceedings, Mary Jarvis, 65, no home, was held for court, charged with larceny, by Magistrate Ray E. Schneider, in North Side Police Court, today.

For 15 years, according to police records, the aged woman has been arrested at intervals, charged with petty thievery. She would ask for a dress or coat, saying she would do washing or sewing in return, then would steal contents of purses, police said.

Today Mrs. Ann McAfee, 10 Pernod street, testified that the defendant took her purse, containing 34 and two diamond rings, valued at $100, last April, and left the empty pocketbook in a neighbor's home.

She had been sentenced 30 days to jail October 6, but was released yesterday by court order when it was held she could not be detained on a suspicious person charge.

JAPS URGE U. S. PRIESTS FLEE

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Japanese headquarters here announced today that airplanes had dropped leaflets printed in English over a number of points in the area west of Mukden, where an offensive against Chinese insurgents is under way, warning all foreigners to withdraw or concentrate in one city.

It was estimated the area contains 20 foreigners, including eight American Catholic missionaries from Ossining, N. Y.

The Japanese said the drive against the insurgents was proceeding according to schedule.

Y. M. C. A. Campaign At Halfway Point

The membership campaign of the Downtown, Allegheny, Hilltop and Center avenue branches of the Y. M. C. A. reached the halfway mark today. Team captains will report tonight at dinners at each of the branches. The campaign will close Tuesday, by which time the workers are confident of reaching the goal of 1,850 new members.

East Liberty Haircut Price Set at 50 Cents

Effective October 24, haircuts in union barber shops of East Liberty will be 50 cents, the Master Barbers' Association of East Liberty decided last night. The price in the district now ranges from 35 to 50 cents.

How to Hold Your Husband! Judges and Actress Tell You

Praise, No Nagging Declared Vital To Domestic Bliss

How to keep your husband depends mostly on understanding him . . . not nagging him . . . living on what he makes and, occasionally applauding him.

Two judges and a veteran actor's wife subscribe to that philosophy. It's stronger, in the case of the actress, because she's an actress who has been living and working with her husband every day for 21 years—excepting two weeks.

Both judges, Sara Soffel and M. A. Musmanno, got their ideas from the bench where they watch the parade of men and women and children whose woes are due to broken marriages.

The actress is Ella Ethridge, character woman of the Vail players, at the Pitt Theater.

JUDGE SOFFEL'S VIEW

Says Judge Soffel, who sits in Juvenile Court:

"Broken marriages date back to the days before marriage. The man or woman is unprepared. She has had no education in what her duties and obligations are.

"There is little real training for marriage. If a wife would keep her husband, she should be sympathetic, understand him, be courteous, and live within his income."

Judge Musmanno presides in Non-Support Court. He sees marriage from its ideal viewpoint, and says:

"I can only presume to discuss marriage from my experience on the bench this summer. But I would say that the important thing is for the wife to keep before her husband the picture of the man he wants or wanted to be.

"Every man has an ideal. It may be forgotten. In the buffeting, he may blame his lost goal on his wife, in fact, blame her for everything, although his wife is not at fault.

"The husband may be most at fault. He drops his cloak of romance after the first few months of marriage. He becomes materialistic. He allows his wife to do the acting, planning, sacrificing.

"To save herself, the wife must encourage her husband and occasionally praise him in his efforts to bring back the forgotten deal."

JUDGE SARA SOFFEL . . . OBSERVES HOW TO KEEP HUSBAND

American Weekly To Give More Facts Next Sunday

Ella Ethridge is Mrs. Sam Flint; and Sam Flint is character man these many years in many companies. Ella Flint has been character woman these 21 years with him. When her father died, she left him for two weeks.

ACTRESS' EXPERIENCE

Every day since they married but these they have worked, eaten, shopped, studied and lived together.

"Miss" Ethridge said:

"I would say to the woman who would keep her husband, to understand him; make it a rule to hold your temper when he loses his, and get him to do the same for you.

"We are considered a novel pair in the theater, exceptional, not quite normal. But it's easily understandable — we enjoy each other's company, we never bore each other. I get a thrill out of going to dinner with him, driving with him, laughing with him. We like the same things.

SCORN BIG OFFERS

"Sam has had big offers to play alone. One with John Golden. I have had big offers to play alone, once with Lenore Ulric. We both turned them down. They would have separated us. We go along playing character woman and character man—others in the casts at first say our happiness is keener. Then when the season is through, they begin to marvel.

"But it isn't anything marvelous. We like each other.

"Understand your husband, and you'll like him."

Other ways to help you hold your husband will be told in the American Magazine of the Sunday Sun-Telegraph. You'll want to read them next Sunday.

There's going to be a debutante season after all! And aren't we all delighted? For a time it looked as though the little debs of 1932 would have no parties at which they could make their formal bow to the grown-up society world.

But now they are following the lead of courageous Mrs. John Crossan Dilworth, who, oblivious of the fear-of-entertaining complex, which has attacked so many fashionables this winter, has announced her intention of carrying out her plans for her daughter, Mary Thaw Dilworth.

Debbies Rejoice

And everyone's rejoicing, from the debbies, to caterers and florists and decorators and costume furnishers, and I might add, society writers.

Another debut date taken is Tuesday, November 8, when Elizabeth Bredin Shaw, the Hugh Campbell Shaws' daughter, will be presented at a luncheon in the Twentieth Century Club.

And yesterday I told you that the Henry Vaughan Blaxters would present their daughter Dorothy at a tea in the Pittsburgh Golf Club November 2.

* * *

November is going to have weddings as well as debuts. Katherine Elizabeth Stewart, a Butler girl, the daughter of the George Cope Stewarts, has named November 18 as the date of her marriage to Porter Sawyer Kier, Jr., son of Mrs. Porter S. Kier, of Darlington road, and the late Mr. Kier.

To Marry On Nov. 18

The wedding's to be a small one in the Stewart home. And after their wedding trip, Mr. Kier and his bride will live in the Kier home.

* * *

One of Pittsburgh's daughters is visiting her old home, Mrs. Stanley Logan Yonce, Lake Forest, Ill., who's the guest of her mother, Mrs. Samuel McClay, of Devon road. Her son, Samuel McClay Yonce and her daughter, Mary Martha Yonce, are with her. Of course, many informal entertainments are being given for the visitor.

The Howard G. Stewarts and their daughter, Marjorie Catherine Stewart, will leave tomorrow for the Greenbrier Military Academy at Lewisburg, W. Va., to visit two sons of the family, Howard and Evan Stewart.

Welfare Conference Of Junior League To Hear Mrs. Geer

Mrs. Danforth Geer, Jr., of Short Hills, N. J., will be one of the principal speakers at the dinner which is to mark the opening of the first conference on welfare to be held by the Association of Junior Leagues of America on Monday evening, October 17, in Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Geer, who was Miss Ellen Windom Warren, of Boston, has been active in the projects of the Junior League for 15 years and was appointed chairman of the welfare department of the association when it was organized at the Cincinnati convention in 1931. She is particularly interested in the education of volunteer social workers recruited from the ranks of Junior Leaguers and courses in welfare work for provisional members. She received her practical training along these lines at the School of Social Service of Simmons College in Boston.

Owing to her duties as head of the Buxton Country Day School in Short Hills, she is relinquishing the chairmanship of the welfare department. Miss Evelyn Davis, a member of the Junior League of Minneapolis and assistant director of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing, has been appointed to succeed her.

In response to the increasing number of requests from leagues for advice in planning relief and social service programs, Miss Lettie Witherspoon, daughter of Mrs. Robert S. Witherspoon, of Louisville, Ky., has been added to the staff of the association to help Miss Dorothy Stebbins in giving field service.

Fight for More School Board Women Urged

PHILADELPHIA, Oct 14.—(AP.)—The State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, in annual convention here, yesterday considered a suggestion that women work for equal representation with men on boards of education, turned its attention to child welfare and citizenship problems, and listened to discussions on international relations.

The call for more women on school boards came from Judge Raymond MacNeille, of Philadelphia, who specifically criticized the Philadelphia board's membership ratio of 14 men to one woman.

Previously the delegates had heard Franklin Spencer Edmonds, sponsor of the Edmonds act governing school salaries in Pennsylvania, defend the law and recommend a two-year moratorium on statutory salary increase. He opposed any general revision of the salary schedules, however.

A long program of conferences, business sessions, luncheons and dinners occupied the delegates yesterday. The dinner last night was followed by a Washington pageant at which the principal speaker was Edwin S. Parry, a descendant of Betsy Ross.

One-Act Play Subject For Drama Institute Discussion Nov. 1

"Meeting and Overcoming Obstacles in the One-Act Play" is one of the subjects to be discussed at the drama institute which will be held November 1 under auspices of the Pittsburgh Drama League. The speaker will be Dr. Clinton E. Lloyd, who has been dean of the School of Theater Arts and Dramatic Literature at Duquesne University since 1912. He will suggest various standards to be kept in mind when selecting a one-act play, and will read a one-act play of his own composition. The institute is intended to be of practical value to those who are studying or producing plays.

science's latest contribution dispels a thousand fears!

No longer need you fear the danger of serious sickness due to infection from rough, harsh, impure, acid-laden toilet paper.

All over America . . mothers are thankful beyond words for this great gift of science.

For here at last is a bathroom tissue that forever dispels the haunting fears of serious sickness, due to infection from harsh, impure, acid-laden toilet paper.

Seminole is science's answer to the demand for a tissue so hygienically safe that it is recommended for even the most tender body . . . baby's.

The first thing you'll like about Seminole is its greater softness . . . "cotton soft", like a puff of downy cotton. Next it is far more absorbent . . . and that's decidedly important to positive cleanliness. And next, Seminole is absolutely pure . . . as sterile as science can make it . . . safe for every purpose . . . a boon to sensitive bodies.

1000 Sheet Rolls (Not 650)

Seminole tissue costs less, too . . . three big, fully wrapped "cotton soft" rolls for 25c. 1000 sheet rolls, not the usual 650.

RED VELVET SETS VOGUE IN EVENING WRAPS FOR SEASON

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Red velvet seems to be the current favorite among Paris women, for evening wraps. A ticker at the entrance of any Paris theater would list fully 50 per cent of the feminine audience wearing red velvet, with or without fur. It is worn with frocks of all colors, but is seen more often with those of white, black and pink than with any others.

* * *

RED-AND-PINK is, incidentally, a popular evening combination in Paris right now. Baby pink, coral pink, salmon pink and chalk pink are prominent for evening dresses of heavy crinkly crepe, of velvet, of wool and of velvet. Schiaparelli, Chantal, Lyolene and Worth all show pink evening dresses with red accents of some sort.

* * *

TODAY'S SKETCHES show two evening wraps that are frequently seen about Paris—both of them done often in red velvet. Sometimes the velvet is of the lustrous, transparent silky type; other times it is the dull Bagheera velvet which looks like duvetyn.

* * *

THE FULL-LENGTH coat, from Mirande, follows the new single-breasted line and fastens at the front with three buttons of strass. There is a simple roll collar, raglan shoulders and big puff sleeves which may be worn pushed up above the elbows or gathered just above the wrists.

* * *

THE LELONG coat, not quite full-length, has a sash which wraps the coat closely around the figure at the waistline, and a scarf which holds the neckline close at the throat. The wide sleeves each end in three bands of pale beige fox.

Oysters Healthy and Easily Digested Food

In the raw state they are almost self-digesting. When cooked, more time is required.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator From New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

It is the season now when oysters are in the market. The months with names including the letter "R" are said to be oyster months. With the advent of September, the season is open and will run until May of 1933.

The oyster is a democratic food. It is eaten in the homes of the rich and in the lowest-priced restaurants or "oyster houses." It appeals to every palate.

The commercial canners have made it available everywhere and, indeed, in every season. Improved methods of refrigeration send it far from the seacoast.

There are big oysters and little ones, oysters served in the shell, or made into stews. There are gray oysters and green ones, fat oysters and lean ones. But no matter what their size or color, they are a wholesome, delicious and desirable food if they come from pure waters and are not contaminated in transit.

OYSTERS SOWN

So popular has the oyster become that it would long since have been included among the extinct animals if means of culture had not been devised. The ground for their growth is prepared and they are sown as wheat and corn are planted. "Seed oysters" are strewn on the waters and settle to the prepared soil, which has been made ready for their reception.

In France and Holland, the oysters are bred on tiles, laid in rows along the ocean shore. When they are big enough to move, they are transplanted to deeper waters. Here they thrive and grow until ready to be dredged for the market.

In our country they are sown where they are to be left until big enough to eat. This takes about three years. Soil, temperature of the waters and other factors influence the rapidity of growth.

To make sure of their quality, it is the practice of some growers to shift the oysters to waters of known purity. Here for a few days they bathe in clear, clean fluid and all the mud and other undesirable elements disappear.

EASILY DIGESTED

The oyster is a clean animal and given half a chance will be pure as can be. One oyster will take through its shell and gills 100 gallons of water in 24 hours. If this is clean water, you can see that the oyster will be thoroughly purified.

Oysters are readily digested. In the raw state, particularly, they are almost self-digesting. When cooked, more time is required.

The age and size of the oyster make no difference. They are just as tender and digestible when old and big as are the young and tiny oysters.

The muscular or hard part of the oyster is less digestible than the soft part. For invalids it may be well to omit eating this.

When oysters are properly guarded there is no danger from their use. The rare instances where typhoid fever has resulted from eating them has been due to the fact that they come from contaminated waters or are handled by contaminated persons. With proper modern supervision there need be no such accidents.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

Sunday suppers are again among the most popular forms of offering informal home hospitality. You must graduate from the long-familiar Welsh rarebit for a Sunday supper dish unless you wish to acknowledge the influence of the Gibson girl days. It was then the rarebit took its place on the American table.

Some present-day home-makers whose homes may even have been founded upon those Sunday suppers will welcome a new way to prepare the cheese favorite. We will call it red rarebit for variety.

Daughters of today might take a leaf from grandmother's diary and serve culinary achievements of their own for the Sunday callers. It is in times like these that the home-making skills score highest among accomplishments of prospective home-makers.

* * *

RED RAREBIT—½ pound grated cheese, ½ teaspoon salt, cayenne, 1 can tomato soup, toasted crackers.

Melt cheese in a saucepan over a slow fire. Add salt, cayenne and tomato soup. Stir until well mixed and heat thoroughly. Serve on toasted crackers or crisp toast.

* * *

MIX ALL the dry ingredients for these biscuits and surprise the Sunday supper party by the lightning-like way in which you produce your piping hot scones.

* * *

SCOTCH SCONES—2 cups flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 4 tablespoons butter, ⅓ cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 eggs.

Mix and sift flour, salt, baking powder and 1 tablespoon sugar. Cut in shortening with a knife or rub it in with the fingers. Add the beaten eggs. Add milk or cream and mix to a soft dough. Roll out on a slight floured board to ½-inch thickness and cut with small biscuit cutter. Brush with white of egg and sprinkle with remaining tablespoons of sugar. Bake in quick oven 10 to 15 minutes.

* * *

CREAMED CHICKEN—1 quart diced chicken, 6 mushrooms, 2 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons butter or chicken fat, ½ cup flour, 3 cups milk, 2 cups chicken broth, salt and pepper.

Cut chicken into ⅛ inch dice. Wash, peel and slice mushrooms. Saute in 2 tablespoons butter about 5 minutes. Prepare a white sauce of the 4 tablespoons butter, the flour, milk, broth, salt and pepper. More salt may be needed if chicken is not well salted. Add chicken and mushrooms and heat thoroughly in top of double boiler. Serve at once. Yield: 12 servings.

* * *

CRANBERRY SAUCE ROLL—3 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 3 tablespoons cold water, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup flour, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Beat eggs and sugar till quite thick; add water; then flour, salt and baking powder, sifted together twice. Line a shallow pan with greased paper; pour the batter evenly; and bake in a quick oven about 12 minutes. Turn out onto a cloth or paper sprinkled with sugar; tear off the paper and spread with warm cranberry sauce or warm strained cranberry sauce or cranberry jelly. Roll up quickly and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

* * *

There will be but few more days ly placed and plainly marked. If you have no dark closet you might wrap the canned fruit in colored

What a dish for hearty appetites!

Glowing in its rich gold and scarlet coloring. Inviting with its luscious sauce—piquant cheese, sun-ripened tomatoes, zestful seasoning that are blended according to a favorite old Italian recipe. But famous chefs add the distinction of flavor that lifts Franco-American Spaghetti above any you have ever tasted.

How delicious! How nourishing! How satisfying! And so convenient—all ready for you to serve.

You'll delight in the economy of Franco-American Spaghetti, too! It costs but 9c a can. Have a supply always handy!

* * *

GREEN TOMATO PRESERVES—5 quarts green tomatoes, 5 lemons, 10 cups sugar.

Wash and slice the tomatoes before measuring. Slice the lemons very thin. In a bowl place the tomatoes, lemons and sugar in layers. Let stand overnight. In the morning cook slowly until the tomato is tender and the mixture thickened. The time required will be about two hours. This recipe will fill 10 half-pint jars.

* * *

ROAST TOMATOES FOR BREAKFAST—Medium-sized tomatoes, onion or chopped parsley, butter or oil, salt and pepper, rounds of buttered toast.

Use one tomato for each person to be served, remove the skin, cut a piece off the top and scoop out a little of the pulp. Put a small piece of butter or a few drops salad oil in each one, sprinkle with salt and pepper and then fill with minced onion or parsley and part of the tomato pulp that was removed or a chopped egg yolk. Place each of these tomatoes on a round of buttered toasted bread in a baking pan and bake 15 minutes or so. Serve hot.

* * *

PEACH BATTER PUDDING—Several peaches, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder.

Pare the peaches and halve. Crack part of the stones and then blanch and chop the kernels. Place the peaches in a baking dish with cavities up. Fill these with the chopped kernels, sugar and a very little cinnamon. Make a batter of the other ingredients and pour over the peaches in the dish. Bake in rather a quick oven for about 30 minutes. Serve with a peach sauce or with cream.

* * *

SHRIMP AND MACARONI SALAD—2 cups cooked macaroni, 1 can shrimps, 1 cup diced celery or cucumber, 2 tablespoons chopped pickle, ¼ cup sliced stuffed olives, ⅓ cup French dressing, salad dressing or mayonnaise.

Break the macaroni into pieces about an inch long before cooking, or use elbow macaroni. Add to the macaroni the shrimps cut in pieces, the celery or cucumber, pickle and olives.

* * *

SALAD DRESSING—2 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, 5 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ cup vinegar, 3 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ cup water, ½ cup whipped cream.

Beat eggs. Add dry ingredients. Add vinegar, lemon juice and water. Cook in double boiler until dressing thickens.

* * *

COCOANUT BUTTER CRISPS—3 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup shortening, 2 cups brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ lb. package shredded cocoanut.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter; stir in sugar gradually, then beaten eggs and vanilla. Mix thoroughly; stir in cocoanut and sifted dry ingredients. Press dough into a butter carton open at one end or shape into rolls about two inches in diameter. Chill for at least three hours. Cut into ⅛ inch slices with a sharp knife. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 to 400 degree F.) for 10 to 12 minutes. 48 cookies.

* * *

ORANGE BLOSSOM SOUFFLE—4 tablespoons butter, 5 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 3 eggs, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1-3 cup sugar, 3 tablespoon orange juice, grated rind ½ orange, ½ package shredded cocoanut.

Melt butter, add flour and salt. Mix thoroughly. Add milk slowly, stirring while adding. Cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Cool. Then add beaten egg yolks, sugar, fruit juices, orange rind, and the 2-3 cup of cocoanut. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a well greased baking dish. Place dish, uncovered, in a pan which contains about one inch of hot water. Bake for one hour in a moderate oven (325 degree F.). Serves 6 to 8.

* * *

RUBY BANANAS—1 7-ounce can cranberry sauce, 4 to 6 bananas, 2 tablespoons lemon juice or water.

Beat the sauce with a fork until smooth; stir in lemon juice or water. Peel bananas and arrange on a buttered oven-glass baking dish. Cover with sauce. Bake in a moderate over (375 degrees F.) for 15 minutes or until the bananas are tender. Serve as an accompaniment to broiled meat or chicken, as a festive touch to the meal. Four to six servings.

* * *

COCOANUT STRIPS—Slice bread ¾-inch thick, remove crusts, and cut in finger-lengths. Dip first in sweetened condensed milk, then in shredded cocoanut. Drain and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 3 minutes, or until light brown.

* * *

BELOW ZERO CHEESE SALAD—1 package (3-oz.) cream cheese, ¼ cup mayonnaise, ¼ package pasteurized dates, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ cup crushed pineapple, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, ½ cup cream, whipped.

Mash cheese with a wooden spoon; stir in mayonnaise; mix until smooth. Add the ½ cup of chopped dates, pineapple, salt and lemon juice. Fold in whipped cream. Freeze in trays of mechanical refrigerator or in ice and salt for about four hours. Serve on lettuce with cream mayonnaise. Serves six. Whipped evaporated milk may be substituted for the cream.

* * *

BAVAROE DE FRANCAISE—1 pint whipped cream, yolks of 4 eggs beaten with sugar, whites of the eggs beaten to a meringue, ½ pack gelatine, maraschino.

Mix the whole and serve cold in molds.

* * *

FRENCH POTATO PUDDING—Boil 2 pounds potatoes for ½ hour. Strain and mash with 3 eggs, 2 tablespoons chicken fat, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 tablespoon salt and a teaspoon pepper.

Mix well, place in baking pan and bake for about half an hour until well browned. Cut into square portions and serve with all meat dishes. For vegetarian dishes, butter is used instead of fat.

* * *

DRESDEN CREAM—1 cup bread crumbs, made from stale bread, 1 cup grated bitter chocolate, 1 tablespoon sugar, pinch salt.

Heat these ingredients in the oven until the chocolate melts over the crumbs. Cool, serve in sherbet cups topped with whipped cream which has been beaten with sugar and a teaspoonful of vanilla.

* * *

GRAPE PUDDING—2 pounds Concord grapes, 1 cup granulated sugar, water to cover, and cornstarch.

Pick over and wash grapes, barely cover with cold water and let cook until the juice flows freely. Put through a fine sieve and press out all juice. To a pint of juice use 2 heaping tablespoons of cornstarch dissolved in a little cold water.

Have it boiling briskly, add sugar and cornstarch, cook for 15 minutes, stirring constantly, then pour into individual molds.

When cool, turn out and serve either plain or with whipped cream.

* * *

VIENNA LIEBLING SUPPE—Melt 1 tablespoon butter with 1 tablespoon flour, stirring until browned. Add same quantity each parsley and lemon peel, and a half cup of mushrooms, all finely chopped. Stir into stock, serving with balls as follows:

Soak 1 cup bread crumbs in enough water to cover. Beat 1 egg, add a tablespoon melted butter, a little chopped parsley and salt. Press water from bread, mix with other ingredients, and enough stale bread to form into balls. Cook in soup as above, and serve.

* * *

FONDANT FILLING—Knead fondant until soft. Add desired color, chopped candied cherries, chopped nuts or cocoanut. Press into fruit halves.

* * *

TAFFY APPLES—1 cup sugar, 1 cup brown sugar, ½ cup water, ½ cup vinegar.

Stir the ingredients together and cook the mixture to 290 degrees or until it cracks in cold water when pressed between the fingers. Insert a small stick or skewer into the core of the apple. Dip the apples into the syrup until they are coated.

* * *

MOCHA MARLOW—10 marshmallows, 1 square chocolate, 1 cup strong coffee, 2 cups milk, pinch of salt.

Melt chocolate in double boiler with marshmallows, add coffee, milk and salt. Let stand over hot water. Beat frothy and serve very hot.

* * *

FRUIT CANAPE—Place a slice of pineapple on individual serving plate. Arrange alternate segments of orange and canned grapefruit on the pineapple. In the center place a whole pasteurized date which has been pitted and stuffed with cheese. Dot with mayonnaise if you like.

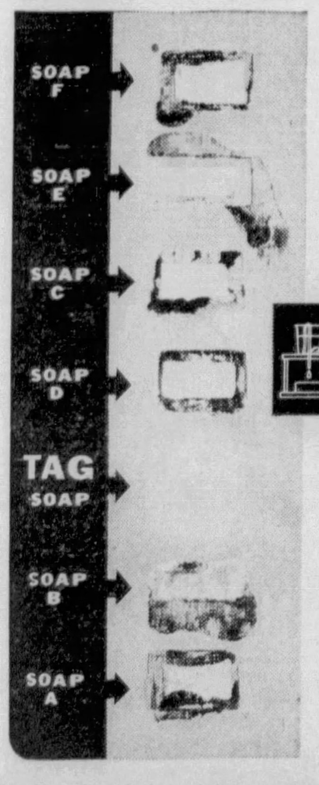
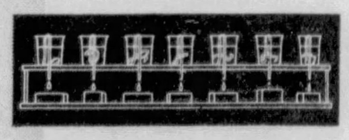
LABORATORY TEST PROVED
6 OUT OF 7 TOOK OFF PAINT



Trust the testing laboratory to tell the truth about soaps! Imagine . . . six out of seven popular brands—in a recent test—ate through a triple coat of paint and enamel! The seventh soap—TAG—did not.

Don't let harsh, caustic soaps ruin your precious things; wear out your clothes long before their time. Play safe with TAG. It's all soap—made only of pure soap ingredients. No filler, bleaches, chemicals or naphtha—nothing to injure the daintiest fabrics or most sensitive hands. And it goes twice as far.

You'll find TAG Soap at all good grocers. Get several bars today and see how much longer your clothes will last.



READ THIS REPORT OF THE PITTSBURGH TESTING LABORATORY

Six well known, nationally advertised bar soaps and a bar of "TAG" Soap were used. A board was prepared with one coat of white flat paint and two coats of high-grade white enamel.

The test consisted of placing the soaps on the painted surface and keeping the bars wet continuously by means of a wick drip. After 18 hours the soaps were removed and the surface of the board washed clean. All six soaps tested in comparison with "TAG" removed the paint more or less completely. The bar of "TAG" Soap, although showing some effect on the paint, did not cut through to the wood at any point.

ARMS EQUALITY PLEA LEFT TO 4 POWERS

LONDON, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Great Britain and France have agreed to hold a four-power emergency disarmament conference at Geneva, it was announced today at the conclusion of a conference between Prime Minister MacDonald and Premier Herriot.

Italy already has accepted an invitation to participate, but thus far Germany has not agreed to holding the meeting at Geneva.

Germany's attitude indicates another deadlock, but her objections were described at No. 10 Downing street as "temporary."

This special conference would deal with Germany's demand for arms equality and would attempt to get her back into the world disarmament conference from which she retired when the other powers declined to concede her equality claim.

The proposed meeting will have an "unofficial and preliminary character," the announcement said.

YOUTHS FREED IN TAMPERING

Tony Pope, 21, of 50 McClain street, and Robert Wagner, 21, of Lillian street, were discharged in Central Police Court today by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg.

The pair had been arrested on complaint of E. J. Lang, proprietor of a service station at 1100 West Carson street, early yesterday. Lang testified he found Pope tampering with his car. Wagner, it was testified, heard a disturbance and came to find Pope.

Pope told Magistrate Rothenberg he was alongside Lang's car, but had no intention of tampering with it.

WOMAN'S CRASH ENDS 2D LIFE

Injuries suffered October 1, when he was crushed by an automobile, today caused the death of A. J. Emmerich, 82, at his home, 1150 Brownsville avenue, according to a coroner's report.

Emmerich was injured when Miss Helen G. McGowan, 35, of 443 Carl street, lost control of her car. Peter Palinski, 14, of 1721 Leolyn street, was killed, and John Kintzer, 10, of 328 Riota street, newsboy, was injured at the same time.

Miss McGowan was driving on a learner's permit. Her car crushed Emmerich against his apartment building.

Pershing Named In $50,000 Suit

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(Universal)—Gen. John J. Pershing and other directors of the American Legion War Memorial in Paris were named defendants in a $50,000 damage suit brought in Supreme Court.

The suit follows abandonment of an international contract bridge tournament to raise funds. Gerard Schaffer and Egon A. Tropp, originators, alleged they were told that if they paid $5,000 to "certain officials," the tournament would be arranged and all Legion posts would be pledged to raise funds.

Youth Found Guilty Of Killing Girl, 17

DENVER, Oct. 14.—(INS.)—Joseph A. Hayes, 22, descendant of a pioneer Colorado family, was found guilty of murder today for the slaying of his sweetheart, Alta Lee Armstrong, 17-year-old Rocky Ford high school girl. The penalty was fixed at life imprisonment.

Hayes shot and killed the girl after she repeatedly refused to marry him, although they had been "keeping company" for many months.

TELL IT TO SALLY

Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day

By SALLY MARTIN

Is It Fair to Take Orphans Into Fatherless Family?

Is it okay for a bachelor gal to adopt a kid?

One wanted to know a while ago. There were two that she longed to take into her arms and her home, and, financially, there was no reason why she shouldn't do it. She had a good job. She was wrong. She felt that she could give them everything that they would have in any good home, and she never expected to have any of her own because a husband, according to her, was just one of those things that a wise gal avoids.

We didn't especially take to the idea, although we admitted it could be done, so we told her she'd better wait—that, even if she didn't think so, Mister Right would probably come along some day, and he might not be so crazy about an adopted family.

But here's Jean, who doesn't agree with us.

"Why should a woman be deprived of the joy of having little ones around her," she argues, "just because she doesn't want to clutter up her life with a man?"

"Dear Sally:

"I read the story in your column about that girl who didn't ever want to marry anyone, but who wanted to adopt two children.

"I also read your answer, and I certainly do not agree with you. That girl showed plainly that she could take care of them if she took them, and if a girl can support two children in comfort and give them nice surroundings, a good home and an education, why on earth shouldn't she have them?

DOESN'T WANT HUSBAND

"Why must a woman be deprived of having the joy of children in her home, just because she isn't, and doesn't want to be, tied down to some man? I think it is silly. I don't mean, of course, that she should have children of her own; but she most certainly should be able to adopt them, if she wants to and can care for them.

"I am just beginning my career, but when I am successful, and I certainly am going to be successful, I intend to adopt two children and let the rest of the world go hang, because I don't want any husband hanging around.

"I love children, and I am quite capable of raising them sensibly, I think. And since I want them and do not want to marry, whose business is it if I have them?

"Of course I shall tell them that I am not their real mother, but that I picked them out because I wanted them, and I think they'll love me just the same.

FRIENDS AGREE

"I have talked this matter over with several people much older and wiser than myself, and they all tell me that this would be a beautiful thing to do.

"You see I'm an orphan, myself. I was raised in an orphanage, and I certainly admire anyone who will take a child and give it a good home. I hope I don't sound too radical, for I am sincere in what I say.

"JEAN."

How about it, Gang? Does Jean sound "too radical"—or is she right?

Are you for bachelor femmes raising kids, or do you think that's a foolish idea?

And how about the kids themselves? Even if the lady doesn't want—or need—a husband, will they be okay without a papa?

We hear a lot, these days, about the fact that most youngsters seem to have too much mamma in their raising, and that being responsible for sissies and no-accounts.

How about that angle?

Can a lady alone raise a kid as efficiently as a regular mamma, with a papa in the offing?

Let's have your vote!

Do Nothing in Haste Except Kindness, Fay King Advises

By FAY KING

Nothing should ever be done in haste except a kindness, for in that there will be no regretting except to wish it might have been greater.

When you are upset, in doubt, or angry, never instantly express yourself in words, actions, or writing.

Even where it is justifiable, your reaction will carry greater weight when strengthened by the proper deliberation and consideration with time and thought.

In most things we have reason to regret we wish we had not said this or done that.

Waiting does no harm.

No one was ever criticised for a discreet silence, or condemned for hesitation in harsh action.

Any thoughtless fool can fight and destroy, but it takes intelligence to be considerate and constructive.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

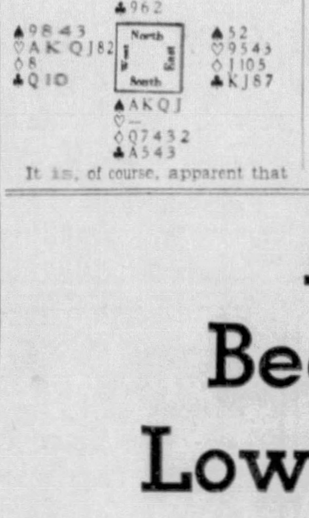
By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

The Art of Discarding Losers

Ambitious overbids frequently furnish the key to brilliant play at the Bridge table. The Declarer who has blithely overbid his hand finds that, in order to have even a chance of making his contract, he must resort to unusual methods. Sometimes the key to successful play is simple, but still seems scarcely observable to the eye of the average player, and even the trained study of the expert fails to make it clear.

At the Cavendish Club in New York City, the weekly Duplicate games furnish food for frequent post-mortems at the end. A recent hand, which brought about a variety of different contracts, was the one shown below:

South—Dealer.
North-South vulnerable.



It is, of course, apparent that the hand is a laydown for five diamonds, and where this was the contract, there was no occasion for discussion. Straightforward play attained the result.

At a few tables, however, the nonvulnerable West interjected a bid of three hearts as a game-saving device, and North, unwilling to bid four diamonds on a four-card suit, decided to shade the requirements of trump support and give a double Raise to his partner. After this there was nothing for South to do but bid four spades.

When West opened the heart King and Dummy went down, South could see the danger of defeat of his contract. Only one of the players, sitting South, was able to make it, although the method of play is simple. The successful Declarer simply discarded, on three rounds of hearts, the 5, 4 and 3 of clubs from his own hand. Now all danger to the success of the contract, except finding five or more trumps in one hand, was avoided. West, hoping that his partner could over-ruff, led the fourth heart, but this was ruffed with the Ten of trumps in Dummy, and the Declarer found the trumps divided so that his four top leads captured them all and thus permitted the making of an overbid contract through the simple expedient of discarding losing cards on losers.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Both sides being vulnerable, South bids one spade and West passes. What is the correct response by North with the following hand?

♠A98753 ♡AQ4 ◇10765 ♣—

Answer: Four spades. While it is true that the hand contains 8 playing-tricks in support of spades, common sense should take precedence over mere system, as partner's bid might be based on some such holding as the King-Queen and three small spades and the Ace-King of clubs, in which case there would be overlapping strength in clubs and losing tricks in diamonds.

Prevents Scorching

When making a bed lamp it is wise to insert a piece of cardboard between the lining and outer covering at the back of the frame. This will prevent the wooden bed from becoming scorched from the hot bulb as it is so apt to do.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Appreciation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—I have been doing housework for one year. My employer gave me a bathrobe and slippers for a Christmas gift, and as her birthday is very soon, I should like to know whether I should give her a gift, and what it should be?

2—I have received a card from a young man who has been on his vacation. Do you think it would be proper for me to thank him for the card when I see him again? S.

1—It isn't necessary for you to give your employer a gift, and I wouldn't do so, if I were you. Just give her your "best wishes" on the morning of her birthday.

2—Yes, by all means say your appreciation to this friend for his kind thoughtfulness.

After the Dance

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

After having a dance with a nice young man, and he thanks you for the dance, what would be the proper reply for the girl to make? P.

Say something that graciously indicates that you, too, enjoyed the dance. For instance, "It was very delightful, Bob," or "I enjoyed that dance so much."

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

"Rich Man's Disease" Is Vanishing

To the victim, gout is a terrible affliction. To the student of medicine, it is one of the most interesting of our many diseases. This ailment, seldom heard of today, used to be looked upon as a "rich man's disease" and was common in England. It has greatly decreased over there, and is rare in this country.

Dr. Copeland.

Faulty nutrition is really the chief factor in gout. Since the causes of malnutrition are more clearly understood we know how to deal with that disorder, and many disabilities, including gout, have disappeared.

Gout really is a constitutional disturbance due to an excessive amount of uric acid in the blood, and those who show a tendency to this disease are called "gouty."

When such persons eat food rich in certain substances called "purins" they show "gouty infections." Then deposits of uric acid form in the joints, the big toe being the one most commonly affected.

Usually an attack occurs in the middle of the night. The pain is extremely severe. The afflicted joint becomes red, swollen, hot and painful and there may be fever, thirst and marked digestive disturbances. The pain comes on periodically, but is apt to subside during the day.

This condition is often confused with rheumatism, but differs from the latter in that only the small joints are affected by gout, and the fever is not as high as it is in rheumatism. Likewise, the pain and tenderness are less marked in rheumatism than they are in gout. The pain of gout is periodic, while in rheumatism it is continuous.

Though chronic gout is often difficult to cure, most cases respond readily to our present-day treatment. The purpose of the treatment is reduction of uric acid, and to this end foods which form uric acid, particularly those containing purins, must be omitted from the diet. Meats and meat extractives, such as bouillon and beef extracts, sweetbreads, liver, kidneys and brains are detrimental to the welfare of the gouty individual.

Temperance in eating and drinking is essential. Starchy dishes and fried foods should be avoided. Alcohol, coffee and tea should not be permitted. Overeating quickly brings about an attack of gout in a susceptible individual.

'BOMB CARRIER' CONVINCES MOONEY

International News Service.

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Oct. 14. — Thomas J. Mooney, after a dramatic meeting with Paul M. Callicotte, today announced that he believed Callicotte's story of unwittingly carrying a bomb from Oakland that exploded during the 1916 Preparedness Day parade here.

Nodding his gray head, Mooney, who with Warren K. Billings has served 16 years for the crime, murmured:

"I believe him."

NEVER SAW MOONEY

Callicotte, his lips trembling and his eyes filled with tears, said:

"I've never seen you before."

Mooney answered:

"No, and I've never seen you."

The two then talked in private. Callicotte, who came from Portland with Attorney Irvin Goodman to tell his story to the grand jury in San Francisco, said that Mooney surprised him with his kindness. As he left Mooney in the prison reception room after an hour's talk, Callicotte said:

"I thought that Mooney would jump down my throat for not telling my story sooner—for letting him stay in prison 16 years. But he only looked at me and smiled and was very kind."

RENEW PARDON FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Defenders of Tom Mooney, convicted San Francisco Preparedness Day bomber, renewed their pardon demands here today as they rallied around an Oregon mountaineer who has become the latest hope for victory in the 16-year-old battle.

Gov. James Rolph, Jr., will be asked to grant a new pardon hearing, Aaron Sapiro, New York attorney and leader of the Mooney forces, said after hearing the story of the mountaineer, Paul M. Callicotte.

Sapiro said he found "worthy of full credence" Callicotte's story he believed he unwittingly placed the bomb which killed 10 persons and injured 40 others in 1916. The attorney also said details of the Oregon man's statement "negatived" allegations of a report upon which Gov. Rolph based his refusal to grant Mooney a pardon earlier this year.

Restore Cuban Rights To Permit Elections

HAVANA, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—President Machado has ordered the restoration of constitutional guarantees as required at least two weeks before election under provisions of the electoral code.

The President's decree automatically suspends the guarantees again on November 2, the day after the elections.

$20,000,000 Backs New Plymouth Six

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 14.—Walter P. Chrysler today announced his corporation is spending $26,000,000 to introduce a new Plymouth with six cylinders, supplanting the present four. Chrysler added:

"The new six will sell at the lowest price ever quoted on a Chrysler product, but will rank as a full-sized automobile."

Details of the model, marking culmination of more than two years of study and engineering research and the conclusion that "a basic change has taken place in the attitude of the public toward merchandise," will be revealed later.

EATON SEEKING P. S. C. DATA

HARRISBURG, Oct. 14.—(INS.)—Oliver K. Eaton, counsel for the Rial Senate Utility Investigating Committee, was scheduled to leave for Washington today in connection with the first session of the probe next Friday.

Eaton declined to discuss the purpose of his trip except to state it was concerned with the pending inquiry.

Dr. John G. Hervey, professor of public service company law at Temple University, and adviser to the Rial committee, returned from Washington yesterday. He acted as observer for the committee at a section conference on public utility law at the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

Channel Plane Blown 60 Miles Off Course

PARIS, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—A London-Paris French passenger airplane, with nine passengers aboard, was blown about 60 miles off its course today in a severe storm, but landed safely at Evreux, 67 miles northwest of Paris.

The plane remained at Evreux until the storm abated and then came on to Le Bourget Field, near here, arriving three hours late.

Erie Group Protests Jobless in Library

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—A delegation of citizens told Mayor James P. Rossiter the Erie Library reading room is too popular.

The delegation said congestion caused by unemployed is creating an unsanitary condition. The city was asked to arrange lounging quarters elsewhere.

200 Pounds Save Woman in Fall Into Lake

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—(INS.)—No diets or reducing exercises for Mrs. Bertha Meyer, 55.

She was convinced today that being overweight has its advantages.

Overcome by dizziness, she tumbled into Lake Michigan. Her 200 pounds kept her afloat until two passersby pulled her out.

B. & O. GRANTED 'WORK' LOAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company today was authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission to borrow $3,000,000 from the Reconstruction Corporation to build 820 coal cars and 2,500 freight cars and to rebuild 165 locomotives.

It was authorized as a "work" loan and the money is expected by railroad officials to provide employment for 1,500 men on a 30-hour week basis for six months.

Of the money, $900,000 will be used to rebuild and repair locomotives, $1,100,000 for repairing cars, and $1,400,000 for building new all-steel gondola cars.

JUDGE SCORNS 'KIDNAP' ALIBI

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—When it comes to alibis, Norman B. Collins, Wilmette banker, had one that defied Police Magistrate Harry H. Porter, but Porter got his $3 anyway.

The judge, curious to know why Collins failed to answer a traffic charge, asked:

"Where were you Monday?"

Collins said:

"Monday? Oh, yes, I was kidnaped. The kidnapers wanted $5,000, but didn't get it."

The judge said:

"Three dollars is all I want."

Collins paid.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Some women may want to be thin, but right now Mrs. Bertha Meyer, who became dizzy and fell in Lake Michigan is glad she isn't. She remained afloat until rescued by two men. Mrs. Meyer's size was held responsible for her floating. She weighs 200 pounds.

Town Clock Loses In Uneven Battle With Spiders

LA PORTE, Ind., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—This city has enough spiders to stop a clock and a big one at that. John Bauschenbach, investigating trouble in the courthouse tower timepiece, found too many webs had folded up on the pinions, stopping the clock.

STAGE SET FOR LION HUNT

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Satisfied he will be able to hold his lion hunt as planned, despite objections from the officials of Mississippi County and the Missouri Humane Society, Denver M. Wright, St. Louis business man, returned from Southeast Missouri today, where he said he had arranged for the hunt.

Wright declined to say when the hunt would be staged. Beef rations of the two lions, which he bought from a stranded circus and locked in a cage in his back yard, have been increased from 12 pounds a day to 18 pounds.

The economic pressure, he said, is hastening the day of the hunt.

Southeast Missouri game officers will co-operate with Wright to prevent injury to anyone should the lions escape the hunters.

BELLAIRE, O., Oct. 14.—The local Council today has a petition from a committee of unemployed asking for free gas, coal, water, electricity, a soup kitchen and clothing for children.

Scared by 'Devils' In X-Ray, Patient Hurt in Fall

NEWARK, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—"Blue devils," jumping from the X-ray machine at the City Hospital, were too much for John Price, 50-year-old Negro.

John got on the X-ray table to have a picture taken of a knee injury. When the blue lights sputtered on, he fell off the table in fright. Now he has concussion of the brain, possible fractures of the ribs and of the knee.

RECLUSE STARVES, PETS FEAST

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(INS.)—For 20 days three sleek cats in the apartment of Miss Martha Barton, a seamstress, were fed from a well-stocked can of specially prepared cat food.

A large quantity of special food also was on hand from which the goldfish were provided daily.

But in all that time, Miss Barton, out of work for eight months, fasted. She lost 40 pounds during what she called her "diet" undertaken to cure a stomach ailment.

A city marshal found her when he forced his way in to evict her for non-payment of rent for five months.

Her pride asserted itself when an attempt was made to remove her to a hospital as a pauper and she hysterically objected despite her weakness.

Neighbors sent provisions to Miss Barton, a native of France, but she refused to eat.

tion after she had covered a needless quarter of a mile and kept her to the course without further trouble until we touched land a little more than a mile across from the point where we started.

From here it was a three-mile trek to Mandura. With coolies shouldering my cages and crates and with the Singhalese boy leading the elephant, we got under way. No stranger caravan ever traversed this dismal stretch to the Mandura railroad station. Half the time we were ankle deep in mud and there were points where we had to slop through water over our knees with our precious cargo. More than once the boys faltered and I would spur them on, employing in my handling of this queer gang the accumulated knowledge of years of dealing with natives. It is as important for an animal collector to know how to handle the natives with whom he comes in contact as it is for him to understand the animals he gathers together.

We finally reached Mandura and got my freight loaded on a train that had been assembled by the railway officials to take care of the passengers who were being brought from the stranded train. It was the same sort of nondescript local, made up of passenger and freight cars.

AN UNLUCKY ANIMAL

When my crates and cages were in place, The Patsy was installed in an iron car as before and lashed front and back. Again she was thoroughly uncomfortable as we started jolting our way to Calcutta. It was an unbearably hot trip, and the elephant—now definitely the unluckiest animal I had ever handled—suffered frightfully from the heat. The best I could do for her was to have her Singhalese attendant douse her with cold water at every station. This helped, but it hardly afforded sufficient relief.

When, after three days of the toughest kind of riding, we pulled into Calcutta, I experienced as great a feeling of relief as I've ever known.

At Calcutta I picked up Lal Behudar, my No. 1 Hindu boy. We combined my Ceylon collection with the Calcutta collection that Lal had been supervising and got them all to Singapore without mishap—which surprised me no little since that ill-starred lady, The Patsy, was among those present.

At Singapore I made arrangements by cable to meet the S. S. President Cleveland at Hong Kong. I was desirous of shipping on this boat because its skipper, that well-known navigator Capt. George Yardley, was an old friend of mine. Another good friend on board was the mate, Bill Morris. These old associates would load my stock properly, find good locations for it on the ship and take good care of me in every way.

BOAT DELAYED

Then I arranged to go from Singapore to Hong Kong with my combined collection—an enormous one—on the Lake Falk, a cargo boat known as a "feeder." Its function was to pick up freight at various ports and take it to Hong Kong for shipment via trans-Pacific liners and freighters to America. Lal accompanied me on the trip and did a characteristically good job of helping me look after my stock.

My principal problem now was the slowness of the Lake Falk. She was proceeding at only eight knots an hour, which meant that there was a chance of my missing the President Cleveland. This would have cost me considerable money and no end of inconvenience.

I got into wireless communication with the Cleveland, giving Capt. Yardley the exact position of the Lake Falk and telling him the rate at which we were traveling. Yardley addressed his reply to the captain of the Falk, asking that gentleman to put on all possible speed. This the skipper of the "feeder," who familiar with the situation, agreed to do.

Yardley, in a subsequent wireless, notified me that the latest his ship could be held at Hongkong would be 2 o'clock of the afternoon of its scheduled departing (three days hence). This amounted to holding the vessel a whole hour for me.

The Lake Falk pulled into the entrance to Hong Kong Bay at 2:15—of 15 minutes after my dead-line. I was on the bridge with my binoculars to see if I could locate the President Cleveland at Knowldoon Dock. As we drew closer I spotted her. I could see her lines being taken in and I could hear her drawing-away whistle.

CARGO TRANSFERRED

By this time Capt. Yardley had seen us. He signaled to the captain of the Falk to pull alongside the Cleveland. As we drew up to the departing steamer she threw out lines both fore and aft which were lashed to the fore and aft quarters of the Lake Falk, making the boats fast together. Then the Cleveland with the Lake Falk attached to her started backing out into the stream.

The Lake Falk being a small coastwise freighter and the Cleveland a big ocean liner, there was a considerable discrepancy in size and when they were lashed together the deck of the "feeder" was about 15 feet lower than the Cleveland's main cargo deck.

The minute the smaller boat was made fast, Mate Bill Morris of the Cleveland started shouting orders to his men. The winchmen let down the Cleveland's booms and lowered the hooks onto the Falk's deck for the first load. In the meantime I had been firing out orders myself with the result that we were ready with a cargo net full of snake boxes and bird cages which were quickly picked up and hoisted aboard the bigger vessel.

Up forward you heard alternately Bill Morris' deep voice and the shrilling of his whistle as he directed the loading of my live stock. Aft, the second mate was roaring instructions to the men loading my supplies—bales of hay, bags of rice, crates of sweet potatoes, cases of canned milk and quarters of beef (the latter to care for the appetites of my carnivorous animals).

ANIMALS HOISTED

Above the straining of the winches and the creaking of the blocks and tackle could be heard the tremendous rumble of the donkey engines that wound up the cable controlling the hoisting gear on the booms. On the bridge Captain Yardley stood shouting orders to the signal men in the bow. And all the while the Cleveland's earsplitting whistle kept screaming a hoarse warning to the hundreds of Chinese sampans, dinghies and other small craft that clutter up Hong Kong harbor.

The work went on at a great rate, both boats drawing farther and farther away from the dock as it progressed. Soon we had everything loaded but my carnivora—leopards and tigers—and my two elephants. Lunging at the bars of their cages and roaring their displeasure, the great cats were lifted in air and deftly lowered to the deck of the Cleveland. Next a canvas sling was fastened around the belly of the first elephant—an Indian variety — and she was lifted, swung wide and deposited on the big ship's deck beside my other specimens. So many orders were being fired at the Chinaman who was working the forward winch that was loading the animals (the aft winch was handling my supplies) that he seemed a little rattled. I noticed that in handling the first elephant he kept her in midair longer than was necessary before shifting the boom over. The animal, frightened to find itself stock-still about 18 feet in the air, started kicking furiously.

MORE MISFORTUNE

I yelled to the faltering winchman to shift from the lifting gear to the gear that does the swinging. I heaved a sigh of relief when he did as instructed and lowered the elephant gently to the deck of the Cleveland.

It was The Patsy's turn next. Quickly we got a belly sling around her and a few seconds later the winchman was lifting her up. When he had reached the requisite height he seemed to forget what to do next. I shouted to him. So did Bill Morris. "Swing that elephant wide!" shrieked the mate. The winchman, perhaps suffering from the terrific strain of loading my vast collection of live stock, fumbled with his levers but accomplished nothing. Overhead The Patsy was kicking around wildly in her lashings and trumpeting like mad. Fully a minute had elapsed and the flustered Chinaman had not yet swung the boom over. I cupped my hands and roared a few oaths designed to stir him into action. Bill Morris dashed over to work the winch himself. But before he could do anything the terrified animal had managed to kick herself loose. She slipped out of the canvas sling backwards, turned a complete somersault in mid-air and came crashing down 18 feet to the iron deck of the Falk, brushing past me and barely missing me.

As The Patsy hit the deck, shrieks and groans came from the hundred or more passengers of the Cleveland, who were watching the loading. The elephant lay where she landed, motionless and, to all intents and purposes, dead. The Patsy, the unluckiest of animals, was again running true to form.

I leaned over the prostrate creature looking for signs of life. After about two minutes I noticed one of the eyelids flutter. Then, without warning, The Patsy jumped to her feet and, swaying unsteadily, started running down the deck. Lal and I grabbed her with elephant hooks and led her back. Without further ado we got the sling around her again, and, with another winchman on the job, quickly transferred her to the deck of the Cleveland. The secret of loading an elephant by the air route is to give the animan no time to kick itself lose. The second it is high enough in the air it should be swung wide and lowered.

FIRST GOOD LUCK

The Patsy was still pretty shaky, so I resorted to my favorite—and most successful—method of restoring animals that have the willies, only The Patsy, being an elephant, received a more generous treatment. I got a bottle of whisky and poured it into a big bucket. Next I added a gallon of water. Then, with a brass force-pump, I worked the resultant highball down the elephant's throat, with Lal assisting me. The Patsy's shakiness disappeared and she was soon herself again.

Which, to anyone who knows anything about elephants, was little short of a miracle. The only thing that saved The Patsy (her first stroke of good luck, to my knowledge) was the fact that in falling she landed on the fleshy lump over her shoulders. Had she fallen belly first she would have been instantly killed. An elephant's intestines are fastened to its spinal column and the downward jar of such a fall would have shaken them loose and there'd have been one pachyderm less on earth. Had she fallen on her side she'd have cracked several ribs, with probable internal injuries to complicate matters. Had she landed on her back she'd have snapped her spine. So, if she had to fall, The Patsy didn't select the worst way of landing.

A little over a month after the accident, The Patsy wound up at Golden Gate Park in San Francisco, where the goddess of fortune finally smiled upon her. Which is by way of saying that she landed a swell job—one that any elephant would be glad to have. No tough circus career for her, none of the confinement of zoo life. She got a job carrying children of San Francisco around in a howdah which I designed. And she's doing it to this very day—one of the happiest and best-loved elephants in America.

The Patsy, after the most sustained run of bad luck I've ever known an animal to draw, got a break at last.

A World's Record

MORE than three thousand births without a single loss of either mother or child! That is the official Piatt County record of Dr. W. B. Caldwell, in fifty years' family practise in Illinois.

No wonder mothers have such entire confidence in giving little ones Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin!

If you have a baby, you have constant need of this wonderful preparation of pure pepsin, active senna, and fresh herbs. A child who gets this gentle stimulant for the stomach, liver and bowels is always healthier. It keeps children's delicate systems from clogging. It will overcome the most stubborn condition of constipation. It builds them up, and is nothing like the strong cathartics that sap their strength and energy.

A coated tongue or bad breath is the signal for a spoonful of Syrup Pepsin. Children take it readily, for it is really delicious in flavor. Taste it! Take Syrup Pepsin yourself, when sluggish or bilious, or you are troubled with sick headaches and no appetite. Take some for several days when run-down, and see how it picks you up.

It is a prescription preparation which every drug store has ready; in big bottles, just ask anywhere for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Stop a COLD the First Day!

Taken Promptly, this Four-Way Remedy Will Usually Stop a Cold the First Day and Save You Much Suffering as Well as the Danger of Serious Complications!

The time to stop a cold is before it gets started. Once a cold fastens its grip on you, it becomes twice as hard to remove. And a cold lodged in the system may lead to something worse.

Don't hope to kill a cold with merely local or external applications. A cold is a germ attack, an internal infection and, as such, calls for internal treatment.

Don't hope to kill a cold, either, with anything except a COLD remedy. A cure-all is self-deception. Many preparations which people commonly take for a cold actually make the relief of a cold more difficult because these preparations are constipating and also make the system acid.

The Required Effects

The thing to take for a cold or case of grippe is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine—because it does the four things necessary, in the way that is necessary.

First of all, it opens the bowels, gently but thoroughly—the first step in knocking a cold. Secondly, it kills the cold germs in the system, expels the poisonous infection and reduces the fever. Thirdly, it relieves the headache and that grippy feeling. Fourthly, it tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

This is the treatment a cold calls for—adequate and decisive.

Harmless, but Effective!

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine may be taken with utter safety by young and old. It contains no narcotics and produces no bad after-effects. It does not upset the stomach, nauseate or make the head ring or swim.

In dainty tablet form, Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is convenient and pleasant to take, as well as effective. Comes in handy, pocket size boxes, cellophane-wrapped, and is sold by every drug store in America.

When you feel a cold coming on, take a few of the tablets immediately. This will usually expel the cold overnight and prevent the infection from spreading within the system and becoming fixed and dangerous. Remember, a cold is nothing to trifle with!

TOUGH TESTS FOR PITT, SKIBOS, DUKES

ALL THREE OF Pittsburgh's college football teams will be subjected to severe tests before tomorrow evening. At Forbes Field tonight, Duquesne will resume floodlight play, with Oglethorpe as the visiting attraction, and tomorrow afternoon, while Pitt is battling with Army at West Point, Carnegie Tech will tangle with W. & J. at the Stadium. Last year the Dukes beat Oglethorpe only 6 to 0, and as the Atlanta team has shown a big gain in strength this fall it is clear that there is plenty of trouble in store for the Bluffites.

Hank Day

Of his starting lineup in the 26-to-0 victory over Army in 1931, Jock Sutherland has only Reider, Heller and Hogan in the first string for tomorrow, whereas the Cadets have lost only Price, Suarez and Stecker, indicating that the Panthers will be hard pressed to win, even though they look good enough to do it. The Presidents always have been a plague to Carnegie. They beat the Skibos last season, 10 to 7, and as the Washington boys have taken on new life, spirit and class this year under the able coaching of Hank Day, the Scots, to escape defeat, will have to produce something better than they have yet uncovered. There is a chance for a triple Pittsburgh success, but it's going to take some tall old fighting to accomplish it.

FOR MORE THAN three decades, Wally Steffen, advisory coach at Carnegie Tech, has been intimately associated with football. Starting his gridiron career, he attracted city-wide attention in Chicago as a player for North Division High School there from 1901 to 1904. He was captain of the school eleven in his last three years.

In his last two seasons Wally was all-city interscholastic quarterback. He made that team in his sophomore year, too, but was moved to halfback to make room at quarterback for Walter Eckersall, who was just finishing up at Hyde Park.

STEFFEN THEN ENTERED the University of Chicago, where he was freshman captain in 1905 and starred as an open field runner for Coach Alonzo Stagg's varsity in 1906-07-08. In all three years on the varsity he was all-Western quarterback, and in 1908 he was named on Walter Camp's all-America team.

Going into law school, Steffen then served as Stagg's coaching assistant, from 1909 to 1912, inclusive. The next year he was in the district attorney's office, and in 1914 he began his career as commuting coach at Carnegie Tech, a post he has held ever since.

JUDGE STEFFEN was asked by Ralph Cannon what thing stood out in his mind in all that he had got out of football during his many years in the game. "The thing that's outstanding in my mind about football," said Steffen, "is that it demonstrates to one who plays it that the man with courage can do almost anything. It doesn't matter what business you are in—law, newspaper work, anything—the man who sticks to it in the face of discouragement is bound to come out all right."

IF CHARLEY DEVENS cares to stay in professional baseball, he is a sure shot to make good as a major league pitcher. That's the prediction made by both Manager Joe McCarthy and Coach Cy Perkins for the former Harvard star, who pulled down about $18,000 this year in bonus, salary and world series share for pitching one championship game for the Yankees.

Charley Devens

McCarthy admits that Devens looked a hopeless when he joined the club. This the reason that Charley's curve ball, which had fooled college batters, was almost a joke for big league effectiveness. The youngster merely gave the ball a barnyard spin. There was no snap to it. But Devens is smart, learned quickly how to put a sharp break on his curve, improved his fast ball besides, and now McCarthy prophesies he will more than make his mark if he decides to stick to the game.

IT TOOK A long time for Kid Chocolate to fulfill the predictions of American fight critics that he would one day be featherweight champion, but he finally won New York recognition as the titleholder by stopping Lew Feldman in the twelfth round last night.

Chocolate is the only Negro except George Dixon, 1890 to 1900, ever to become king of the featherweights. He may not be a Dixon, but he is easily the master of all feathers in the present crop, including Tommy Paul, the N. B. A. champion.

SPORTS CRITICS AND fans in general continue to take exception to the remarks of Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, who blamed the radio for the many empty seats at his New York Stadium when the first two games of the world series were played there. That cry is becoming tiresome to sports followers, who view it as having no real foundation. Every time a sports event that is broadcast fails to draw a large crowd, the radio is blamed. When a like event draws a capacity throng, the radio is not mentioned. Col. Ruppert fails to explain why he made no mention of the fact, or how he accounts for it, that there were no empty seats at Wrigley Field.

DURING THE REGULAR season there is more baseball broadcasting done in Chicago than in any other city, yet the Cubs have been smashing attendance records for several years at such a rate as to cause Chicago to be called the capital of baseball. World series games have been broadcast for 10 years or more, but never before has an owner blamed the radio for lack of attendance. There would have been fewer empty seats in New York if the ticket-selling policy adopted the second day had been in force from the start.

That is, if fans willing to pay $5.50 for the privilege of witnessing the game had not been asked to dig up $16.50 in a time of depression to buy tickets for three games when many of them could afford only one. When the attraction is there and the prices are right, the radio don't hurt. It makes new fans instead of keeping old ones at home.

A PIRATE PITCHER, Leon Chagnon, is hurling for Dover against Somersworth in a series that is advertised as being for the "semi-pro" championship of New Hampshire, though both clubs are loaded with big leaguers. In the first game, Chagnon was opposed by Bobby Brown, of the Braves, who had Charley Berry as his catcher.

Jack Dempsey

Among other major and minor leaguers in the series are Irving Burns, of the Browns; Andy Spognardi, of the Red Sox; Irving Blummer, of Wilkes-Barre, and Vito Tamulis, Yankee farmhand. The spectators at the first game included Tommy Padden, Pirate catcher; Stuffy McInnis and Bill Carrigan.

AS LONG AS there's a chance to get the kind of publicity that keeps the dollars coming in, Jack Dempsey will be smart enough to let the boys continue to guess as to whether or not he means ever to fight again. Having the public think he may come back makes him a better card as a referee or in a theatrical or movie role. But it is probable that, privately, Dempsey has abandoned all thought of entering the ring again. If he ever really had any such notion, it may have been knocked out of him at a couple of New York glove shows he attended recently. Dempsey was a spectator when Mickey Walker and Benny Leonard were beaten so badly by younger men that the bouts had to be stopped to save the severely punished veterans from knockouts and possibly serious injury. The sorry spectacles no doubt made Dempsey do a lot of thinking, and his cogitation is not likely to lead him into risking any experience of the same sort.

PITTITES' EDGE FOR ARMY TILT EXCELLENT

By JESS CARVER
Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—That facial twist, which on most anyone else wouldn't be much of anything, but which, adorning the weather-beaten phiz of Dr. Jock Sutherland, passes for a smile, is gone and the Pitt football squad had returned to normalcy.

Things haven't been right with Pitt so far this fall, despite the three easy triumphs the boys have rung up. The reason is that Coach Jock has been smiling too often and too easily. Such a condition is not natural. But the smile was gone when the Panthers tumbled out of their Pullmans in New York this morning and prepared to move on up the Hudson, where tomorrow they'll engage in their first major test of the season and their initial invasion of West Point as they clash with the Army.

Yes, it was gone. The good doctor arose and performed his morning ablution in true Sutherland manner. He ate his breakfast and supervised the feeding of his footballers without wasting a word. He nodded for the butter, merely grunted when he wanted a second chunk of toast and indicated that he might try a bit of sugar in his coffee simply by pointing.

TEAM ON EDGE

The attitude of the coach affected the players instantaneously. Erased was the somewhat cocky attitude the Panthers have taken since their unexpectedly easy triumphs over Ohio Northern, West Virginia and Duquesne, and in its stead was the substituting of the same grim determination that enabled a Pitt team to wallop the Cadets last year, to crush Nebraska, defeat Carnegie and in seasons past, to rise mightily to occasions of great trial and tribulation. The Panthers are on edge and the Army had best beware.

Arriving at the Point this afternoon, the Panthers are to be fed again and then, after an hour or so of rest and sight-seeing, they'll be sent through a final pre-game drill in Michie Stadium, home of the Cadet elevens.

Aside from Joe Tormey, who is grouching around with a bum back, which is going to keep him out of starting action tomorrow, the Pitt eleven is in fine physical trim. Tormey may be able to play if it becomes absolutely necessary, but the starting Blue and Gold center will be George Shotwell, rangy sophomore, who looks like a long, tall drink of water, but has the kick of a tall drink of that potent dew from Kentucky hills.

REIDER READY

Capt. Paul (Bulldog) Reider, who, along with Warren Heller, hopes to thrill the entire East by running wild and woolly against the "sojers" on the morrow, is able to get around in right spry fashion. His injured ankle appears to have mended neatly. The remainder of the squad, the Cubas, Hoels, Onders, Ormistons, Hartwigs, Daileys, Skladanys, Weinstocks, Hogans, Weisenbaughs, Matesics, Simmses, Nicksicks, Wojihovskis, Timmonses, Seigals, Waltons, Merediths, Luchs and Loves, are rarin' to go.

This fellow Weinstock, who has come along so fast it is almost impossible to keep track of him, is the lad upon whose sturdy shoulders much of Pitt's attack will rest tomorrow. He'll be in there at fullback, and it will be up to him to keep the Army's defense so drawn in that it will be possible for Reider and Heller and the other halfbacks to get loose outsides the tackles, and to have the secondary defense so a'twitter that the Pitt aerial attack can function.

Geneva Opposes St. Vincent Tonight

LATROBE, Pa., Oct. 14.—Although Geneva has been established as the favorite, St. Vincent expects to give Howard Harpster's Covenanters a stern battle when they meet at Beaver Falls tonight.

The Saints, who are undefeated and who have shown much power in downing Canisius and Mt. St. Mary's, probably will line up with Carney and Best at the ends, Zappone and Connors at the tackles, Duda and O'Brien at the guards, Brown at center, Dasher at quarterback, Furin and Johnson at the halves and Paul at fullback.

Nelle will return to fullback for Geneva following his injuries in the game with Carnegie Tech, two weeks ago.

Pitt Rooters to Use Special Train Tonight

A special train carrying Pitt fans to the game with Army at West Point will leave Pennsylvania Station at 9:45 o'clock tonight, and East Liberty at 9:57, arriving in New York at 7:45 tomorrow morning to make connections by boat for the Point, and arriving there at 12:30 p. m.

Returning, the boat will leave the West Point dock at 5:50 p. m. Saturday and make connections with a train leaving New York at 10:30 p. m., arriving in Pittsburgh early Sunday morning.

It is estimated that upwards of 1,000 Pittsburghers will make the trip by train or automobile.

With Pitt at West Point for its outstanding game with the Army tomorrow, and Carnegie Tech resting on its oars awaiting its clash with W. & J. at the Stadium tomorrow, Duquesne University's football Dukes start off the week-end campaign of local elevens tonight when they meet Coach Harry Robertson's Stormy Petrels from Oglethorpe University, down in Georgia, under the floodlights at Forbes Field.

The Dukes are none the worse for their battle against the Pitt power plant at the Stadium last Saturday, when they were defeated, 33-0, for their first setback of the season, and they hope to stage a comeback tonight at the expense of the Southerners. They do not anticipate an easy task, however, for they still have in mind the hard time they had downing the Petrels on the same gridiron last fall by the skinny margin of 6 to 0.

TEAMS STAGE DRILLS

Both teams worked out under the lights last night. The Oglethorpe squad arrived shortly after 8 o'clock, and, after establishing headquarters at Webster Hall, close to the field, went through a light drill to accustom themselves to the playing conditions. The Dukes worked out before the arrival of the invaders.

Joe Bach, line coach of the Bluffites, who scouted Oglethorpe, reports they are a hardy bunch of big fellows and will take plenty of beating. He was particularly impressed by the punting ability of their quarterback, Ray Walker. The visitors boast a considerable weight advantage on the line, but the Dukes have the edge in avoirdupois in the backfield. With the exception that Donohoe will be back at right tackle, in place of Sinko, the Dukes plan to start the same team that took the field against Pitt, mustering their strongest lineup from the start. Kickoff will be at 8:15 o'clock.

TARTANS SEEK REVENGE

Tech is anxious to atone for its 10-7 defeat by W. & J. last season and may show a real scoring punch for the first time this year. The Tartans defeated Geneva by a single touchdown in their first game, two weeks ago, and last Saturday were held scoreless during the first half by Western Reserve at Cleveland, but came on to score 19 points in the final two quarters. They have demonstrated that their defense is as strong as could be expected, but may be weakened tomorrow by the loss of Co-Captain Hooks Sample, veteran guard, who is out with injuries.

The game will mark the first appearance of Hank Day as a college coach in Pittsburgh, and the followers of the Presidents are keen to see how their favorites shape up under his direction. Kickoff for this battle will be at 2 o'clock. The Pitt Freshmen meet the Tech Plebes in a preliminary at noon.

Knockouts Feature McKeesport Bouts

Four knockouts featured the amateur boxing show staged last night by the Majestic A. C. in the Palisades Rink, McKeesport. The summary:

Mushy Callahan, 132½, McKeesport A. C., defeated Hooks Wargo, 138½, McKeesport, three rounds.

Teddy Movan, 142¼, McKeesport A. C., knocked out Joe Ganey, 140, Braddock A. C., in the second round.

Anson Greaves, 146, Billick A. C., defeated John Chatman, 144, Sands A. C., three rounds.

Shorty Washko, 130, Billick A. C., defeated Fritz Waldek, 129½, Tarentum, three rounds.

Billy Poskin, 122¼, Tarentum, knocked out Jimmy Marks, 123, Valley A. C., in the first round.

John Bodnar, 141, Billick A. C., defeated Ray Poskin, 136, Tarentum, in three rounds.

Frankie McLaughlin, 141, McKeesport A. C., defeated Chuck Kenny, 141, Valley A. C., in three rounds.

Bob O'Day, 139, Triangle A. C., defeated Paul Bailey, 139, Sands A. C., three rounds.

Joe Backo, 119, Triangle A. C., won on a technical knockout in the first round over Dummy Joe Pie, 114, McKeesport A. C.

Eddie Shaffer, 155½, McKeesport A. C., won by a technical knockout in the second round over Mike Bukover, 161½, Valley A. C.

LONDOS, LEWIS MATCHED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Lou Daro, Los Angeles wrestling promoter, said today he had signed Ed (Strangler) Lewis and Jim Londos, both claimants of the world heavyweight wrestling championship, for an outdoor match here next February. Londos has been guaranteed $60,000 to risk his claim to the title, Daro said.

MAT CHAMPS TO MEET

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Lou Daro, wrestling promoter, announced last night he had signed Ed (Strangler) Lewis and Jim Londos for an outdoor match here next February, guaranteeing Londos $60,000. The match is contingent upon neither wrestler being defeated before February.

SCHOOL ELEVENS FACE BIG DAY OF GRID BATTLES

CITY LEAGUERS CARDED FOR FOUR GAMES

By JULIUS LEVIN

With four games scheduled in the two divisions of the City League, one AA conference battle and a flock of Class A and Class B skirmishes listed in all sections of Western Pennsylvania, scholastic football teams hereabouts face a busy program this afternoon and evening.

Fifth Avenue High invades Peabody for the lone attraction in Section I, of the City League, while the Section II group offers its supporters three battles. South Hills, the defending City League champion, plays at Langley. Allegheny goes to Perry and Carrick appears at Oliver.

FIVE NIGHT DUELS

Five night contests are listed for the followers of the scholastic sport but the feature event is that between Washington and New Castle under the floodlights at Taggart Field, New Castle. This is a Double A Conference engagement that should provide plenty of thrills despite the fact that New Castle is a big favorite to upset the Little Presidents.

Another headliner is slated for Erie where Scott High, of North Braddock, will be the attraction of Strong Vincent, coached by Sam Kramer, a former mentor at Braddock. Scott scored a 12-6 victory over the Lake City eleven last fall at Scott Field and the Erie machine will be eager to avenge that setback tonight.

Homestead High will have its hands full with the powerful Mt. Lebanon eleven in a night duel at Homestead Athletic Park. Mt. Lebanon, beaten only by Ambridge, 18-0, is the favorite, but will find Homestead a worthy opponent.

MUNHALL IN OAKLAND

Central Catholic High, coached by Bill Donohue, former Edgewood High and Carnegie Tech star, makes its first appearance on its new home field at Frazier Field, Munhall, coached by Dick Toline, as its attraction this afternoon.

Another good contest is listed for Duquesne where Coach Parker sends his machine against Hurst High, coached by Roy McMunn. Hurst last year won the W. P. I. A. L. Class B championship and this season is playing under the Class A banner.

Games offering scholastic fans some thrills find Bellevue at Sewickley, Coraopolis at Miles Bryan (McKees Rocks), Dormont at Crafton, Oakmont at Arnold, Canonsburg at Waynesburg, Swissvale at Avalon, Rankin at Cecil, Kittanning at Har-Brack, South Fayette at McDonald, Brownsville at South Union, a night fray; Aspinwall at Edgewood, East McKeesport at Pitcairn, St. Mary's of the Mount at Shady Side Academy, and Stowe Township at Carnegie.

COME FROM BEHIND

Westinghouse and South High battled to a 7-7 deadlock yesterday on Langley Field. South had the contest won after scoring a touchdown in the first period, but the Silver Lake boys fought with such a fury in the last quarter they were able to reach a deadlock. Each side made the try for point after scoring its touchdown.

Grad carried the pigskin over for the South High boys after the enemy had been heavily penalized. The reliable Dalfonso recovered a fumble for the Westinghouse touchdown. Dalfonso also kicked the goal in the try for point. South made its point by way of a pass. The Westinghouse-South lineup:

Westinghouse—7.		South—7.
Shullo	L.E.	Mattern
Barone	L.T.	(c) Pisarcik
Bauer	L.G.	Acklin
Radick	C.	Miskences
Gigolotti	R.G.	M. Mamula
Manella	R.T.	Kerin
Irwin	R.E.	Olapinski
Connelly	Q.	Galizewski
Fracker	L.H.	Schiedel
McMahon	R.H.	Spatovich
Dalfonso	F.B.	Grad

Westinghouse	0	0	0	7—7
South	7	0	0	0—7

Substitutions—Westinghouse, Gibson, Monaco; South, Guvias, Prunchak, Breitweiser. Touchdowns—Grad, Dalfonso. Goals from touchdown—Galizewski, (forward.); Dalfonso (placement). Referee—Henry Blum. Umpire—Sheets. Head linesman—Bode. Time of quarters—12 minutes.

McGivern Stars In Elks' Fight Show

Tarzan Art McGivern, of the Willow Club, scored the only knockout of the amateur boxing show staged by Allegheny Elks' Lodge, No. 339, last night. McGivern stopped Joe Mazur, of Natrona, Pa., in two rounds. The summary:

118-pound class—Joe Clark, Superior A. C., defeated George Masick, Cyclone A. C., in three rounds.

126-pound class—Eddie Katkish, Willow Club, defeated Joe Yotey, Kittanning, in three rounds.

135-pound class—Tony Ryan, Cyclone A. C., defeated Steve Nicklosh, Boylestein A. C., Kittanning, in three rounds.

160-pound class—Tarzan Art McGivern, Willow Club, won over Joe Mazur, Natrona, Pa., by a technical knockout in two rounds.

Frank Kladdic, Cyclone A. C., defeated Henry Kleana, Boylestein A. C., Kittanning, in three rounds. Billy Nichy, Twenty-seventh Ward Republican Club, defeated Woodrow White, Boylestein A. C., in three rounds.

Heavyweight—Dutch Weir, Twenty-seventh Ward Republican Club, defeated Bill Ryan, Cyclone A. C., in three rounds.

Fight Results

At New York—Kid Chocolate knocked out Lew Feldman, 12 rounds; Ben Jeby knocked out Paul Pirrone, 6 rounds; Frank Battaglia and Chick Devlin, drew, 10 rounds.

At Minneapolis—King Levinsky defeated Joe Sekyra, 10 rounds; Barek Everett defeated Tony Cancella, 8 rounds; Frankie Knaver knocked out Mercel Rigard, 3 rounds; Walter Cleghorn defeated Red Jaderburg, 6 rounds.

At Mason City, Ia.—Cowboy Eddie Anderson and Mexican Joe Rivers fought a 10-round draw.

At Camden, N. J.—Primo Carnera knocked out Gene Stanton, 10 rounds; Jack Kilbourne defeated Jack Mackaway, 8 rounds; Elmer Begenah knocked out Patsy Carlo, 2 rounds; Costas Vassis defeated Joe O'Neill, 6 rounds.

At London, England—Don McCorkindale knocked out George Cook, 10 rounds.

At Savannah—Chino Alvarez knocked out Harry Sankey, 9 rounds.

At Stockton, Cal.—Battling Bulahan defeated Tom Cornett, 10 rounds.

At Sacramento, Cal.—Jimmy Evans defeated Andy DiVodi, 10 rounds.

At Muskogee, Okla.—Pee Wee Terry defeated Bobby Allen, 15 rounds.

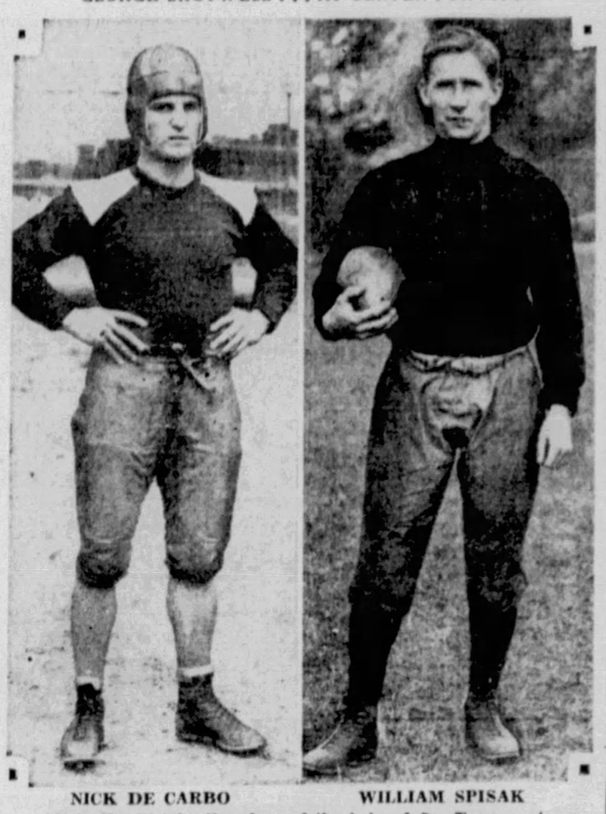
At Philadelphia—Pete Nebo defeated Young Firpo, 8 rounds.

At Hartford, Conn.—Louis (Kid) Kaplan defeated Eddie Holmes, 10 rounds; Ralph Lenny defeated Eddie Mays, 8 rounds.

At Wilmington, Del.—Al Diamond won by technical knockout over Pete Susky, 5 rounds; Bob Turner defeated Johnny Lwachke, 6 rounds.

Local Stars in Games

GEORGE SHOTWELL . . . AT CENTER FOR PITT



NICK DE CARBO — WILLIAM SPISAK

Shotwell will take the place of the injured Joe Tormey at center for Pitt against the Army at West Point tomorrow. De Carbo is the hard-fighting guard of the Dukes, who starred against Pitt last Saturday and will be in the lineup against Ogelthorpe at Forbes Field tonight. Spisak is the new sophomore halfback sensation of Carnegie Tech, which plays W. & J. at the Stadium tomorrow. These are Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph pictures.

PITT MISSING ON PENN CARD

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—The University of Pennsylvania will play only seven varsity football games next season. Dr. E. Leroy Mercer, dean of the department of physical education, made this announcement last night. It is the smallest schedule Pensylvania has ever listed.

All games will be played on Franklin Field, and the season will not open until October 14, when Franklin and Marshall, the only small college on the schedule, will be played. The schedule for 1933 follows:

October 14, Franklin and Marshall; October 21, Dartmouth; October 28, Navy; November 4, Lafayette; November 11, Ohio State; November 18, Penn State; November 30, Cornell.

Pittsburgh and Lehigh, in addition to Swarthmore, are off the schedule, and the newcomers are Lafayette and Penn State.

School Notes

The Braddock - East Pittsburgh game, originally scheduled for November 19, has been moved up to Saturday, October 22. The game will be played at East Pittsburgh.

Lewis and Watson, Washington High stars, may not be able to play in the battle with New Castle tonight, according to Coach Bill Cox. Both are out with injuries. Lewis plays at end and Watson at halfback.

SOLDIERS TAPER FOR PANTHERS

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 14.—The Army squad, all primed for the Panthers from Pittsburgh, will not do much today in the way of strenuous football, Major Sasse restricted the tasks of yesterday to a rehearsal on the scrimmage machine and signal practice.

The Soldiers worked on the plays they expect the Pitt boys to use tomorrow when the two clubs clash here. The Army lads are eager to get revenge for their overwhelming defeat in Pittsburgh last year.

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Ted Yarosz vs. Abe Meyer Lichtenstein, 10 rounds, and Charley Baxter vs. Tiger (Kid) Walker, Fritzie Zivic vs. Terry Waner and Jimmy Gilligan vs. Petey Jahn, 6 rounds each, Arena, North Side.

Arthur DeKuh vs. LeRoy Haynes, 10 rounds, San Francisco.

Joe Glick vs. Tommy King, 10 rounds, Hollywood, Cal.

Marty Simmons vs. Freddie Heinz, 10 rounds, and Mel Tipton vs. Johnny Deciantis, 8 rounds, Saginaw, Mich.

Eddie (Kid) Whalen vs. Johnny Bates, 10 rounds, and Davy Ailer vs. Paul Collins, 6 rounds, Brooklyn.

GRID STAR OUSTED

ATLANTA, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Charges of professionalism, which snatched Nollie Felts from the position of captain and star fullback on Tulane University's football team and left him resting on the bench of disqualification, were upheld today by the Southern Conference executive committee.

KID CHOCOLATE KNOCKS OUT FELDMAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—His third successive victory over Lew Feldman has gained for Kid Chocolate, Cuban Negro flash, a piece of the more or less vacant featherweight championship.

Chocolate hammered Feldman into decisive defeat before a sparse gathering of 7,000 spectators in Madison Square Garden last night, stopping the New York youngster in the twelfth round of what was to have been a 15-round bout.

To the winner went recognition as featherweight champion in the eyes of the New York State Athletic Commission, which has ignored the title claims of Tommy Paul, of Buffalo, winner of a National Boxing Association elimination tournament to find a successor to the 126-pound crown vacated by Chris Battalino.

FELDMAN TAKES BEATING

Chocolate now holds pieces of two championships. In addition to his disputed featherweight title, the Keed holds the synthetic junior lightweight crown.

Although far off form, the Cuban gave Feldman a neat trouncing last night, winning nine of the 12 rounds and cutting Feldman so badly about the nose that Referee Patsy Haley finally was forced to halt the match after 2 minutes 45 seconds of the twelfth. Feldman won the second and third rounds when Chocolate was missing more punches than he landed, and held the Cuban fairly even in the fifth.

Chocolate weighed 125¾ pounds; Feldman 125½.

PIRRONE KNOCKED OUT

In the first match of a Garden middleweight elimination tournament, Ben Jeby, of New York, floored Paul Pirrone, of Cleveland, six times before knocking him out in the sixth round of a 10-round bout. In another, Frankie Battaglia, of Winnipeg, was floored for a nine count by Chick Devlin, of San Francisco, in the eighth round, but came back to gain a draw.

The tournament is designed to produce a challenger for Marcel Thil, of France, generally regarded as king of the world's middleweights.

YAROSZ BOXES LICHTENSTEIN TONIGHT

Ted Yarosz, Monaca welterweight, is on the spot tonight. He meets a worthy opponent in the person of Abe Meyer Lichtenstein, of Rochester, N. Y., in the 10-round main bout at the Arena, on the North Side. Lichtenstein, who arrived here yesterday, is a rangy fellow, as tall as the average light-heavyweight, and with the hands of a heavyweight.

The visitor has boxed Gorilla Jones, Jackie Brady, Andy DiVodi, Bucky Lawless, Joe Dundee and other leaders, and his sole aim here is to be the first opponent to win a decision over Yarosz, who had won 56 straight fights as a professional before he was held to a draw by Eddie (Kid) Wolfe in Madison Square Garden, New York, just a week ago.

Three six-round bouts complete the card. Charley Baxter, local lightweight, boxes Tiger (Kid) Walker, Zanesville (O.) Negro, in the semi-final; Fritzie Zivic, of Lawrenceville, meets Terry Waner, of the North Side, in the second bout, and Jimmy Gilligan, of Toronto, O., and Petey Jahn, of the North Side, box the opener, scheduled for 8:30 o'clock.

GRINS From the GRID

By O. W. (Red) Severence

Noted Southern Football Official (Written for Associated Press.) Associated Press.

NO. 4.

Mike Donahue, famous Yale star and one of the first northern coaches to bring football into the South, was a firm believer in the theory that all great punters gain their distance by keeping the right knee straight at the moment of impact.

Donahue was coaching at Auburn, and this particular year Auburn needed more than anything else a good punter.

So Mike's eyes brightened during practice one day as he noticed a newcomer booting the ball far down the field—and kicking through with a straight knee.

Approaching the youth, Mike learned that he was a candidate for the line, but such kicking was too valuable that season to be buried in the forward wall, and Mike shifted him to the backfield.

As play started the youth crouched down, but his right leg stuck straight out behind. Mike shouted:

"Here, lad, that's no way for a back to get down. Bring your knees up under you."

Looking up with a disgusted expression on his face, the youth replied:

"I can't straighten that leg, it's wooden."

DATE CHANGED FOR SHOW

Due to continuance of the marathon dance, the Jewish Home for Babies benefit boxing show to be held at Motor Square Garden has been changed from next Tuesday to Tuesday, October 25th. Twelve attractive A. A. U. bouts have been arranged for the affair which will also be in the nature of a social event. Joseph M. Meyers is general chairman.

MID-WEST STUNNED BY FORCING OUT OF STAGG

VETERAN COACH OF GRIDDERS CRUSHED

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Chicago and mid-western football followers were agog today over the announcement last night to the effect that Amos Alonzo Stagg, Grand Old Man for American football, had been forced out as director of athletics and head football coach at the University of Chicago after 40 years of service.

The reason given for Stagg's retirement, coming as a surprise to the intercollegiate athletic world and to Stagg himself, was that a rule was invoked which provides that no member of the faculty shall continue to hold a post after reaching the age of 70. Stagg became 70 years of age on August 16.

The board of trustees of the university created a new position for Stagg as chairman of the committee on intercollegiate athletics, but Stagg gave no indication he would accept. He said, with a feeling of crushed spirit that he felt physically able to carry on for at least 15 or 20 years longer, and that he was not content with his enforced retirement.

Stagg's retirement will not become effective until the end of the collegiate year, June 30, 1933.

METCALF GETS POST

His successor will be Thomas Nelson Metcalf, director of athletics and chairman of physical education at the Iowa State College. Metcalf will name Stagg's successor as head football coach.

The selection may be Orville (Pat) Page, now Stagg's assistant and himself a noted gridiron star at the University of Chicago some 15 years ago. Page was head football coach at Indiana University before joining Stagg's staff.

Stagg, the dean of American football coaches, was heart-broken over the action of the trustees, but accepted it with the same splendid spirit of sportsmanship that characterized his 40 years of coaching record at Chicago.

Two days ago Stagg returned from his greatest personal triumph—that of holding Yale, his Alma Mater, to a 7-to-7 tie on the gridiron last Saturday. He was riding on the crest of the wave because of that victory. Then came the crushing blow of his enforced retirement. Stagg said:

"According to my present feeling, I expect to be good for 15 to 20 years more of active service. I went into athletic work because it offered the largest opportunity for service through contact with young men. No scheme of life, which removes that contact would meet with my ambition.

WILL REMAIN ACTIVE

"I have no protest to make in lining up in conformity with these principles for I have tried always to base my life on principles. I feel too young and aggressive to step altogether out of my particular work, and, frankly, I am not content to do it. Whether I remain at Chicago or go elsewhere, I wish to be active in the field of coaching."

Stagg, although 70 years old, doesn't look a day older than 50. His face, tanned and seared by the life that has been rugged and clean, is not wrinkled nor drawn nor old.

With the announcement of Stagg's retirement, the board of control revealed that he had been offered the newly-created post of chairman of the committee on intercollegiate athletics. It was doubtful whether he would accept that position.

WAS GREAT ATHLETE

Probably the nation's most engaging figure in amateur athletics, Stagg came to the University of Chicago from Yale where he was one of old Eli's greatest athletes, when the doors of the institution was first opened in 1892. Ever since he has been one of the university's famous representatives, noted as a figure of integrity and of courageous, even militant, adherence to conviction. He has been a sincere and mighty crusader for the values of character that underlie true sportsmanship, insistent that the game shall be a means and not the end.

Stagg's reputation as a leader and an idealist has almost overshadowed one of the finest coaching records in the country. Always one of the great contributors to football technique he has devised many important plays, most of which have been widely adopted. He is a senior member of the national football rules committee.

Over his long span of service, Stagg has set up a great record. In 40 seasons his teams have won 243 games, lost 104 and tied 28, a good share of the defeats coming during the past eight years when a paucity of material existed. In Western Conference competition, his elevens won 124 games, lost 78 and tied 16.

METCALF OBERLIN MAN

CLEVELAND, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Thomas Metcalf, who succeeds Amos Alonzo Stagg as Chicago's athletic director, was one of Ohio's outstanding track and football athletes as a student at Oberlin College. He graduated from Oberlin in 1912.

W. & J. Longtime Nemesis Of Tech Grid Teams

By Howard Harpster

Geneva College Coach, Carnegie Tech All-America Quarterback, 1928.

Tomorrow in the Stadium, Carnegie Tech meets its old Nemesis, the W. & J. Presidents from Little Washington. W. & J. always has been a particular thorn in the winning ways of the Tartans, and has been so consistent in upsetting the grid teams from Schenley Park, that people out Skibo way will tell you W. & J. has a jinx on their favorite sons. This writer never has warmed up much to the idea that jinxes have any part in winning football games, but a glance at the results of the meetings of these teams will indicate that W. & J. has cast a spell of some kind over Tech football teams, whether it's a jinx or not.

Mr. Harpster

I remember very well that when I first enrolled at my alma mater as a freshman in 1925 one of the first lessons we plebes were taught was that we were to give our all to beat Washington & Jefferson. They told us that in all previous meetings Tech had come out victorious on only one occasion, and that such a record never would do. The game that year, which ended in a scoreless tie, was called off shortly after the second half started, because the stands at Little Washington collapsed during an exciting play.

W. & J. RALLY WINS

The following year the teams met at Johnstown, and Carnegie took the opening kickoff and marched 80 yards down the field for a score in the first few minutes of the game. It appeared as if Tech surely would win this time, but, when the final whistle sounded, W. & J. was on the long end of a 16-to-7 score. This game was the only one all season in which the opponents crossed our goal line, and we played such teams as West Virginia, Detroit, Pitt, New York University and Notre Dame.

In 1927 Bill Amos and his mates mopped up Forbes Field against our team with a 20-to-0 victory.

MORRY RUSH SCORES

The following year (our freshman class, now was the senior class), Tech won, 19 to 0, our seniors showing that, although we hadn't learned that first lesson very well, we at last had found the formula. This game in 1928 started out like a "long" afternoon. Morry Rush, the W. & J. safety man, returned a punt on the third or fourth play, was stopped temporarily, and then spun away from his tacklers and ran 35 or 40 yards for a touchdown. His forward progress had been stopped, the whistle had blown and the ball was brought back, but, for a few fleeting seconds, I was convinced there was such a thing as a jinx.

In 1929, the game ended in a scoreless tie, and Tech won in 1930, 27 to 7. Last year, W. & J. started its charming tactics all over again by eking out a 10-to-7 victory, on an intercepted pass for a touchdown by Rigney and a field goal from the field by Wilson.

Tomorrow, the battle is renewed, and, inasmuch as I picked 11 wrong guesses last week (not publicly) out of 20 games, I believe I will reserve any prediction on tomorrow's game for a later date.

Gridders Revolt, Demand New Coach

VERMILLION, S. D., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Dissatisfaction of students with direction of the University of South Dakota football team had flared into open revolt today with a demand for removal of Capt. Stanley G. Backman as head coach.

A petition asking Backman's resignation was presented to President Herman G. James just after the team, accompanied by the coach, had left yesterday for a game with the University of Cincinnati Saturday.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Dr. Harold J. Parker, head football coach at the College of the City of New York, was relieved of his coaching duties today because of the pressure of his work in the department of hygiene and the news of the change brought a temporary strike by the members of the grid squad.

BIG TESTS FACE SANDLOTTERS

By TOM BIRKS

Sandlotters have some interesting games scheduled over the week-end. The J. P. Rooneys will clash with the Dan Burns gridders at Greenlee Field on Sunday, and while those outfits are fighting it out, East Liberty Papales will tangle with West View at the Park.

At McKeesport the Olympics have scheduled what may be their only independent game of the season. The Akron Professionals will meet the Olympics at Olympia Park.

Manager Evans has been angling to get the Buckeyes to the Tube City. This game will replace the annual Akron Awnings contest.

Flinn Golf Winner; Miss Hicks Victor

HOT SPRINGS, Va., Oct. 14.—(AP.)—Miss Helen Hicks, of Hewlett, Long Island, sank a 20-foot putt on the twentieth hole today to defeat Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, of Philadelphia, and win the women's championship in the fall Hot Springs golf tournament. Both are former national champions.

In the men's division, George H. Flinn, of Pittsburgh, and Thomas R. Hulme, of Philadelphia, advanced to the finals. The former took an easy 5 and 3 victory from William H. Platt, of Philadelphia, but Hulme had to go 23 holes before nosing out Stanley Stone, of Milwaukee. Flinn turned in a medal score of 72.

Van Ryn and Vines Victors In Honolulu

HONOLULU, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—John W. Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, American Davis Cup tennis star, defeated Keith Gledhill, of Stanford University, 6-4, 6-2, and Ellsworth Vines, National champion, defeated Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., 6-0, 6-2, in exhibition matches here today.

In doubles play Vines and Gledhill, who hold the National doubles title, defeated Van Ryn and Allison, 6-3, 6-2.

The players are on a tour which will take them to Australia and New Zealand.

STOCKS RALLY, SENTIMENT BRIGHTENS

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—The stock market rallied buoyantly today, bringing a characteristically sudden shift of sentiment in Wall street from deep gloom to bright sunshine.

Shorts found they had sold themselves into a trap and prices soared 2 to 8 points in principal issues as they tried to cover. The market quieted down by early afternoon, but prices held around their best levels. Wheat also advanced, but stocks started up first.

American Telephone, in which a large short interest was said in brokerage quarters to have been built up, shot forward more than 8 points. Union Pacific gained as much and Santa Fe and Case soared about 6 and 7 points.

The surprising upswing appeared to reflect a complete cessation of the recent liquidation, indicating that weakly-held stock which had been hanging over the market had been cleaned up. While the advance was felt in brokerage circles to have been largely at the expense of the shorts, some quarters reported good buying, both from foreign and domestic sources.

Business and corporate news was not particularly important, although the weekly mercantile reviews said that retail trade was holding up well, and in some quarters running ahead of a year ago. While Wall street has been in a quandary as to whether the recent improvement in business merely reflected a seasonal bulge, some bullish quarters expressed enthusiasm over the fact that the percentage gain in the movement of freight appears to have exceeded the usual seasonal upswing.

Extreme plenitude of short-term credit in this market, although little attention was paid to it yesterday, also came in for attention in bullish quarters today. Call money again renewed at 1 per cent. There has been much argument in Wall street as to whether cheap money starts business recovery, or whether it merely reflects a lack of demand for credit, owing to the small volume of commerce. The argument revolves around which is the cart, and which is the horse. But most banking quarters acknowledge that cheap credit, other conditions being favorable, should facilitate business pickup. The fact that the Federal Reserve made no change in its rediscount rate of 2½ per cent yesterday was a surprise to some, but there was considerable gossip over the probability of a reduction later.

GRAINS FOLLOW STOCK RISE

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Influenced by New York Stock Market firmness, grain values averaged higher early today. Houses with Eastern connections were buyers of wheat. Opening unchanged to ⅜ up, wheat afterward rose all around. Corn started unchanged to ¼ higher, sagged a little and then advanced.

Giving aid to wheat market upturns which soon caused about 2 cents a bushel gain, was the fact that offerings were relatively scarce.

Corn and oats rose with wheat and as a result of indications of export buying of corn. Provisions were firmer, responsive to action of cereals.

Canadian Dollar At High for Year

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(AP.)—The Canadian dollar reached a new high for the year here today, crossing 91 cents.

Strength in New York followed an advance in London prior to the local opening. The rise abroad, bankers said, was probably due to a demand for the currency in payment for grain or Canadian securities.

B. & O. Carloadings Best Since March

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14. — Cars loaded and received from connections by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad during the week ended October 1 totaled 38,757, an increase of 1,556 over the preceding week.

This total was the largest for any week reported for this year since March 19.

Government Bond Buying World Wide

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Bankers report that there has been an unusually heavy foreign demand recently for government bonds, both foreign and domestic, and that orders are coming from all parts of the world.

TRADE LEADERS ACCUMULATING INVENTORIES

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Confusion of counsel still retards business, but since the low point of the depression in the spring and early summer a growing number of thoughtful executives have shifted to the viewpoint that they would prefer to accumulate inventory at prevailing cheap prices than to hoard cash.

Conversion of adherents to that more venturesome position helps to explain the pickup in certain lines, notably apparel. Seemingly, trades catering to women have fared better than those catering to men, particularly because the style element in women's apparel quickly renders last year's models obsolete, whereas in comparatively changeless men's apparel it has been simple to follow the new doctrine that it's smart to be shabby.

Mr. Rukeyser

QUALITY STRESSED

For many weeks there has been discernible in the stores an attempt to trade up again, and to stress quality more than price. Consumers began to resist shoddy merchandise, and merchants recognized that the best results were obtained from selling good merchandise at the lowest possible price, rather than merely cheap merchandise. Having been stung prior to the spring by "price" merchandise, consumers, it is reported, have begun to veer back more toward standard, advertised brands as indicators of quality and value.

In connection with the growing demand for better economic planning, Supreme Court Justice Brandeis, in a dissenting opinion in the case of New State Ice Company against Liebmann (285 U. S. 262, P. U. R. 1932 P. 433), throws light on the proposal to use certificates of public convenience and necessity for putting industry on a more orderly basis, concluding:

"All agree that irregularity in employment — the greatest of our evils — cannot be overcome unless production and consumption are more nearly balanced. Many insist that there must be some kind of economic control. There are plans for pro-ration. There are many proposals for stabilization. And some thoughtful men of wide business experience insist that all projects for stabilization and pro-ration must prove futile unless, in some way, the equivalent of the certificate of public convenience and necessity is made a prerequisite to embarking new capital in an industry in which the capacity already exceeds the production schedules."

OBJECTIONS CITED

In giving a conservative's objections to such a reform, Samuel Crowther, in the Public Utilities Fortnightly, points out:

"The truth is that never in industry is there for long a time when the absolutely first-class productive capacity is in excess of needs. There is always a margin of efficiency between the best and the crowd. There are always high-cost producers who can earn money only on runaway markets and low-cost producers who can make money almost regardless of general conditions. The steel trade is now in a position where any company with sufficient capital to erect wholly modern plants would take away a large share of the business.

". . . . This, however, is one of the points which all the schemes for planned economy lightly pass over. The harm which may be done by insane competition is never weighed against the harm which might be done by keeping obsolete plants in existence.

". . . A planned economy, to judge by our attempts at planning, might well turn out to be a hopelessly messed-up economy."

Isolated Spurts Show How Depressions Reach End

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

JUST HOW ARE depressions brought to an end? The steady down trend in demand which marked business conditions during the past three years created further unemployment and this was responsible for additional declines in buying. This has led many individuals to ask how a change in trend can take place.

Examples of the way declines in individual industries have been changed into revivals can be found in several cases. Business in general started to drift at its low point after the middle of last summer. Since that time a moderate revival has taken place in the business picture as a whole. But in a few individual industries an exceptionally high rate of operations has been apparent. These industries have been far ahead of business in general in feeling a revival in demand.

Strange to say, the types of activity which have felt the improvement to the most marked extent have not been industries which led the last industrial boom. They were the weak sisters in the last period of prosperity.

* * *

Vicious Circle Broken By Retarded Buying

THE VICIOUS CIRCLE of declining sales, declining production and declining employment which has created a further slump in buying power and sales, has been broken in several instances.

Shoes and textiles were the first industries to feel the interruption of the cycle of depression. Coal has followed. It is not difficult to see how other industries can feel the working of similar conditions and can be restored to activity.

General prosperity will follow when enough individual industries have been aided by the factors which have helped shoes, textiles and coal.

* * *

Delayed Buying Results In Sales

IN THE THREE industries mentioned, users put off their normal buying activities until stocks had been reduced to a minimum and until they had consumed or worn out what they had on hand. Some users were financially unable to buy again, but many remained who did have financial resources and who had to purchase new supplies. In the cases of clothing and shoes, their supply was worn out. In the case of coal, bins were empty.

As a result of delaying buying to the last possible minute, the market demand, when it did appear, was exceptionally heavy for times such as these. It resulted in abrupt upturns in demand which have given textile and shoe makers the greatest sales in several years and coal operators the greatest sales of the present year.

In this way are depressions brought to an end.

VALENTINE

Captivating Story of a Shy Girl Rushed Into Love

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Millie Disapproves of Val's Plan to Get Money to Help Her Aunt

CHAPTER XLVII.

They drove Val back to Millie's apartment in Los Angeles.

Millie wasn't home when they arrived, but the manager, remembering Val, let them in.

"Why," Marjorie said, "I thought she had scads of money!"

"She has—or will have. It's in litigation. Some fuss over Mr. Harris' will. And Millie's like that. She'll economize on rooms, but she wants a lot of money to spend for things she wants."

"It isn't bad at that, hon. If I could have found a place as nice as this, I'd have taken it furnished instead of going into debt forever for our own things."

"Oh, Millie's places are always like this—always used to be. I mean, when I was little and she was poor. I don't know what she does. Just pulls things around and adds a bowl of flowers and a few pictures and it looks like a million dollars."

"Well, let's get along, Margie!" Frank put his arm around his wife, gave her a gentle push toward the door.

"Frankie, you make me SICK! Always in a rush when there's no hurry. I wanted to meet Val's mother!"

"You don't know when she'll be home! Come on, Margie. I'll let you have that money first chance I get, real soon, Val," he promised.

"Oh, that's all right," Val said.

MILLIE WITH BOB

It had taken nearly all the money she had to pay their bill at Caliente, but after staying more than a week with Marjorie it was only fair that she should pay for their holiday . . . though it cost far more than she had dreamed it could.

Millie came in late, was surprised and embarrassed to find her daughter back and already in bed.

"Val, darling, I'm so glad to see you! Kiss me! But, darling, in bed already? It's EARLY! No, don't go, Bob! Val won't mind! You don't mind, do you, dear?"

"Ask him to wait just a second. I'll get up and dress."

"No, just slip into a kimona. I'll push the bed up. Sure you don't mind, Val, dear?"

And Val, tired from the long ride from Mexico in Frank's bumpy old car, had to say she didn't.

Millie was gay, bubbling over with youth and good spirits, but Bob was restive. Plain to see that he was disappointed. Val was "the extra girl."

When at last he had gone, and she could go back to bed, she lay in the dark, trying to think, to plan. If it was true, and Aunt Julia was really going to lose the house, something would have to be done. Some way would have to be found. . . .

IN LOVE AGAIN

"Don't you think Bob is cute? Val, you're awake, aren't you? Do you blame me for being so crazy about him?"

"No—he's awfully good looking, Millie."

Back her thoughts would move, in troubled sequence, to Aunt Julia, to Joe, to Joe's mother, to Les, and last night under the star. . . .

"Val, Bob thinks I ought to go in pictures. Isn't that absurd? What do you think? Do you think I could take the screen tests?"

"You'd have to diet again."

"Diet. No, I wouldn't. I starved as long as I'm going to. Now I eat what I want to. Besides, Bob is funny that way. He doesn't like scrawny women. He says—Val, are you listening?"

Val forced herself back from the shadowy places where her thoughts had gone. "Yes—"

"He says I was painfully thin when he first met me—on shipboard. He says he made up his mind right then and there that he'd get me to stop dieting. He said, 'Child, you've got to put some flesh on your bones—' 'Child'—I suppose you think that's funny—for him to call me that."

"No. Oh, no, Millie."

"I wouldn't blame you if you did. Maybe I'm silly. But I never had the love I always dreamed of. I hoped and hoped, and each time I thought it had come, but it never did. And this time it's real—the real thing, Val. After all my unhappiness, real love at last. But you don't know. You can't know. You've been so lucky. You can't know what this means to me."

HEARS FROM AUNT

Val put her arms around Millie. Held her face close to hers in the dark. Millie . . . Millie never had the love she dreamed of . . . Then where, outside of story books, could you find it? Then what chance had she and Les?

Millie woke, heard her crying.

"Homesick?" she asked gently.

"No—just crying," Val answered.

In the morning Aunt Julia's answer came. It was prepaid, and frugal, a night message:

"I STILL HAVE THE HOUSE. DON'T WORRY. LET ME KNOW WHEN YOU ARE ARRIVING. SOONER THE BETTER FOR ME. COME AT ONCE IF YOU CAN.

"AUNT JULIA."

"Well, you can't go," that's all," Millie said. "Tell her I said you couldn't. I want you to have a good time. You came all the way out here to enjoy yourself. You were buried alive with her long enough."

"But, Millie, I told you that Mrs. Carey said she was going to lose the house, and you see she won't admit it. I'll have to go and find out. Why, she loves every inch of that little house of hers—every rose bush—every ugly old piece of furniture."

Millie's mobile mouth drooped in sympathy, and then she made a little face. "Pass me the chocolates, will you, Val? I'm sorry about that—that is if there's any truth in it. I'd help her out if I could, but you know I'm stone broke now. And so's Bob. I can't do anything, and I don't see how you can."

MILLIE PROTESTS

Val thought of the money she had given Frank Vogel for their trip. "That's it. I've spent almost every nickel of what I had. But I have some money Joe invested in bonds for me. I could get that."

"You'd do nothing of the sort," Millie said almost shrilly. "If Joe Carey made you keep something, he has more sense than you have. Why, if I'd had money when I needed it . . . well . . . why go into that? I won't have you spending your last cent, Val. The time may come when you'll need it."

"If Aunt Julia's broke I need it now. I'm going up to Oakland and if she needs it, Joe will have to send it, that's all."

"Val! I've been a sentimental fool all my life, but I've never been that big a fool. Now, you listen to me . . . oh, bother! That damn doorbell. Now who do you suppose that is at this hour of the morning?"

Val felt ill. "I think—it's probably Lester—"

Both hurried to the dressing room. Millie crowding Val a little as they stood before the mirror, powdered, added lip rouge, patted soft dark hair.

"You open the door, Millie—please—"

Standing alone in the little box of a room Val listened, feeling cold, hot, almost too weak to stand.

But she came out smiling, managed to talk naturally about nothing.

She felt almost ashamed of herself to see how little attention Les paid to the beautiful Millie, how intoxicated with happiness it made her to be preferred.

The doorknob rattled. Millie came alive. "It's Bob!"

"Oh, dear!" Val thought, "Bob again" But she knew that he was thinking, "Doesn't that Valentine ever go out? Can we never be alone?"

The men were restive, eyeing each other coldly.

"Is it too early for cocktails?" Millie asked.

That helped a little, but everyone was strained. They talked all together, and then everyone was silent. After the second cocktail, Millie gave up. "Bob and I have a call to make out in Beverly, Val."

Bob lifted a surprised curly head. "What? Oh, yes, I'd forgotten. Hadn't we better start right away?"

The door had hardly closed behind them when Les was beside Val, his arm around her waist, his head in her lap. "Oh, my darling! It has been so long. I haven't slept since you left. I'm losing my mind. You've got to belong to me, Val. You were meant to. We can't go on this way——"

Val shut her eyes. She was back on a mountain road . . . a little wind sighed in the eucalyptus, dry leaves rattled through the grass. A boy's arms were around her. . . .

So long ago. And now . . . And now Les was loving her again, and again she was afraid.

"Don't, Les—I—I can't let you——"

"Don't be silly, Val. I lost you once. I won't lose you again. I'm serious. I want to marry you, darling. How soon can you be free?"

Synopsis

Valentine Macfarlane is practically deserted at the age of 8 by her gay, widowed mother, Millie. She is brought up by a manhating maiden aunt, Julia, and becomes a stenographer. After a brief infatuation for the dashing Lester Sherwood, she marries a neighbor boy, Joe Carey, and goes to Minneapolis, where Joe is an architect. Pearl Neely, one of Joe's friends, visits and begins to take liberties about the apartment. Val dislikes Pearl, but says nothing. Unused to housework, Val becomes discontented. Joe tells Val his plans for the future, but she is unimpressed. Millie's husband dies. Val travels alone to California. She visits Millie and then goes to Hollywood, where she hopes to sees Lester. She goes to a gambling resort with him and meets Joe's mother, who has married again. She hears that Aunt Julia has lost her home.

Now Go On

"I lost you once. I won't lose you again," said Lester.

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Marion Declines Owen's Request for Dance

For a few minutes after the orchestra sounded the first strains of the dance music, no one at the little tables stirred.

"Your first course is too delicious to miss," Mr. Veritzen said gallantly; and, indeed, his opinion appeared to be shared by everyone. The younger people were swift trenchermen, however, and it was not long before I saw Bob Trevellan's chum take Carolyn out upon the floor, followed closely by Noel, dutifully dancing his first dance with Avis, whom he had escorted to the party rebelliously, I knew.

Others of the young people slipped into place on the floor, but my eyes and ears were focused upon Marion opposite to me. She was seated next to Bill, whose boyish eyes were fixed upon her in unconscious pleading, but who was heroically keeping his promise to me to leave Marion unhampered in her choice as to the first dance. I regretted the pledge I had exacted, as I saw Charles Owen lean across the table and heard him say "Will you dance?"

But Marion herself justified the ruse I had played. I had wanted to see what her reaction was now to the man who had so fascinated her that we were all afraid she would yield to his pleading that she marry him.

"I should love to, later," she said, "but this first dance has been promised to Bill for ever so long. Come on, Bill."

ANOTHER SURPRISE

Bill rose, looking as if someone had presented him with a fortune, and proudly led his liege lady out to the floor, where all the younger people were now dancing. His face was radiant, but I had no time to look at it, for my eyes were fixed upon Charles Owen's face. Owen was too schooled in craft to show any emotion openly.

"How about it, Dicky-bird?" Harry Underwood spoke across my table. "The youngsters are all on the floor."

"Yes, now's the best time," Dicky answered, and Harry, rising, made his way to the door.

"Shall we dance?" Mr. Veritzen asked.

"Wait just a minute," I said breathlessly, and then Harry touched the switch controlling the pastel-shaded revolving lights, and the next moment the dancers were bathed in the exquisite, soft tints.

The young people, with one accord, stopped dancing and seconded the applause that the older people at the tables were giving. I stole a glance at Edith Fairfax and found her applauding with the rest, evidently deciding that it was useless to claim the credit for these effects.

"It is perfect!" Mr. Veritzen said, as we rose and went out upon the dancing floor. "I suppose you are responsible?"

"I wish I were," I responded fervently, but the whole credit for those lighting effects must go to Harry Underwood and my husband. They worked them out together."

FEIGNS FATIGUE

"I should have recognized Underwood's touch," Mr. Veritzen said quickly. "He is a genius, that lad."

"Yes, isn't he?" I responded perfunctorily, but I could have dealth him a furious blow for the covert slight to Dicky that I knew was in his comment. Fortunately for me the rest of the older people with the exception of my father, my mother-in-law and Lee Chow, came out upon the dancing floor as if with one accord, and although the space was more than that in the usual night club, still we were sufficiently crowded to make conversation undesirable.

I pleaded fatigue before the dance was over, partly because I wished to watch the others and partly on Mr. Veritzen's account, for I guessed that his inclination and ambition were greater than his breathing capacity in the long, swift modern dances.

"Those girls in their filmy draperies, bathed in those pastel lights, look as if they were floating through space," he said, just as Avis Arlen and Noel passed our table.

With a swift, feline impulse to have him see something that I was observing, but salving my conscience with the reflection that everything was fair in my fight for the happiness of Mary and Noel, I spoke hurriedly.

"Miss Arlen is an especially exquisite picture," I said, "and how thoroughly she is enjoying herself."

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Another week passes and again the 16 theaters where the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club hold regular Weekly meetings, will be filled with happy carefree youngsters tomorrow. Attendance at these meetings, now that school has started again, is the ideal way for the youngsters to enjoy themselves after five days of school because it keeps them off the street and the mothers know where their children are at all times. Not only that but they also enjoy more than an hour of stage entertainment before the regular feature picture begins.

At the Cameraphone Theater tomorrow the members will all be there early to put "Gus," their new mascot, through his paces and to see how many new tricks Manager Earl Roeser and his staff have taught him in the past week.

"Gus," you know, is the black and white terrier that was presented to the Cameraphone Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club by Earl Roeser.

MEMORIAL CHAPTER

At the Memorial Theater, McKeesport, the following boys and girls will entertain: Virginia Alton will sing "Carolina Moon;" Vera Hollywood "All Of Me;" Alberta and Jeanie Kovac "Somebody Loves You;" Cookie Olsen and Ada Brown, "A Shanty In Old Shanty Town;" Betty Fath, 'Humming To Myself," and Grace Fulmer will close the program with "I Don't Know Why." Betty Fath also will give a tap dance.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

Congratulations to the following boys and girls, all members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, who are celebrating their birthdays today:

South Hills—William Bruce, Jack Oehmler, Anna Samuelson, Betty Lang, Robert Krystafer.

Belmar—William Mims, Robert Klein, William Bunk.

Manor—Esther Racusin, James Mitchell, Alvin Kramer.

ISN'T IT SO?

Men were born with two eyes and one tongue so they can see twice as much as they can tell about.

When a sick woman begins noticing cobwebs she is on the way to recovery.

Many a woman never knows what she wants until she discovers what her husband does not want.

There is a vast difference between making your mark and making your remarks.

How Do Nurses Manage?

The strenuous duties of the trained nurse permit little thought of her own physical condition or feelings. There can be no giving-in to monthly pains! That is the reason why so many nurses use Midol. They know it blocks all possibility of such pain for hours—and nurses know that it is not a narcotic and so is quite safe to take at this critical time.

Midol is not merely a measure of relief—it does not interfere with regular flow. All pain subsides in seven minutes! All dread of your monthly sickness ends with this happy discovery. Any drug store. Ask simply for Midol.

How Coughs and Colds Yield to Creosote

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

BE A LIVE WIRE! JOIN OUR POSTCARD EXCHANGE!

How would you like to rush to the door, when the postman rings, and get a snappy postcard, like the above, from an attractive member of our Postcard Exchange Club? Oh, very well, if you feel that way about it. But you'll be sorry some day. When you are old, and grouchy and friendless, do not come around and ask to pore over OUR album. Remember you had your chance. We asked a civil question, and you didn't even give us a civil answer. So far as the Exchange Club is concerned, you do not exist from now on. You simply do not belong. You are just a ship without a rudder. Skiddoo, twenty-three.

Premature Condemnation

Let Us See What the Utility Investigating Committee Does Before Censuring Gov. Pinchot.

The State Senate Committee which is to investigate the alleged corruption of members of the old Public Service Commission by public utilities companies has called upon officers of the Philadelphia Company to produce books and records that might throw light on the charge that the late Arthur W. Thompson, president of the company, paid hospital bills of the late W. D. B. Ainey, chairman of the Public Service Commission.

Many other records also have been subpenaed by direction of Oliver K. Eaton, attorney for the committee.

The committee has set about its work in a manner which indicates it intends to make a thorough investigation.

Gov. Gifford Pinchot is being criticized for not coming forward cordially with offers of aid for the committee.

If the committee conducts an honest and energetic inquiry, and the Governor persists in refusing to co-operate, the condemnation will be merited. But it is unthinkable that he will withhold assistance if convinced of the sincerity of the investigators, and until that has been proved unmistakably judgment should be withheld.

It is not to be forgotten that a committee composed of the same Senators practically ignored Gov. Pinchot's early charges. It is not to be forgotten that the committee is composed of Senators who are, for the most part, closely affiliated with the state Republican organization, and that the organization has been friendly to the officials and companies now under investigation. And it is also not to be forgotten that even after Gov. Pinchot had made his direct charges of bribery, supported with names and facts and figures, the Senate hesitated to act and did not act until the pressure of public opinion, demanding an inquiry, became unbearable.

No wonder if Gov. Pinchot is suspicious. No wonder if he suspects the committee plans a "whitewash."

The committee has some direct leads in the charges Gov. Pinchot has already made. It has been given broad authority and $100,000 to pay expenses. It ought to be in good condition to proceed for a while, at least, without aid from the Governor.

And it may work all the harder if it has reason to believe that Pinchot has evidence of crookedness on the part of public utilities companies or Public Service Commission officials which he is holding in reserve, to release to the public in case the committee presents a "whitewashing" report.

If the Governor has such evidence, as yet undisclosed, it may be good strategy for him to withhold it. If he should tell everything now, and if the committee should really plan a "whitewash," he would be playing into its hands.

That the Governor would be glad to see the investigation collapse, because it is being conducted by his political enemies, is an incredible supposition. We believe he would welcome as heartily as anyone a complete, painstaking inquiry, and would furnish all the help he could.

Senator Reed Shows Why Congress Must Pass Sales Tax, After the Election

After the artificial stimulus of party politics has died down, the American people must again turn to the reality of adjusting themselves to prevailing economic conditions.

When Congress meets in December, for example, it will have to recognize the extent to which actual revenue receipts under the present hodge podge tax law have fallen short of Treasury deficits.

Talk, such as the demagogic demand at the last session to "soak the rich," is cheap, but it does not meet deficits nor promote the national credit.

The time lost in getting down to brass tacks on taxation matters has already been infinitely costly. The main business before Congress at its next sitting will be to repair the damage resulting from the revolt which prevented the passage of the sound tax program suggested by the Democratic Ways and Means Committee in the House.

The need for scientific and productive taxation in time of national depression rises far above party considerations. Wise taxation is properly a non-partisan matter.

A Republican Senator, David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, has very astutely observed:

"Regardless of who is elected President, there will be new tax legislation. The Treasury deficit is now around $500,000,000. The wisest solution would be a general manufacturers' sales tax."

Senator Reed is right.

The general manufacturers' sales tax is based on a well conceived philosophy of taxation.

It has proven itself through the years in Canada, the Philippines and elsewhere.

It is levied against business transactions, which do not fluctuate as much through the economic cycles as business profits, which in time of depression approach the vanishing point.

Personal and corporate income taxes are based on profits, and accordingly experience demonstrates that it is impossible to heighten the yield from such taxes by raising the rate when business profits tend to disappear. As a matter of fact, excessive rates become a deterrent to business venturesomeness and tend to kill the goose which lays the golden egg.

The existing tax measure, which is unsound in principle and burdensome and discriminatory in application, fails to deliver the goods in the form of adequate public revenues.

The way out lies in substituting for the nuisance excise taxes a soundly conceived sales tax, which will produce large revenues immediately in a manner that will prove relatively painless to business.

An admirable supplement would be an excise tax on light wines and beer, which should be legalized as soon as Congress reconvenes.

From this viewpoint, we hope that Senator Reed is correct in forecasting that Congress at the next session will authorize 4 per cent beer.

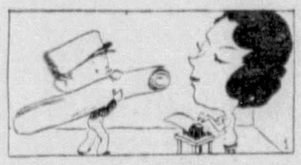
The Double-Track Life

Isn't it wonderful to be a free, modern woman! Isn't it glorious to be able to have a career and a home at the same time? To be able to write or paint or sing for a living? To do something "worth while"—something that lifts you above the sordid routine and liberates the soul and—

(Oh, excuse me! Just a moment. The man has brought the rugs from storage. And here's the window-cleaner waiting to know where to begin.)

* * *

There now! As I was saying, isn't it wonderful to have what you fondly think of as a "literary gift?"

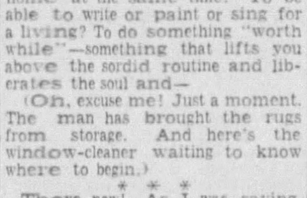


Isn't an art or a profession a glorious thing for a woman? What a zest it lends to life! How it emancipates the spirit from the petty round of details! Poor Grandmother! What a dull life she must have led—

(Oh wait! There goes the telephone! The decorator wants to know what color-scheme the new bathroom is to have. And won't I pul-lease decide whether the guest-room is to be mulberry or ashes-of-rose. And ARE the fixtures in the living room to be Italian—or what?)

* * *

Let me see, Where WAS I? Oh, yes! What a deadly, innocuous, stagnating existence the mid-Victorian woman must have led.



Oh, well, to get back to higher things—of course, the old-fashioned housewife, tied down to the cook stove and the linen closet, had no chance to SOAR, no chance to give wings to her flights of fancy, no chance to develop her mind or her soul—no chance to "BE," as it were. No chance—no chance—no (What IS that burning in the kitchen? Has that cook forgotten the lamb stew? Yes, we simply MUST have a new gas range!)

* * *

But the modern woman with an art or a profession, to whom "home" is just a beautiful background, a shrine, an inspiration—WHAT is there to hamper her spirit, to bind her wings, to keep her down? Free, free, FREE from all the petty tyranny of domestic problems—no longer a slave to man's vanity and digestion—(Good Lord! There's HIS key in the latch—and this column not finished!)

* * *

Oh well, anyway, isn't it just GRAND to be a modern woman, and have both a home and a profession? But, there are times when I envy Grandmother her CINCH! Perhaps a one-track life wasn't so bad, after all!

EUROPE DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

VENICE, Oct. 14.—I feel about a Doge a good deal like the Britisher in Philadelphia who inquired: "What is a Biddle?" My dictionary tells me a Doge was the chief magistrate of Venice before dogeing went out in the 1779 election. But their palace remains to charm.

Great painters have described Venice as pink, likely because the palace of the doges is of that dominating tint. Some architects have classed it as the most beautiful edifice in the world. Maybe it is. I haven't come all the way to Venice to argue and get behind in my gondolaing.

Its pink is fringed with a dazzle of skyey-white stone, and duked up with innumerable balconies. One thing is certain, it hasn't the morbid nuance of the majority of Venetian architecture. In the tremulous sun, it looks as though a puff of wind might send it floating away.

Carved figures on columns of the palace arcade are something of an encyclopedia in stone. Venetian love of symbol finds extravagant outlet. One was a ringer for Ed Wynn. Another suggested Fannie Hurst leaning out a window. Most famous in the galaxy was the Adam and Eve carving.

Tickets inside are free only Sundays and holidays. Here are vast art treasures, including the celebrated — just a second!—"Bacchus and Ariadne" by Tintoretto. A tiderace of tourists poured in, but I got all diverted watching a gamin plugging a napping bald-head with a pea shooter. He was a dead shot.

* * *

Venice bristles with war talk against her ancient enemy, France. Italy's hope is in Mussolini, whose supremacy is complete. A prevalent story of his dominion concerns the Duce stopping to pick up the King's kerchief at a celebration. "Let me do that," said the King. "It's the only thing left into which I can stick my nose."

* * *

I've been itching to inquire about those slanting beams over canals, so remindful of barber poles and as backhomey as pennyroyal and hoarhound. Today I heard an innocent inquire of her guide: "What are those things like American barber poles?" Without telling her, he replied: "Everybody from the States asks that." So I decided to keep my trap closed, but I'd still like to know.

* * *

Guides, by the way, wear striped trousers and cutaways, as though tricked out for a movie noon wedding. A superlative blend of courtesy and condescension, they teeter grandiloquently and with great punctilio give impression that Venice is the only city. But they are human gas bags who wind up their spiel by high pressure plugging for some shop.

* * *

I had a notion it was James Gordon Bennett's original idea in putting two brawny hammer swingers, stripped to waist, on the coping of the old Herald Building to strike the time. But in Venice one finds the original on one side of the Can Marco plaza.

* * *

Another myth is about the fabled beauty of the canal waters. I expected the glimmer of a birch forest. Instead, in daylight, they are unromantically scummy, often floating with melon rinds and other riff-raff in the Coney Island manner. But waters change frequently, lessening dangers of pestilence. Their lure is in moonlight where magically and in dimpling swirls they impart a breathtaking sheen. It must be where the blue begins!

* * *

It's great fun watching gondoliers rage for the right-of-way, especially in blind corners of canals. I'm told, they rarely strike blows, but they put on amusing shows of temperament. Choice epithets are "Figure of a pig!" and "Son of an ugly dog." They dance nimbly back and forth on their gondolas, spurting sprays of volubility and beating the air with sturdy arms. Then, all of a sudden, they glide away, forgetting the tempests in mutual bursts of song.

* * *

Of all nights I've seen, this is the most stupendous. Out a balcony window, skies are a layer cake of dull purple, yellow, a streak of rose, caught frame-like in a crumble of marigold. Overhead, a scatter of stars in silvery radiance. It's goofy, but I itch to roll up my pantaloons and go wading.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Does a working wife spoil a husband?

Does the bride who keeps her job after marriage doom her own happiness?

Will the proud bridegroom, who protested against her "lifting a finger" during the honeymoon, soon expect her to provide most of the bacon if she continues to punch the time clock?

These are questions which are agitating many a new home. Here's one worried mother's picture of the problem.

Dear Miss Robinson:

I wonder what you think of this working wife business? Of course, I know that many wives must work; that the family can't eat unless they do. But I am not thinking of such cases. I'm thinking of young couples who could manage on one salary if they wished, and of the affect which the wife's pay envelope is having on the young husband.

To be frank, I have this situation in my own family, with my son of 24 and my daughter of 22. They are both fine young people. The girl has worked for three years, the boy for five. Two years ago they both married at a double wedding.

They married young people as fine as themselves. My son's bride was a young college girl who had made a position for herself in a bookshop. My daughter's husband was a young broker. My daughter had been private secretary to one of the head men in his firm.

When they first became engaged, I naturally expected that the two young men would object to the idea of their brides working. To my surprise, nothing of the sort happened. In fact, they laughed at what they called my "old-fashioned' ideas" on the subject. My daughter said:

"Why, mother, nobody feels like that any more! Modern wives expect to work. In fact, I know a lot of fellows who deliberately postpone marriage until they both have secured good jobs. What's wrong with that? We can't live the way we want to unless we both work, and, at any rate, no girl wants to lie around in an apartment all day."

Needless to say, these ideas were startling to me. I'm not very old, only 42; but we certainly didn't look at things that way when I was a girl. However, I did not try to argue, and when I saw them settled in their lovely new homes I was as pleased and confident as they were.

But two years' time has certainly brought a great change. My son-in-law's work has failed steadily. At first, this seemed to worry him. He told me how terrible he felt because Evelyn was carrying the biggest part of the burden. But lately he acts quite reconciled. In fact, he seems to take it as a matter of course that she should pay the bills, and doesn't exert himself to find new work.

Evelyn, at first, was quite willing to practice what she had preached. Now, however, she is growing more bitter each day and I dread what lies ahead for them.

Nor is my own son acting any better. His work has been affected, also, and I am ashamed to say that he is displaying the same attitude as my son-in-law, and with the same result.

Miss Robinson, what is happening to our young men? Have men always been as selfish as this at heart? Or have these modern working girls destroyed masculine pride? I think my dead husband would rather have gone to jail than accept money from me when we were first married. Yet most of the boys I know not only accept their wives' money but, very shortly after marriage, begin to feel aggrieved if they don't get it.

Is my experience peculiar? Is this thing happening everywhere? And if so, what is there to be done about it?

"A WORRIED MOTHER."

So there it is. What's YOUR experience? What's YOUR answer?

'Prosperity Around The Corner' Again

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The Republican National Committee and Mr. Hoover were so moved by the fact that former Senator James A. Reed was chosen to answer the Des Moines speech, which brought a drop in the market here and a renewed attack on the dollar in Europe, that a statement was issued. Their emotions are aroused because Mr. Reed differed from Woodrow Wilson on certain policies; and the Republican National Committee will not stand for any slight on Wilson.

Mr. Hoover, who still would have his residence in London but for Wilson, is finally reminded of his benefactor. We recall listening with amazement to a Hoover radio speech from the White House in which the President called the roll of Presidents who, in that mansion, had fought for peace. He began with Hayes and went down the list to Coolidge, and the one man he forgot was Wilson! I thought it a scurvy thing at the time, and now Mr. Hoover is up in arms because of the slight to Wilson!

There is just one other man this group has more ferociously assailed—and by whispers—and that is Al Smith, and just now this group and Mr. Hoover, who gave consent to the scurrilous campaign against Smith four years ago, are moved to indignation because of some imaginary slight of the man they maligned. It must be a desperate situation when these men, including Mr. Hoover, are constrained to pose as champions of Wilson and Smith.

* * *

The Miracle of 'Recovery'

Mr. Hoover has finally determined what the issue of the campaign is. It is not prohibition, he says; it is not his subserviency to the power trust; it is not the tariff which has destroyed our foreign trade and turned almost 3,000,000 factory workers into the street; it is not his market-minded statesmanship and his callous indifference to the plight of 30,000,000 farmers and 30,000,000 others involved in the tragedy of unemployment. The public will please take notice that Mr. Hoover brushes these aside as inconsequential.

These minor matters he will ignore to stress the miracle he has wrought. No, this miracle is not the "elimination of poverty" he promised; it is not the miracle of putting "business on the basis of permanent prosperity" he claimed to have performed; it is the miracle of "recovery" he has accomplished.

The farmer still failing by the tens of thousands before mortgage foreclosures, and receiving less for his product than it costs to produce it, has not "recovered." The 11,000,000 workers denied their inalienable right to work have not recovered their jobs; and all welfare organizations warn that we are entering the blackest of the three Hoover winters of human misery. These are not in on the recovery. Just who has recovered is not at all clear; and lest the average man raise his eyebrows in amazement at the announcement that Mr. Hoover has brought about "recovery," we are told that this recovery, while very real indeed, is way down deep and not to be seen on the surface or by hungry eyes.

There is no recovery of the once busy scenes in New York Harbor—for foreign trade has been killed by Hoover's stupid economic policy; and no recovery in industry, since 11,000,000 jobless men still walk the streets.

You, and each of you, reading this announcement of "recovery," will determine for yourselves whether there has been any "recovery" for you.

* * *

Mr. Hoover still speaks as a market-minded statesman more interested in the tickertape than in the lengthening breadlines of the hungry. He is an incorrigible reactionary, with a Bourbon's lack of vision, and incapacity to learn by experience. And that is the reason real progressives in the Republican party are flocking by the thousands every day into the Roosevelt camp.

William Draper Lewis was a Theodore Roosevelt Progressive in 1912. He was chairman of the platform committee in the Roosevelt convention that year. Later he became the biographer of Theodore Roosevelt. And he has just announced that he is leaving Mr. Hoover, because he is a reactionary and utterly off on economic issues, and is supporting Franklin D. Roosevelt, because he is a progressive.

Naturally, as a man of intellectual honesty and courage, he cannot support Mr. Hoover, since he concludes that the Grundy tariff monstrosity "rates are an important factor in the depression," and that "their adjustment downward is essential to the revival of our export trade."

* * *

A Perfect Portrait Of Mr. Hoover

Mr. Lewis stands where every sincere Progressive of 1912 must stand, with Franklin Roosevelt's program on public utilities. And so he says:

"By his speeches Mr. Roosevelt has shown himself to the public for what the history of his public acts show him to be, a broad-minded Progressive. His position on important public questions and his acts as an executive are influenced by a knowledge and sympathy with all classes and economic groups."

And then he adds something that is aimed directly at Mr. Hoover and at the Mellon regime of the last 12 years, when he says:

"For many years this country has been governed by persons whose outlook is, to a great extent, limited by the reaction and points of view of persons dealing in money or operating large enterprises."

Here, in a few lines, we have a perfect portrait of the public character of Mr. Hoover.

* * *

Continues His Policy Of Indifference

And this robust Theodore Roosevelt Progressive leaves no doubt as to whose portrait he has painted when he charges that overemphasis has been put on the wishes of the financial oligarchs, and adds:

"How else can one account for Mr. Hoover's delusion month after month that prosperity is just around the corner? How else can we account for his insistence a year ago that it was not necessary for the federal government to join with the states to help those who are about to starve?"

And now Mr. Hoover is about to tell us that prosperity is just around the corner again, while he continues his policy of indifference to 11,000,000 jobless men by refusing to avail himself of the opportunity to serve them placed in his hands by the Wagner bill, which was literally forced upon him.

* * *

Roosevelt's Speeches Are Progressive

Now Lewis speaks as a Progressive; and Prof. Frank W. Taussig, the noted political economist of Harvard, announces his adherence to the Roosevelt cause because of his knowledge as an economist and his belief in sane progressiveism. Amidst the jeers of such disinterested and sincere "economists" as Ogden Mills, Mr. Hoover, Senator Moses and Jim Watson, not to drag in Doak and Hurley, jeers at Roosevelt's speeches, Prof. Taussig, who as an economist looms above them as a mountain above a sand grain at its base, says this:

"These speeches are progressive and at the same time candid and careful."

Thus the revolt against the inept and destructive "leadership" of Mr. Hoover comes not merely from the ruined farms, and the millions dispossessed of jobs, but from great economists who know their business and from all real progressives who know a reactionary subservient to money when they meet him on the street—or in the White House.
